

Katimavik Programme Dissolved

OTTAWA (CUP) — The Katimavik youth volunteer programme, which involved 20,000 young people during its ten years of existence, died last week without a word of protest in the House of Commons.

But down the hall Senator Jacques Hebert, who founded the program, read his colleagues a blistering open letter to prime minister Brian Mulroney, attacking the decision "on the pretext that times are hard, to pass up this marvellous investment in the future."

Secretary of State Benoit Bouchard met Hebert and Katimavik administrators Jan. 28 to inform them the $19 million funding for the programme was being cut.

"He said after ten years we have to try something different," Hebert said.

Bouchard's office said the money would be redirected to job creation programmes from the ministry of employment and immigration, or to other programmes that will soon be announced by the ministry of youth.

But Lisa Van Deusen, press secretary to minister of youth Andree Champagne, would not supply any details of these future programmes. And she said Champagne took no part in the decision to close Katimavik.

"This was a decision of the secretary of state," Van Deusen said.

"Priority number one is jobs," said Bouchard's press secretary, Marie-Josée Lapointe. "For a $20 million programme that reaches 2,000 people, we think we can do better. It's a Cadillac programme that we can turn into a Volkswagen programme."

She said the Conservative government's new programme, to be announced by the time Katimavik ends in June, "will be a reflection of the consultation we've had with youth during International Year of Youth and of the recommendations in the Senate report on youth."

Youth's main concern is jobs, she said, and Katimavik is not a job creation programme.

"Bullshit!" said Hebert when asked about Bouchard's statement he had replacements for Katimavik. "I don't believe a word of it."

Hebert doesn't even think the secretary of state made the decision to close Katimavik.

"My feeling is that he was ordered to do that (kill Katimavik) from higher up."

The Liberal and New Democratic parties have been silent on the cut. The day after Katimavik was shut down, the parties instead spent 45 minutes asking the prime minister about a bugging of the Liberal caucus 23 years ago.

The programme pays the shelter and food costs for 2,000 young people a year, to work for nine months on community projects and in social work in three different provinces. One of these three-month periods is spent in a French-speaking region.

Hebert predicted the House of Commons would be flooded with petitions from the 20,000 omr Katimavik participants across Canada.

In his letter, Hebert said the New York City Demonstration Project, launched last October, was "largely inspired by the Katimavik programme."

"(Katimavik) is the envy of a large number of foreign countries, among them, Australia, Ireland, Indonesia, the Phillipines, Pakistan and India," Hebert wrote.

The community projects completed by Katimavik volunteers had to be suggested by communities, not take employment away from anyone in the community, and be relevant to the environment.

Katimavik volunteers each got $1000 at the end of their placement, as well as $1 per day. These amounts had not risen in 10 years.

Hebert said applications for next year's Katimavik programme are currently coming in at the rate of 500 per week.

Professor Speaks On Women's Rights

by Heather Brown

Christine Boyle, a Law Professor at Dalhousie University, recently gave a special lecture at Saint Mary's on equality rights.

The lecture was attended by political science students and faculty from Saint Mary's and Charterwatch students from Dalhousie. The lecture was hosted by The Political Science Association in conjunction with the Saint Mary's Law Society.

Professor Boyle gave an interesting and thought provoking talk on the different approaches in examining equality rights, and the legal implications for women.

Professor Boyle examined three different approaches to equality. The first approach was the gender neutrality approach, which states that all distinctions between men and women are forbidden.

The second approach was the differences approach which allows distinctions to be made when they correspond to real differences and are not merely stereotypes.

The third and final approach which examines the problem of who is subordinated in society.

Professor Boyle lectured on the different opinions concerning these different approaches. She predicted that there will probably be a "mixture of the differences and gender analysis" in the upcoming years. She also suggested that there might be some decisions made based on the subordination of women.

Following the talk students had the opportunity to chat informally with Professor Boyle at a wine and cheese reception graciously made possible by Dr. Ozman, and hosted by Professor McBride.

Clinic A Success

by Colin MacMillan

Saint Mary's students and faculty turned up in full force last Thursday to donate their life giving blood at a blood donor clinic held in the Multi-Purpose Room.

