P.C. Leader Speaks At Engineer's Banquet

One thing about those engineers, when they put on a dance you know you've been through a ball. Their annual semi-formal came and went at the Lord Nelson, Tuesday night last, and while the dance floor looked a lot like a bargain basement, no one was hurt and most were happy.

Hayes Names Senate

The Right Honourable John Hayes, Prime Minister of Saint Mary's Student Parliament has announced the names of those who were elected to the House of Commons in the Student elections held recently. Sitting for the Liberals who will form the government will be: Mr. Hayes, Vic Cleyle, Dave Fenton, Joe Pelrine, Joe Murphy Kevin Cleary, Jim Sawler, Steve Carew, Gordon Hayes, Bill Reid, Graham Walker, Ron LeBlanc, Jack Buckley, Dan McDonald Don Flinn, and Bill Bailly. The Progressive Conservative opposition will be made up by Fred Vaughan, Max Beaton, John Glenister, Doug Murray, Carly Dujay, Ed Young, Terry Punch and Laurie Breen. The Speaker of the House will be Gordon Hayes. Mr. Hayes will announce the names of the members of his cabinet shortly.

In his statement to the press Mr. Hayes included the names of the senate appointees. He broke a long standing tradition in appointing a conservative to the Senate, Ed Murray will be the PC Senator. Nine Liberal Senators have also been appointed. They are Gilbert Frontain, Joe Dysart, Bill Sullivan, Bob Hanrahan, George Leach, Murray Napier, Bob O'Connell, Charlie Dixon and Bud Inglis.

Plans are going ahead at full steam on the Parliament which will be held at the University on March 1st. The executive of the Debating Society which is making preparations now plan to make this Parliament something to remember. It is hoped that all of the ceremonies of the opening of the Parliament will be used at our own Student Parliament.

Martin Gets Life . . .

John Martin, President of the Students' Council, was elected lifetime president of this year's graduating class, at a meeting of the class of '55 earlier this month.

The graduating class also elected Carl Sullivan as chairman of the Stag Committee to arrange the stag party to be held just before graduation. Also, on the committee are Lorne Hemphill and Dave Fenton.

The Students' Council have announced that it will be in charge of arrangements for the graduation ball, to be held at the Nova Scotian Hotel, sometime in May. Music will be by Don Warner.

A lack of engineers in elected offices was noted by the Honorable Robert L. Stanfield, MLA, leader of Her Majesty's Loyal Opposition, while speaking at the Engineering Faculty's annual banquet.

The engineers heard the provincial party leader point out that other professions (law, medicine, etc.) were very well represented in public office, while there were no engineers in the Provincial Legislature.

"Only one Nova Scotia engineer," he added, "represented the province in Ottawa."

The speaker was introduced by President Bernie Sheehan and thanked by Joe Heenan.

As we say, the floor was rather crowded and as proof we recall the story of a student (about one sheet to the wind) who twirled his girl during a jitterbug number and didn't see her again until the dance was just about over. In the meantime, it is reported, he had a rousing game of Scrabble with a bell-hop.

Don Warner and his poker-faced proteges outdid themselves again coming up with good music and a skit which though rather hard on the Music Festival was considered "the most" by those present. Just one thing, Mr. Warner: some of us are getting a little old, we no longer have the stamina of a hungry shark, could-

Speaker Addresses Debating Society

Parliamentary procedure and ceremony was the subject of an informal address given by Mr. C.L. Beazley, Provincial Deputy Secretary, at the latest meeting of the Debating Society. Mr. Beazley, who is widely regarded as an authority in the field gave a comprehensive outline of procedures used in the House.

The speaker showed himself to be an exponent of pageantry and strongly urged the Debating Society to make the impending Mock Parliament as colorful as possible. Referring to the central government as "Johnny-come-latelies" he mentioned with obvious pride that our Nova Scotian government was rich in tradition and pomp; and quoted Charles Dickens as saying:

"When I saw the opening of the Legislature here it seemed as though I was looking at Westminster through the wrong end of a telescope."

Mr. Beazley was introduced by Debating Society President Jack Hayes and thanked by Bill Reid.

NOTICE

The Student Council passed the following motions at a meeting held February 11.

1. At all future Saint Mary's Balls a Commissioner be at the door.
  - a. The Commissioner is to be instructed that Stags are to be kept outside the dance.
  - b. If persons present at the dance display conduct unbecoming Saint Mary's students and are rowdy, then the Commissioner, on the advice of a member of the dance committee, has the power to expell such offenders.
  - c. Members of the dance committee shall assist the Commissioner in the matter of expulsion.
2. Two members of the Student Council in agreement at the dance that a student is out of hand and his conduct is unbecoming a student of Saint Mary's University, then that student's name may be brought to the Council by the two members with the maximum penalty of being barred from Saint Mary's dances for one (1) year as of the date of the dance.

Sympathy

Prayers and expressions of sympathy of the Senate, President, Faculty and Student Body of the University are extended to the relatives and friends of the recently deceased and to Ed Young, Eng. III and John O'Brien, Grade VI, on the recent loss of their fathers.

Playshop Plans Harvey

Saint Mary's Playshop has started on the second lap of its most fruitful year to date, with three large irons in the fire. The results of the first venture will be shown to the public on February 19: Tri-University Play Night.

Sneak glances on our Playshop's contribution show promise of another success, (the wheels of the playshop expect 800 to attend) as Saint Mary's plays host to Dalhousie and King's.