Over 300 donors showed up with 282 eligible donors. Some were turned away because of colds or medication problems.

Curtis Swinimer, organizer of the event, reported that the turnout for faculty was better than at the last clinic and that the university surpassed all other Halifax universities on a per capita basis.

Swinimer also noted that the "wheels are in motion" to establish a Red Cross society on campus to organize and execute the Blood Donor Clinics from now on. He stated that this would preserve unity in the clinics and ensure that they continue.

Thirty-one volunteers were on hand to serve donors with refreshments donated by local businesses.

Canadian Entrepreneurial Spirit

by Curtis Swinimer

Canadian Entrepreneurial Spirit, what is it? that is what approximately 200 students and business people went to find out and discuss at Dalhousie Business Seminar (DBS) '86 held at the Halifax Sheraton on Friday, February 7th. The Third Annual DBS, hosted by the Dalhousie Commerce Society, was well attended and attracted students from various universities including: UNB, UdeM, UPEI, MUN, Queen's, and SMU.

The day commenced with a morning address by Mr. Harry Steele, President and CEO, Newfoundland Capital Corporation. He told it like it is, "opportunity is out there, it's just that too many people talk about it but don't do anything about it." As Mr. Steele puts it, "besides working harder, we must work smarter." He continues on to state that, "we need self-starters; people with drive." His advice to the students is to come out to the market place with some new ideas and drive and put some energy behind it.

After a brief coffee break, the audience entered seminars of their choice. Among the distinguished seminar speakers were: Ivan Duvar, President and CEO, Maritime Tel and Tel; L. Pat Purcell, General Manager of Frontier Exploration, Husky Oil Operations Ltd.; Charles V. Keating, President, Dartmouth Cable TV Ltd.; Stephen M. Rosenblum, Vice-President, Young and Rubicam Ltd.; and Michael Lewis, Manager of Public Affairs, Mobil Oil Canada Ltd. The seminar speakers spoke of various issues concerning entrepreneurship and free trade in Canada.

This author had the fortune of attending a seminar hosted by Charles Keating. Mr. Keating admits to being a workaholic, but says he enjoys it. However, he feels that the government should make things easy for small business, "they should encourage a climate whereby people can help themselves." "Bureaucracy stands in the way and presents fewer freedoms." He stated that entrepreneurship contributed 20% of the GNP and 40% of the Canadian workforce, in fact it produces 2 out of every 3 Canadian jobs today.

Mr. Keating suggests 3 steps that the government should take to trigger entrepreneurship: firstly, "the government should underwrite Canadian interest rates for small businessmen;" secondly, they should "initiate a campaign to reduce small business from the torture of tedious government bureaucratic restraints;" and thirdly, they should "remove all capital gains tax from small businesses." Mr. Keating's advice to the students is that small business needs young movers and young shakers who are willing to take a firm stand against bureaucracy.

Following cocktails and dinner, the guests were entertained by Richard Sharpe, CEO and Chairman of Sears Canada, Inc. Mr. Sharpe pointed out that Canada has itself involved in a serious debt problem handy the $45 billion margin and steadily growing. He encouraged the young members in attendance to express their concerns on the issue. "Speak to your local politicians and try to get them to get a grip on the ever growing national debt of ours."

Mr. Sharpe's remarks on free trade were that "status quo is not an option, we must change."

The luncheon address was followed by a panel discussion on The Free Trade Solution. Representation for the pro side of the issue was presented by Dr. Alan Rugman, a Dalhousie Professor of Business Administration who has been appointed to the International Trade Advisory Committee (ITAC). Representing issues of a negative nature was Richard Martin, Executive Vice-President of the Canadian Labor Congress (CLC). The discussion resulted in a debate which was as controversial as any other concerning the topic of Free Trade. The panel discussion was very informative and provided answers to the many questions brought forth from the gallery.

The seminar was concluded with a finale session featuring Greg Clark, President of College Pro Painters Ltd. and Morrey Ewing, Principal of the Nesbitt Consulting Group.

Mr. Clark presented a very moving, interesting, and inspirational speech of his feelings about entrepreneurship. He made use of some heart-warming analogies and humor.