This idea of a tri-university play night was first introduced by Dalhousie and was quickly agreed to by King's and Saint Mary's. The University's playshop took up the responsibility and is doing an excellent job of organizing the arrangements for this entertainment.

Tri-U playnight is to take place in the University gym on Saturday night, February 19. At this time the three universities will each present a one-act play: "Shall We Join the Ladies," Dalhousie; "The Proposal," Kings; "The Voice of the People," Saint Mary's.

The big night is being sponsored in the hope that it may be an annual event, with the site of the presentation changing each year.

The second iron is the big St. Patrick's show, representing all the talent of Saint Mary's students, sponsored by the Playshop and the Glee Club with Father Lynch supplying the initial push in an address to the students a few days ago. He asked everyone to get their weight behind the show and send it over the top.

The response was not as good as was expected, but more entertainers will undoubtedly give of their talents, than have come forward at the moment.

The proceeds are to pay off the Playshop's debt on the stage.

Vox Populi

Herewith the results of the Journal's Gallop Poll, named thus because the editors more or less trotted through the field of public opinion taking nibbles here and there. The results we admit are not the result of scientific investigation, but they are interesting nonetheless.

No point boring you with figures right here, you can get a complete breakdown on page two, but some interesting facts came to light while we were compiling the results:

First of all, bouquets to the freshman class. These people who are usually maligned by everyone who discusses them, distinguished themselves by giving honest, intelligent opinions to most of the questions put before them.

Alas, the same can't be said for our seniors. Not that they are wet blankets, but some of the answers we got were boorish. What faculty should be added to this University?—The Lord Nelson). One fourth-year man would have us believe his favorite program was Superman and two others either admitted or claimed that their pastimes were obscene.

Let us hope that in future our graduating class will conduct itself with a little more dignity.

The title of the University's favorite professor goes this year year to Dean of Studies, Father Malone who doubles, or triples, as Economics and Religion professor. He replaced Father Rourke (Sociology and English), and was out in front of Father Fogarty (English).

But what did the students say of the Journal? About half of those polled said it was good, while the other half disagreed as to whether it was indifferent or bad. They wanted nothing dropped from its pages, but under the

On History

One of the most consistent criticisms leveled at our American friends is their ignorance of Canada's history, but how can they be expected to know anything about it, if we don't.

As a matter of interest this editor conducted an informal poll on the campus by asking:

- (a) Who was Canada's second prime minister . . . third . . . fourth?
- (b) What were their political affiliations?
- (c) What was the Prime Minister Abbott's first name? How long was he in office?

As much as we hate to admit it no one who was asked could come up with any of the answers. Some felt slightly ashamed of their showing, some didn't seem to care, but all agreed that their knowledge of the history of Canada subsequent to Wolfe taking Quebec was somewhat less than sketchy.

It is preposterous to imagine that American students of similar educational standards could not supply the answers to corresponding questions about their own country, yet Canadians have a tendency to look down their noses when they are looking South.

Why Canadian history is not taught in high schools and why our students do not have a knowledge of the Canadian Constitution (The British North American Act) is beyond us. In any event it is sadly lacking on this point and the JOURNAL intends to hammer away at it in the hope that something might be done. (Who said it was better to light one small candle than to sit and curse the darkness?)

Your editors do not pretend to be educational authorities but we do pretend to be able to recognize when something is wrong. After all, you don't always have to be a doctor to find out if your leg is broken.

So coming to the reasonable conclusion that in truth the leg does seem to be broken, we now call for a doctor.

Since we are not experts in the field we can only conclude that at some point between the time we learn to read and the time we start to work, we should take a few minutes out to see where Canada came from and how it developed.

heading of what should be added, they suggested more pages and a new staff. As Jackie Gleason says: "Boy, you're gonna get it."

Thirty-eight percent of the student body doesn't like the way the canteen is run, and though they didn't say why, further questioning revealed the chief gripe to be the fact that day hops can't get sandwiches, coffee, or tea at dinner hours. For those who are forced to bring their lunches, they say, some hot food would help a great deal. But more of this in the next issue.

On and Off the Campus

Once again we return to take pot shots at the unwary. I say "we" because this column is no longer an individual effort. If any of you should happen to have a nasty little remark that you would like to have printed, just type it out and slip it under the door of the JOURNAL room.

Woe to that unfortunate group who call themselves seniors. This just isn't their year. As Joe College would say: "what does it profit a man if he goes all the way to fourth year and then gets tagged with a 1,000 word essay for taking a cut." As one senior asked, "what did Russia use on Malenkov and where can we get some."

The Jotter has received word that Pelrine is letting his hair grow back in. Says he hopes to be able to part it by the end of the month at which time he intends to have his combing-out party. All are welcome.

"Come wiz me to ze poop deck". Now that strikes a familiar note. Did you know that the Mount Saint Vincent girls have been playing hostess to a select little group from H.M.C.S. Stadacona. Seems as though the girls sing the High Mass at Stad. every Sunday and they concluded that it was high time that the sailors made a little music at the Mount.

Well, the Engineers wing ding has come and gone, but the scars and bruises remain. You know it puzzles me just how so many people can see the same thing in different ways. "Gerry" Martin is convinced that Les Singles was supplying the music. Look again, "Ger" that was Bill Reid.

The dance committee should be congratulated. At first glance one would think they are more hungry, but it has been said that they were just trying to get into the sardine business. Next time why not hire the armouries or limit the tickets.

The Sermon on the Mount. Overheard at a local eating house: "What have the Infirmary girls got that we haven't?" "Saint Mary's men."