Mr. Clark would like to see youths developed into competent entrepreneurs. "There is a premise of an extra sense of caring to produce something of excellence."

Mr. Ewing spoke of our need to respond to economic change. He presented an indepth view of the obscure economical transition from a mass economy to a more flexible, intelligence driven, entrepreneurial economy.

The morning commenced at 8:00 a.m. with a reception in the hotel's Nova Scotia Foyer and concluded with a cocktail reception at 7:00 p.m. in the Nova Scotia Room.

Design Competition Announced

Detroit, Mich., January 22, 1986 — Burroughs Corporation has announced the Second Burroughs Design Competition for outstanding examples of industrial design and products that incorporate computer capability and technology in the human/machine interface.

The competition is open to upper level industrial design students and recent graduates in North America. It has the official endorsement of the Industrial Designers Society of America.

"The purpose of the Competition is to demonstrate how microprocessor technology can be used to reveal new product possibilities," said Paul G. Stern, Burroughs president and chief operating officer. "We also hope to show how the computer can make a product safer, more convenient, more functional and more responsive for the user."

First prize is a cash award of $10,000 to the designer. The educational sponsor of the first prize recipient will receive a Burroughs B 25 business computer with printer. Second prize is $5,000 to the designer, and third prize is $1,000.

The three-man jury includes: Stuart Brand, author of the Whole Earth Software Catalog. In 1972, he won the National Book Award for the Whole Earth Catalog. Niels Diftrent, FIDSA, is design consultant to several international electronics firms. During his twenty five years with Henry Dreyfuss

Associates, he became deeply involved in ergonomic research. Deane Richardson, FIDSA, chairman of Richardson/Smith Inc., a consulting design firm. He is consulting project leader of strategic design programs for a number of high technology firms.

All entries must be received by March 31, 1986. Award winners will be notified by telegram after April 15, 1986.

First prize winner in the 1985 competition was an Interactive Musicbook, that combined a small computer with the traditional music stand, to form the equivalent of a word processor. It enables musicians and teachers to add, change or erase notes and chords at will, add rhythm accompaniment and play back part of all of a composition.

Other award-winning products include an Image Acquisition system, a braille reader and writer, and an Agricultural Robotic Trimmer. These are described in a twelve-page color brochure, available free from Burroughs as long as the supply lasts.

Bowl For Millions

by Colin MacMillan

Students and Administration gave up an hour on Saturday last week to raise funds for Big Brothers and Big Sisters, an organization designed to provide companionship for children.

The university entered 10 teams in a bowling campaign entitled Bowl for Millions. Teams came from every faction of the University; Saga Foods entered two, as did AIESEC, and SMUSA. The Residence-Conference office, Student Services, the International Education Centre and the Commerce Society each had one.

Kathy Dickinson, organizer of the event on campus and Big Sister for the last four years, said the teams raised about $2,000 for the cause and was impressed with the turnout.

SALT Talk

Numerous complaints have been made by people using the parking facilities at Saint Mary's about the lack of salt used to de-ice these parking lots.

Just because our arena is not huge, we do not have to expand our ice surface to include the parking lot.

Motorists have been slipping and sliding since the first major snowfall not only in the Huskies Arena parking lot, but also in the Loyola and Edmund Rice parking lots. There have been numerous near collisions, although nothing serious has been reported.

Motorists are not the only people suffering from lack of salt and abundance of ice.

The unfortunate people who must venture outside have to cope with the winter season not only from above, but also from below. If you have a good sense of balance, the time spent travelling to the SUB can be greatly cut down if you choose to slide all the way.

The yearbook photographers have probably taken some great action photos by gazing out their window at the pedestrians below.

If the persons responsible for the lack of salt have to use these parking lots or walkways, they should realize what a hazard they are inflicting upon people of Saint Mary's.

We agree with the letter published last week that it really seems as if the Administration does not care about the ice problems.

The Comm Lane

by Curtis Swinimer

Take several high-grade plastic balls, ten wooden pins, and a handful of caring students, and what do you have? You have the making of a concerned team of bowlers who want to raise money for a worthy cause.

This past week or so, many groups on campus were soliciting pledges for the Bowl for Millions campaign. This is a major fund raising project of the Big Brothers and Big Sisters in Metro. The money raised through pledges will help single parent kids in Metro find adults who will share a few hours a week.

The Saint Mary's Commerce Society and AIESEC were among the concerned groups that participated in the campaign. These two teams formed their own challenge against each other to see who could reach the highest score and dollar amount raised. The challenge was concluded during the Celebrity Bowl on Saturday, February 8 at Fairlanes Bowling Centre. It is not official as to who won the challenge: however, everyone had a good time raising money for such a great cause. The two groups managed to raise close to $800 altogether.

Turning to Business Week '86, students are given the opportunity to obtain a first hand look at the business community. Throughout the week of February 10-14th, the Faculty of Commerce and the Commerce societies will present a wide array of speakers. The concept of this exposure is devoted to improving the students' awareness of what the business world really has in store for them.

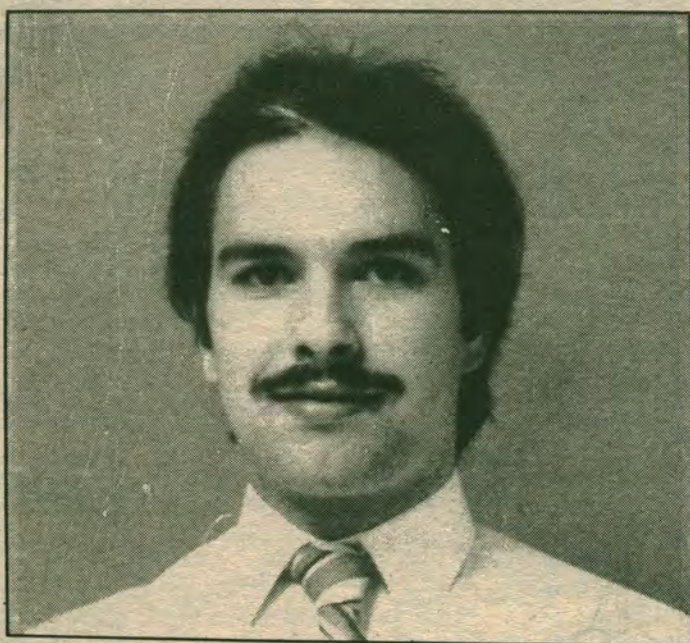

This year's Business Week will be highlighted with the Twelfth Annual Business Dinner to be hosted by the Commerce Society on Thursday evening. The dinner has been organized over a period of 5 months by approximately a dozen dedicated commerce students and the office of the Dean of Commerce. Over the years the dinner has been earmarked as one of the most high profile business gatherings in the area. This year's guest speaker, L. David Caplan, is the President and CEO of Pratt and Whitney Canada. His speech is guaranteed to be interesting and informative.

The Commerce Society's upcoming agenda includes the Second Annual James Ready Airband Competition and Video Bash. The airband competition is sponsored by none other than Moosehead Brewery, which is offering prizes of $200, $100, and $50 for 1st, 2nd, and 3rd place respectively. Aside from the competition is the video bash hosted by C100 Radio. The night promises to be an interesting one with many door prizes being given away.

Entry forms for the airband competition are available from the Commerce Society office (5th Floor, SUB) or Mary MacDonald (A-43 Vanier). The final date for submissions is March 3rd, so get yours in now and start practicing over the break.

The Commerce Society's next general meeting is scheduled for February 19 at 7:00 p.m. in Room L169.

President

Hello, my name is Mark Bower. I am a third year political science student running for re-election for the position of President. I believe that my experience this past year enables me to serve you well.

The task I have faced this year has not been an easy one. In recent years the Students' Association was an organization that was plagued with many problems that prevented it from being an effective aid to students. This year I and the other SMUSA members worked hard to turn that around and the response has been positive.

This past year has seen issues addressed. The Students' Association has spoken up to represent its students on issues like the proposed Royal Commission tuition hikes, SMUSA Helped in the fight for student bus passes. Surveys helped SMUSA to make recommendations to improve the SAGA food plan now being used. We spoke out on the removal of the SMU bus stop. We are still working to preserve our Employment Center on campus.