I think we all have to agree that Fred Vaughan would make a good Minister of Internal Affairs". Don't hide it Fred boy, let's know how you do it. Joe Pelrine says that its all in the approach.

M. Boyd in a sophomore French class asked: "Monsieur Osborne, quel age avez-vous?" Respond: "Duex" M. Boyd (humereusement) "You look it." Who was it that compared the instincts of a certain woman to a sex-starved shark?

As a certain Economics prof. said after one of his jokes fell through, "I don't care, it was the Archbishop's anyway."

A gem came out of Father Kennedy's history class last week when he remarked that the mercenary armies of the Sixteenth Century were supported by organized looting. A voice from the back, "now they call it income tax."

Here's a flash from your Jotter: either Ed Murray is a natural-born showman or he honestly doesn't know how to spell "thespian".

Bob O'Connell has turned literary on us; he wrote a short story no less. Naturally we got the critical opinion of it first . . . but we printed it anyway. (see come to the zoo).

It's awfully noisy around the Journal Room lately. Vic Cleyle gave Jim Sawler a free-hand to edit this edition, and he's having a hard time getting Jim to do exactly as he says.

Mr. Dalton, it seems, won his debate.

We don't wish to spread dirt or cause anyone embarrassment, we merely report this objectively: someone has picked up the nickname "boulder guts" and we don't propose to say who.

That's it for this issue.

Maritime University's Mock Parliament officially bit the dust this year according to Debating Society President Jack Hayes, who was in contact with the arranging committee at U.N.B. earlier this week.

According to the letter there were a number of causes for death, but two of the main ones were financial and the lack of someone like Professor Donald Vince, who was given a great deal of credit as the guiding spirit behind the idea.

THE GAY CONTINENTALS

By Jim Sawler

ED'S NOTE: In the last article we left the reader as our group arrived in Rome after a trip by train from Lourders.)

When we arrived in Rome, we were told we would have to be in St. Peter's Square within two hours if we wished to attend a special audience by The Most Holy Father Pope Pius XII. Needless to say we were all thrilled at the prospect of seeing Pope Pius in person, as we walked from our hotel to the Vatican and joined the 15,000 Sodalists who were already present. We filed into St. Peter's to await the arrival of the Pontiff. Many of us were mildly surprised at the outward display of boistrous emotion shown by the Europeans at the arrival of Pius XII as unlike the American tradition that silence indicates respect, the Germans and Italians take the view that the more noise you make, the more respect and reverence you show. Oddly enough we too were joining the chorus: "Vive Pio Papa."

The Holy Father addressed us in French, the official language of the Sodality Congress. Expressing his extreme happiness in welcoming the first International Sodality Congress and saying that he was very happy to see the Sodalities of the world working side by side.

We spent the next three days sight-seeing and exploring our way through the wonders and beauties of ancient and modern Rome, while Jack Buckley and John Haley represented Saint Mary's at the Sodality Congress. Jack Buckley was elected National Secretary of the Congress.

The sight-seeing trips in Rome were, for us, perhaps the most memorable occasions of all. During our escapades we visited the Catacombs, the Colosseum and many of the Roman ruins including the Forum and the Baths. We drove along that famous roadway to Naples, the Appian Way, visited the Vatican Museum and viewed many of the world's masterpieces in art and sculptor. Perhaps the most famous works we saw were those of Michaelangelo, such as The Sistine Chapel and the original statue of Moses.

Our four days' stay in Rome was just long enough to make us want to stay longer. Going to Rome is like stepping into a page from the past. There is a legend connected with the Fountain of Trevi which says that anyone who drops a coin in the fountain will one day return to Rome. We each put a dollar!

The balance of our trip, unfortunately, had to be rushed because we had only six days to reach Southampton in order to catch the boat home. We left Rome by bus on September 21 and drove to that wonderful old city of Florence, where we spent one night and part of the morning of the 13th. We stayed there only long enough to go shopping in the world famous leather stores and to supply ourselves with souvenirs and gifts for our parents and friends.

The same evening we arrived at Milan. Again we were too rushed to do much sight-seeing, but did manage however, to visit the big cathedral there. By this time I thought that we had seen just about every cathedral on the con-continent—but there were more.

On September 14th we drove from Milan to Lausanne, Switzerland. This drive was really the most spectacular and the most beautiful I had ever experienced. We drove through deep ravines, over one mountain 6000 ft. high, through tunnels cut into solid rock and around 90 degree turns. For the sake of comparison, the Cabot Trail is like a drive down Barrington Street in a trolley coach when one thinks of a drive through the Swiss Alps. Switzerland is the cleanest country and had the most friendly people that we encountered on our entire journey. The general atmosphere leaves nothing to be desired. It almost makes a person feel that he is home.

Early the next morning we left Lausanne and that day drove nearly 400 miles in 15 hours. We arrived in Paris at 10 p.m. Gay Paree! How we had looked forward to our visit to this famous city. But we were mildly disillusioned. The connoisseur will tell you there exists in Paris, two moods. It is a city of sin, but it is also a city of beauty and art. Evidently the former cannot be comprehended until the latter has sufficiently penetrated. We left Paris with the idea that the sin was more prominent than the beauty. But this perhaps is an unfair statement which I cannot wholly justify. One would need more than a single day to know to know the real Paris. First impressions however are the most lasting.

From Paris we flew to London. As you have seen, our trip from Rome to London was one big rush. Anyone who had any energy left at all spent the day sight-seeing in London. We walked along the Thames, through Picadilly Circus, visited the Parliament buildings, Westminster Abbey, and many other famous sights. It was a pleasure to be back among English speaking people again.