The free topical lecture and free weekly movie series were well attended. The establishment of the information desk and free phone service in the Student Centre were badly needed. Increased funding for part-time student concerns was implemented. 1985/86 saw SMUSA take the national stage as it hosted the Canadian Organization of Campus Activities annual conference, judged as the most successful to date with a profit of over $7000.

It has taken a lot of hard work and learning but I feel we have now reached a point where we can be proud of our service. More importantly, we have established a well planted and connected organization which, with my experience, we can continue to build on these and other ideas and forge ahead into a productive future.

In the year ahead the goals and objectives for the Students' Association must be clear. The symposium which SMUSA conducted on the Royal Commission in January gave me the necessary tools to start the fight with politicians against tuition fee increases on behalf of Saint Mary's students. If quality education is to be available to all students it is a fight which I must, and will, continue. During the past year it has become evident we are not doing enough to communicate with off-campus students. The establishment of an outdoor display board, much like the successful one at Dalhousie, will be placed in a highly visible area of campus. Also, off-campus students need a bigger, nicer and more easily accessible area in which to relax between classes and with friends.

All of us have experienced the frustration of waiting to use the only two photocopiers on campus. More photocopiers must be put on campus and the Students' Association should provide that service. Another problem which has become evident during the past year is the lack of university policy protecting individuals from sexual harassment. The Students' Association must work with the University to ensure proper avenues for reporting instances of sexual harassment and dealing with them is implemented. I have also become aware of the increased instances of attacks on University campuses. Saint Mary's is located in a high risk area of the city. Better night time lighting on campus is a necessity.

Other services which I feel are badly needed at SMU, and which are enjoyed by students at other Nova Scotia Universities, include: a typing pool, a travel board, a convenient postal service where stamps can be bought and parcels mailed.

We have now developed far enough that the dream of having a student managed Student Centre where students take control of their own affairs may soon be a reality.

The Students' Association has taken great strides towards stability. Yet more must be done. Saint Mary's needs a Student Association President who understands the needs and problems of students and who has already established the contacts necessary to solve those problems. Please let my experience as President continue to build on past achievements so our Students' Association can reach a potential in which all students can be proud.

I look forward to talking with you and debating the issues with the other candidates.

My name is Carie Schurr, and I am running for the position of SMUSA President.

I am presently a third year psychology student. During my three years I have been actively involved in the Residence Society and it's various functions.

I am currently President of the Residence Society, which this year has proven to be one of the most successful organizations on campus.

This year has been a continual source of controversy which has raised the concern of many students, indicating the need for change. I believe that it is quite possible to implement the required changes without disregarding the wants of the students, as was done in the past.

The unification of SMUSA executive and council is another of my goals.

It is through your support that these and other changes may be successfully implemented.

Whatever your decision, be sure to vote on February 18 and 19.

Thank You

curricular activities. I am Co-Editor of the Yearbook, staff writer for The Journal, and a student representative on the Quality of Teaching Committee.

I feel it is important to participate in EVERY meeting and do not view these positions as resume stuffers. I believe it is also very important for your representatives on these boards to be vocal and express your opinions. I will do this.

I would appreciate your support in the upcoming elections. Prove that apathy is dead at Saint Mary's. Get out and vote February 18th and 19th.

Fellow Students:

My name is David Brown, and it is my privilege to be a candidate for a position on the Board of Governors of Saint Mary's University. I am a second year commerce student, and a member of the Mature and Part-Time Students Association, the Math and Computing Science Society, and a past member of CFSM Radio Saint Mary's.

My name will likely be unfamiliar to many of you, because this will be my first attempt at running for office at Saint Mary's. I have chosen this particular occasion to run because of the multitude of things now happening that are having such a monumental impact on the lives of us all as students. I feel that, with such problems as the student housing shortage, and the recent Royal Commission Report affecting so many of us, we can no longer afford the passive representation we have received in the past. Our voices must now be heard on these subjects, and others, if we are to have any say about our future as valid members of this academic community.

What I am seeking is the opportunity to discuss with you, as a student of Saint Mary's University, the problems and concerns that affect you. I will then voice these concerns on your behalf as your elected representative and fight for their resolution. To be able to pro-

V.P. Student Affairs

Fellow Students,

My name is Sean Dolter and I am running for the position of Vice-President of Student Affairs.