We left Waterloo Station early on the morning of the 17th and journeyed to Southampton where we boarded the TSS Canberra for home.

On the trip across, the seas were rough, the weather cold, food and accommodations poor, but all this didn't seem to matter. We were on the last leg of our journey. We had travelled many thousands of miles and visited seven foreign countries. We had seen many strange sights and had learned many new things. But this seemed to have very little significance now for the biggest lesson we had learned was that it is fun to travel but THERE IS NO PLACE LIKE HOME!

by The Watchdog

As we reflect back on the events of the half-finished year it is again apparent that the Boarders are the backbone of the school. It seems that every job that has to be done but which has no recognition attached to it, is done by Boarders. One small example of this is the fact that the position of manager on the hockey team and also on the basketball team is held by a Boarder. Moreover, the championship football team was managed by a Boarder. Certainly Jules Boudreau, who looks after the hockey team and who supplied the football team with their gear, and Doug Haney, who spends his time waiting on the members of the basketball team, should be congratulated for their untiring efforts.

It should also be brought to mind that the Boarders are well represented on both the hockey and basketball team. DAN TUTTLE, JOE MURPHY and JOHN HALEY are always getting "two of the best" for Frankie Baldwin's team while BOB YOUNG, MIKE FORTIER, and JOHN MERCIER are lending their efforts to this year's strong hockey squad.

CRIB NOTES:

FRANK MURPHY has been told that he had a good time at the Engineers' Ball . . . LeBLANC and BURKE saw an awful lot of the Mount Allison Chorus and it was not to hear their singing I've been told . . . TOM CHAISSON should be congratulated for his fine showing in the Music Festival. He sums up the reasons for his placing in the competition with the statement: "I was robbed." . . . Every Boarder will be glad to hear that MULFORD and KURI are thinking of getting a private phone. They seem to receive about one-third of the calls at present. . . . SKIP KANE has been keeping the boys around him awake all night. This in itself isn't too bad but it's his method that gets the boys hopping—talking with a day-hop . . . CLEYLE's favorite class seems to be History. The only trouble is that he doesn't pay too much attention to History but instead he studies a couple of the students . . . JOE MURPHY tried to make an impression on a lady friend by bringing her to see him play basketball but he didn't do too well, he failed to get in the game . . . DOUCETTE decided to give JULES some competition in the hair cutting business. From the looks of Paul's first victim JULES won't have any worries for a long time to come . . . JACK CAREY was showing off a true indication of what the Inter-house Basketball League is like. He received a black eye . . . It seems that the Mount girls have come out on the short end of the Popularity Poll between themselves and the nurses. Apparently the boys prefer the more interesting and sociable nurses to the overly conservative girls of MSVC.

Forever Amber

by Murray Napier

"They all pick on me 'cause I'm coloured."

He was about fourteen years old, big for his age, but still young . . . and blind. He was clinging trustfully to the hand of the unknown friend beside him.

His friend was a College Man, a Saint Mary's Man to be specific, and — bravely endangering the readability of this article — we must also admit he was a Sodalist. He was just an ordinary guy (if you'd call any Saint Mary's Man ordinary); you've probably seen him standing around the dance floor, lying around the football field, or in just about any position at the Lord Nelson. Perhaps he was wondering, "What the . . . (CENSORED) . . . am I doing here?" Here he was — he and his buddy — playing nursemaid to fifteen sightless kids. He had on his hands: snowball fights, a French boy who couldn't speak English, and now he even had a racial problem. And all because the Sodality has a committee called the Apostolic Committee.

Now, hold on! Don't be frightened! We're not going to preach to you. This isn't going to be a Flimsy Report on the Spiritual Behaviour of the Canadian Sodalist. We just want to let you know that the Essence of our Apostolic Committee also has an Esse tacked onto it. (This programme will be briefly interrupted by a little blackboard-pounding by Father Stewart.)

By the way . . . you know, Father Gallagher isn't the only one who loves us. Pope Pius XII said: "They (the Sodalists) must be considered among the most powerful spiritual forces." So there!

It's not necessary to explain what we mean by "apostolic", except that the whole thing is based on a little thing called "love of neighbor". And just in case this means nothing to you, we want you to know it means a heck of a lot to us. Perhaps it doesn't help us find an answer when a little coloured boy looks up with his eyes full of tears; perhaps it doesn't help us keep our tempers when we're holding a little orphan by the seat of the pants to keep him from falling off the Oxford Theatre balcony; but it's nice to know we have a reason for it all, and that it really means something to us, even if it is old copy.

This, then, is the Apostolic Committee . . . the guys who organize the Sodality in its carrying out of the spiritual and corporal works of mercy. Because God said, and we quote: "Love thy neighbor", and Father Malone said, and we misquote: "I love 'em, but I don't have to like 'em!"

So, okay, what do we do? Well, for one thing, we take the children from St. Joseph's Orphanage to the movies each Friday, and to the hockey games whenever there happens to be a hockey game. For another: on Sundays, two of us tear ourselves away from the Mount girls in the Garden View to take the boys from the School for the Blind out for a walk. And whenever a student is sick we do our best to visit him, and sell him a few subscriptions to Esquire (or whatever Catholic Magazine he wants).

A few months ago we got our fingers into another pie — I mean — started a new project: the Eucharistic Crusade Catechetical Section. (Don't say it; see it!) This is really a big thing. It's a Section that is organized to teach children their Religion . . . well, no, it's more than just that . . . it's to get them actually to practice their Religion.

Each Wednesday at 12:30, Father Viragh spends an hour or so showing the members how to be pedagogical, and how . . . (pedagogical ???) . . . and how to make use of blackboard drawings for instructing. Results are pretty good so far. Having laymen do this job seems to have a strong effect on the children at the Orphanage and at St. Francis School.

And, oh, yes! don't think that the Sodalists have the patent on this project. Anyone can get in on it. Even . . . well, anyone!

Before we finish up, we'd like to say that we know there may be a lot of other guys who do this stuff on their own, and perhaps, in some cases, with a darn sight more sincerity. That's great. It's just that we think a lot more can be done if it's organized. The Church thinks so too. She calls it "Catholic Action".

So, in concluding, it's only fitting that we do so with the words of our well-known friend and philosopher, Grundoon, and we quote: "Bye-bye."

Ed's Note: In case you're wondering about the title . . . it is strange, isn't it?)

International Recognition

The International position of Saint Mary's was enhanced a few weeks back when Louis Dion, Eng. I, wrote to Jose Figueres, President of Costa Rica, offering advice and encouragement in his recent fight with the rebels.

After the fight, in which the government was successful, the President wrote a short note to Dion thanking him for his advice and encouragement. The note was in Spanish and was signed by the President himself.

Ferry Tales

by The Captain

Well fellows, this is the Captain back on the job after a long layoff. Now that all our hangovers from the Engineers' Ball are cleared up, I shall begin with the news.

Graham MacDonald has left the extreme south of Dartmouth to explore the far north, and what he discovers isn't bad. She told me to tell you Graham, not to hold her so close when you dance with her. Hitting in the clinches isn't fair.

Max (Those flowers in her hair have got to go) Beaton tells me he had a smashing time at the dance. He also told me he didn't like the brand of lipstick she was wearing. I'll tell her to buy Ponds, their's stay on and on and on to infinity.

John Greene put up a terrific battle at the Barber's shop the other day. It seems the barber put the price of children's haircuts up, without telling him. John, who is determined to economize said that after four months of constant growing he would take his business to the Mayfair Beauty Salon, the feather bob is the latest rage this year, John.

Joe Pelrine spent all one afternoon looking for a toboggan to join a party at Brightwood Golf Links. That's a poor excuse Joe, there isn't any snow up there.

Lorne (MacDonald) Hemphill, (MacDonald is for his plaid vest), I just thought I'd put a plug in for it. Hemp pushed a car up and down in front of Mount Saint Vincent just to give the girls who weren't going to the Ball a big thrill. Hemp said next time he'd push it up the hill, without his vest on.

John Whelly recently tried to prove his argument that all girls like to be kissed. He even tried an experiment on the boat with a real girl, result: "Look ma, no teeth".

Well, that's all the news I have for this issue fellows. Before I go I'd like to close with this little quotation: "What does it profit a man if he goes to see Dragnet and suffers the loss of a date for the Engineers' Ball".

Nastily yours,
The Captain.

● In an editorial from the Dalhousie Gazette bragging about all the illustrious men the college has turned out, the editor states: "from its first beginning (sic) Dalhousie University has produced losers in every walk of Canadian life."

Skating Party Planned Warner—

A skating party for the Engineering Society and Mount Saint Vincent Juniors is planned for sometime between now and Lent, according to Society President Bernie Sheehan.

The effort will be given a twist when the Mount girls take on our engineers in a hockey game.

The students of both colleges are invited to attend the skating session that follows the big game, and in view of the fact that co-sponsors have so much money in the bank its likely that the admission price will be very small, if any.

n't you play just one or two nice, quiet, slow waltzes?

Among those we were very glad to see at the dance were Edmund Boyd, our professor of French and Paul Cormier, professor of Cost Accounting. From time to time, certain members of the lay faculty put in appearances at these student functions and lest there be any misunderstanding, it is appreciated.

Congrats must go also to Jim Riordan who won the "name-the-song" contest for a box of chocolates. It was pretty sneaky, Jim, slipping up by the band, and reading the answer off the sheet music.

So it's all over for another year and the fellows are getting the stains out of their suits, apologizing to their girl friends and getting back to the serious matter of studies.—And of course laying plans for the Arts Ball next month.

Debating Finals Announced

It has been announced by Peter Tanquay of Ottawa University that the finals of the Canadian University Debating Association will be held this year at McMaster University in Hamilton, Ontario. The subject this year will be: "Resolved that Canada should have a program of Universal Military Training." The finals will be held on February 25 and 26. The M.I.D.L. champion, not as yet declared, will represent the Maritimes at these finals.

Crests, Crests, Crests—

Alas, once again we at Saint Mary's have another official university crest. It was announced last week that Birks are now selling the new gold and silver insignia which was designed principally for formal wear with a university blazer. Price: $9.00.

FATHER GEORGE TOPP, S.J.

Father Topp Joins S.M.U. Staff

Topp, (shown at left), has been added to the Faculty here at Saint Mary's. Father Topp, who was born in Montreal, attended Loyola High School. After finishing high school he entered the Jesuits. He then taught at Loyola for three years. Father has just returned from Europe where he has spent the last two and one-half years. He completed his Tertianship at We-pion in Belgium and took his year of Doctorate courses in Philosophy at the Institut Superieue de Phil-osophy which is part of Louvian University. While in Europe he served as a Chaplain with the U.S. Forces at Nuremberg and Heidel-berg. Another interesting feature about Father Topp is that he was ordained with Father Malone. Since he came to Saint Mary's a few weeks ago Father Topp has been pinch - hitting for Father Rourke who has been ill, but now he has started teaching his own subjects namely Epistemology and Pychology.

Arts and Engineers To Clash

The semi-final round of the Inter-fac Hockey League (May-hem Incorporated) will see the second place Arts meet the cellar dwellers (last year's champs) from the Engineering Faculty. This will be a two game total point series to decide which team will earn the nod to play off with Commerce in the finals. Commerce ended the regular league play far out on top.

Final standings:

	P	W	L	T	Pts.
Commerce	6	4	1	1	9
Arts	6	3	3	0	6
Engineers	6	1	4	1	3

Judge Carroll Contest Now Open

The annual contest for the Judge Carroll Essay Prize is on again. A cash award of fifty dollars goes to the writer of the best essay in the contest. Anybody in college may compete. The rules are simple.

1. Make the essay about 3,000 words in length.
2. Write it on one of the NATO essay topics or on any topic connected with Nova Scotia.
3. Try to make it more than a litany of facts; essays are literary.

Our information on the contest in previous years indicates that the competition used to be very keen. Winners have come from all faculties, including engineering. In fact, the winner only two years ago was a second-year engineering student now at Nova Scotia Technical College. Last year, however, there was no contest; students were able to get along without the fifty dollars and the honour that comes with a prize-winning effort.

This year, by writing on a subject from the International Essay Competition for NATO, students can at the same time work for one of several valuable travel awards with all expenses paid. Or, by drawing some topic from Nova Scotia they can be eligible for the Judge Carroll Prize.

For further details see the Registrar.

"Name The Doodles"

My name is Reginald. My friends call me Reggie. I'm a painter, an artist. Some people call me an Expressionist, some say I'm a Surrealist, some say I am the foremost representative of Cubism, but why do people say those things? I'm not! I'm a painter, an artist.

In all modesty, I must admit that I have created some of the most beautiful masterpieces the world has ever known. However, I have never been able to find the names to completely express the complete fullness of meanings in my paintings. I have never been one for names, at all. I can still hear my Aunt Edith when . . . but, of course that's another story.

The students of this University have long been noted for their originality. What with having a Student Council that decides things and calling your paper the "Voice of the Students" and all. And that's why I actually decided to ask you to give me a little. I'm really so terribly frantic that I'm willing to pay five dollars ($5) to the student that submits the four most unique, the four most original names for my masterpieces. (SEE ABOVE).

First of all, however, let me tell you what they're not. No. 1 is NOT "Pear in Fruit Bowl", No. 2 is NOT "Liberace with his Candles Out", No. 3 is NOT "Father Malone as Seen by Cut List Victim", and No. 4 is NOT "Close-Up View of a Bottle of Milk".

I wish you all the best of luck, and need I remind you that I'm actually frightfully frantic?

Korean Students Help Themselves

Students at three large universities in Seoul, Korea, have for three months successfully collaborated in the operation of a student self-help service sponsored by World University Service.

Since its inauguration the service has mimeographed 100 different text books and other reading materials with a total of 1,000,000 pages. The text books are sold at low cost to Korean University students who are in desperate need of books and other kinds of educational equipment, most of which was destroyed by war.

Student workers are drawn from Chosen Christian University, Seoul National University, and Ewha Women's University. The self-help project not only provides text books, it offers an opportunity for part-time employment to needy students lacking funds to pay the costs of their university education.

The mimeograph service has already requests from various Korean colleges to provide text books for university courses. The charge for supplying needed texts is about 3c per page.

In addition to producing books, the service translates and reproduces articles from current scientific journals.

The project is under the direction of the chairman of the educational equipment sub-committee of the WUS branch in Korea, Mr. Ki Hyuong Oh. Mr. Hyuong Oh is Dean of Students at Chosen Christian University and also serves as chairman of the Korean Student Christian Council.

Plans to expand the service can be implemented only when additional equipment is made available. World University Service seeks funds to provide three more mimeograph machines and 10 typewriters, as well as paper and other supplies.

So What Are You Doing

Next week, each student on this campus will be asked to contribute one dollar to World University Service. The money is to be used to help construct a Health Centre at Patna University, Bihai, India.

Health is one of the major problems facing university students in Asia today. Almost 80% of all the students are in poor health. W.U.S. is trying to alleviate this situation. The centre at Patna will provide facilities for preventive measures, for timely detection of disease through regular examination.

The total cost of this project is $33,750. Patna University and the Bihar government have contributed $16,250. The Canadian W.U.S. aims to supply $6,250 and the balance will be raised inside India by the Indian Committee of W.U.S.

The centre will not become a reality without the support of Canadian students. Next week each person on the campus will be individually canvassed for his dollar. The canvassers will be the executive members of each society.

GONE

As airy and silent as leaves from a tree,
I sped o'er the dew-covered grass.
A loose shawl of moonlight suppressing the lea
Shook never in letting me pass.
A tree's twisted roots didn't bother to hide,
A c'web neither wavered nor broke;
And down at the pond where the waters had died,
Not even a ripple awoke!
O, light was my step and so gay was my heart,
When wading through lily and reed,
I thought of a moment and woke with a start
To thoughts that were moving indeed!
Again in the waters of silver and black
I gazed for a soft, bending head,
But not in that glass was a face looking back,
And then, then I knew I was dead!

Come To The Zoo

by Bob O'Connell

Look at that one, Daddy. See the funny looking globes, and the two things like posts that seem to support them. The whole globe is covered with such ugly hair and those fleshy lobes on the side of the smaller. The peculiar thing in the centre of the smaller globe has two holes in it and a large hole beneath it. Its eyes are so small and the hair about them. Look at the color of it. It's so pale you hardly think it could live. Poor thing!

Yes it is a strange one my son. It came from another world. Here where we have Christianity, it is hard to understand a being like that. The beings in that world seem to hate and fight with one another until eventually they destroyed their world. This was the only survivor.

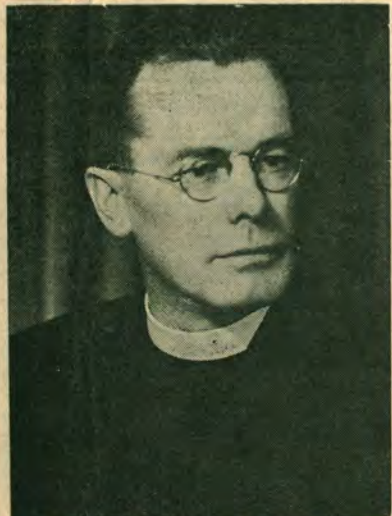

Daddy, what does Christianity mean?

It means, my son, living in peace with your neighbor. It means no war no economic strife, no immorality. It means that your aim in this life is God, and not fame and fortune. It means that there are to be no such things as lust and greed. It means that we are happy as possible in this material life. It means that being helps being to know, love and serve God.

Why didn't that being have Christianity, Daddy?

Oh, it did my son, in a way. It talked about it and preached it. But different from us, it did not live it.

What is it daddy?
There it is on the sign my son. m - a - n. Man.

Pictured above is Father D. W. Rourke, S.J., who has returned to classes after being away for five weeks with a serious illness. Two of these weeks were spent in the Halifax Infirmary.

Father Rourke's illness came as a result of his sneezing in his trigonometry class: it gave him a double hernia.

A professor of English, Sociology, and Trigonometry, Father Rourke is, this year, celebrating his Tenth Anniversary at St. Mary's.

INTERCOLLEGIATE HOCKEY

In the past month the exploits of the Saint Mary's Intercollegiate Hockey squad were not crowned with success. Since the last issue of the JOURNAL three games were played, two with Dal and one with Acadia. Dal came out on top in both games by scores of 6-4 and 9-4 and Acadia took the marbles at Wolfville 9-5. In all these games the Saint Mary's team showed that it has the potentiality to win, yet all losses came as the result of one bad period. The team is not as weak as some would be led to believe. The games were closer than the scores would indicate and the team is expected to snap out of its bad streak and begin to produce.

INTERCOLLEGIATE BASKETBALL

The Basketball squad wearing the maroon and white is in the same boat as the hockey team. Neither team is winning. The hoopsters played six games and lost them all. Acadia won three from Saint Mary's, 65-41, 68-40 and 59-41. Dal took two 50-42 and 61-51, while King's came out on top 63-57. The big trouble with the basketball team lies in the fact that the players become rattled and their shots fall short of the mark. They have to settle down before they can claim any victories over their opponents.

BADMINTON

At the moment draws are being run off in the Badminton Tourney to decide the University champion. Dave Fenton, who is ably conducting this tournament, will pick from the entries a team to represent the University in the intercollegiate tournament to be held at a later date. Dave will pick those who he thinks will make the best showing and the winners of this tournament will not necessarily be the men representing the University.

BOWLING

The Bowling League is still running smoothly under the direction of John Driscoll. Many students take advantage of the Saturday mornings to roll off a few strings. The financial position of the league is on a stable footing and the prizes this year are expected to be bigger than ever.

CURLING

At the present moment the High School Curlers are engaged in the Headmasters Bonspiel at the Dartmouth Curling Club. At the moment the team has dropped one game and no other word as to their progress has been received. The intercollegiate team holds weekly workouts at the Halifax Club and from all reports we may be sure of a strong team when and if the Intercollegiate Bonspiel is held. Laurie Brean, an ardent curler, is handling both teams.

INTER-FACULTY HOCKEY

At press time the Arts and Engineers were preparing to do battle in the semi-final playoff for the right to meet Commerce in the finals. The last four games in the regular league play saw several upsets. Commerce topped Arts 6-5 in a game that was acclaimed as the best inter-fac tussle in years. Engineers beat Arts 5-2 in an upset victory. Commerce waltzed through Engineers 7-1, the outcome of this game came as no surprise. The last game of the year was the scene of the biggest upset as the heavily favored Commencemen tasted their first defeat of the year as Arts played all out for a 7-2 win.

WHY ARE WE NOT WINNING?

The question, "why are we not winning?" is on the lips of every student at Saint Mary's. The basketball and hockey teams, after a good start, started a descent into the doldrums of their respective league's basement. You want to know what's wrong. Well, I'll tell you. In the first place we never expected to set the Inter-Collegiate Leagues on fire when we announced our desire to enter at last year's M.I.A.U. meeting. We didn't even think we could win, however, we knew we could make a good showing and our teams are making a good showing. This we must admit. In the second place a first year entry cannot even think of winning. It must build from the bottom up. It must establish itself and work up. Thirdly, we are not as strong as the other teams, as these teams have established their positions to such a point that they can think of winning; and another thing is our enrolment, which is considerably smaller than the other Universities entered into these leagues. You ask why we are not winning? I hope that the above statements answer your questions and in the next few years let's hope that that question will not be repeated.

by John Driscoll

The following are the best scores posted since the last column. E. Berrigan 222; J. Driscoll 213, 211; Marr 213, 194, 184; Davies 210, 200, 181; T. Muise 205, 204; Reid 205, Brean 204, 184, 183; McFadden 204, 182; Mason 202; Meuse 201, 192, 182; Surette 194; Sing 191, 188; Beaubien 187; Power 186, 180; Crowley 185; Roach 182; Beaton 180 and Mansour 180.

Well, the schedule is drawing near the end and the playoffs are nigh. Remember a bowler needs 12 strings to qualify. There are two teams in particular who will not qualify for a man unless they start showing up.

"Buz" Urquhart Takes Fight

One of the Maritime's leading welterweights, "Buzz" Urquhart of Dartmouth and an Engineering student at Saint Mary's, pounded out a unanimous five-round decision over Rolly Thibault, Rimouski, Quebec, on Wednesday, Feb. 10 in the main event of the HMCS Shearwater annual boxing and wrestling exhibition.

The bout featured hard hitting by both boxers but the more experienced Urquhart carried more steam in his punches and used his greater height to advantage.

"Buzz" was the aggressor throughout the bout and scored repeatedly with darting left jabs and explosive bolos to the midsection. The fifth round saw Thibault floored for an eight count after a series of hard lefts and rights to the jaw, thrown with authority by Urquhart. The game and willing competitor, Thibault, weathered the storm and finished the round on his feet.

Urquhart weighed 147 lbs, Thibault tipped the scales at 145. Both appeared to be in excellent condition.

INTER-FACULTY BASKETBALL LEAGUE OPENS

The curtain was raised on the Inter-Fac Basketball League on Sunday February 6 and play was featured by lopsided scores. Engineering 2 completely outclassed the Engineering 1 squad by dumping them 65-5. Arts A waltzed through Engineering 3, 27-6, while the Commencemen toppled Arts B, 37-13.

Led by Terry Burns who garnered 24 points, Engineering 2 outshone their opponents by a wide margin. The winners showed more finesse around the basket as the majority of their points came via the lay-up. MacKinnon, Roberts and Burke also shone for the all-conquering Engineers 2 as they completely out-manoeuvred their Engineering counterparts throughout the game. The shooting of the Engineering 1 team was erratic and they were kept off balance by the faster breaking 2 team. Brophy, Berrigan and Tappen accounted for the 1 team's five points.

Massive "Moose" LeBlanc's rebounds was the big factor in the Arts A win over the Engineering 3 squad. "Moose" controlled the backboard while Roach and Burke led the point getters.

The final encounter saw the Commencemen rouser to a resounding win over the Arts A team. The teams were fairly even up to the second quarter when the Debitmen erupted and moved far ahead. Veteran Bob Hanrahan and Tom Muise led the scoring derby with 10 points apiece. Chaisson and McFadden also played strongly for Commerce. Murphy and Mombourquette shared the scoring for the losers.

The league, as it now stands, shows three teams with all the power. However, with more practise and good coaching the weaker teams would improve vastly. What is lacking in these poorer teams is the absence of team play.

Bob Hoganson and Basil Carew handled the games well letting none get out of hand.

As I See The A.A.

by BILL SULLIVAN

In preparing this column for the Journal I must say that it is extremely difficult to criticize our A.A. for anything. During the past few weeks the Association has supervised the athletics of the University in a marvelous manner. They have revised the old constitution of the 1930's and the revised edition met with unanimous approval by all members. It should be said here that the students owe a vote of thanks to Lorne Hemphill for his work in this revision.

That brings me to my big criticism. It would, I believe, be advantageous to the A.A.A. as a whole if more of its members cooperated with the President in his work. It appears that whenever a problem comes up which requires an expenditure of energy the President is delegated to solve the problem no matter what it is or how trivial it may be. I for one would urge the President to refrain from being the errand boy and begin delegating his authority to various members. If it happens that the delegated member refuses to execute the task given to him, I suggest that the member resign and let another, not scared of work, take his place.

There is but one remaining criticism resting with me about the A.A.A. this may not effect all the students but it certainly pertains to the members of the Inter-fac hockey teams. I would urge the members of the Inter-fac teams to protest to their representatives because of the hours given for their hockey. It seems that the Inter-Collegiate team is playing at the Forum almost every week before the Inter-fac. This gives the Inter-fac in the majority of cases only 45 minutes per game. This is not fair during the play-off season. It will probably not affect the delegation of time to the slightest degree, yet it will put on record the protest of the students in their opinion that a game of hockey in which there is doubt that even three 15-minute periods will be played is not fair to the players, game, or league.

Stars of the Week

DON CLARKE AND MAX BEATON: The awards were shared with Don getting his for an all-around performance in a game with the Inter-Collegiate Basketball Team. Max Beaton for his inspiring goal tending against Arts and which enabled the Commerce team to get the win.

ART HALEY: Received his nomination for his three-goal performance in a game played against the Artsmen, paving the way for the Engineers only win in the Inter-Fac Hockey League.

BOB DAVIS: For his fine bowling. Bob got the nod over all other contenders. His score was 122 in a single string.

TOM HARTLEY: Was a unanimous choice in his outstanding performance for the Inter-Collegiate Hockey Team in a game played against Acadia. Tom scored three goals and picked up an assist out of a total of five goals scored by Saint Mary's. Unfortunately it was in a losing game.