I am a fourth year Physics student in the Faculty of Science and I am from Corner Brook, Newfoundland where I have resided for the past 10 years.

The past two years I have been involved in the Students' Association. I was first introduced to the Association as Promotion Director and then became the Communications Director for the present year. These past two years have been very interesting. I can honestly say I have observed the good and bad side of the student council. I am confident, if elected as Vice-President of Student Affairs, that I will surely use my experience and open mind to help create a "new" atmosphere and a feeling of total student involvement in the decision making process; after all we should be a student representative council coordinating the decisions of the students and not our own.

SINCERELY
CANDIDATE FOR
V.P. STUDENT AFFAIRS

I am a second year Arts student in psychology running as a candidate for office of Academic Senate. Briefly, a few areas of concerns are academic planning and admission policies that affect the quality of our education. One glaring situation is the shortage of 300 & 400 level courses for evening and summer students. My attention has been drawn to the outdated and overcrowded facilities for our computer science students. A third area of concern is the part-time student who cannot qualify for scholarship because he/she is forced, unreasonably, to meet the criteria set for full time students viz. five courses per academic year.

These are just a few issues out of many that concern students and need a voice on the Senate. If elected, I can pledge an open ear and receptive mind to all problems and ideas directed toward me and I can pledge an assertive voice on the Senate for You the student at Saint Mary's.

I can be reached through the Part-Time/Mature Students Assoc. Rm. 220, McNally Bldg.

YOUR VOTE COUNTS! BE THERE ON FEB. 18 & 19.

Kevin Cameron
Candidate,
Vice-President Administration,
S.R.C.

There are many types of ambition; one is for the betterment of the collectivity, another is an individual kind of ambition which promotes only the individual's ideas and attempts to lead the person to a more prominent level in the hierarchy.

The SRC should not be used strictly for individual ambition, and although ambition rightfully exists, it should be secondary to serving the main function of Council: acting as the final voice of all SMU students.

This Representative Council is not the Liberal Representative Council or the Progressive Representative Council, but the STUDENT Representative Council and being so, the SRC Executive and all its members should act as just that: students. Over the last two years the SRC's behaviour has presented an increasingly political problem-solving approach in what is definitely a non-political arena.

In an arena such as ours, especially on a small campus, the main goal after education should be promoting and establishing an active school spirit. One in which students are informed, entertained, and proud of the fact that they are Saint Mary's students. The road back to pride begins with the realization that:

- the SRC must relate to students in direct ways. The ghosts of this year's Council are known more by rhetoric and less by faces and real personalities.
- The SRC has engaged in an image building program, that despite small but genuine benefits for students, has failed utterly at building even the tiniest amount of school spirit.
- And that in effect the SRC has spent its efforts looking good. The Council should spend less time in front of the mirror of glamour and rhetoric and more time in front of its only reality... the students of Saint Mary's.

Therefore take in the reality of this past year's situation at SMU and ask yourself these questions:

Are you enjoying yourself as much this year as last year at this institution, and if you are a freshman have you encountered the school spirit and excitement that you were led to believe would be a part of your university years?

If your answer is no, then you have already expressed a feeling that many fellow students have also expressed. Experienced students know that this year has been an unfortunate exception to many years gone by. But it's not time to sing "Glory Days" around here yet! The SRC as the governing and guiding force of our student body must realize that every year should be treated as a student's last year and do its best to make the grad's year the best ever, and the freshman's year only as an example of what is to come.

Thank You,
Kevin Cameron

Fellow Students,

My name is Sean MacLellan and I'm running for V.P. Administration.

At the present time I am a 25-year-old, third year Arts student and I am majoring in Geography.

In my three years at Saint Mary's, I have been as involved as I possibly could. This year I am on the Academic Regulations and Food Committees and I was on the Orientation and Winter Carnival Committees. Last year I was on the Fiscal Advisory, Food, Health and Charter Day Committees. I have been active in the Geography and Off-Campus Societies in all three of my years here. I also work at the Journal and at CFSM.

For the past two years, I have been the Off-Campus Rep. on the S.R.C. and I have seen the membership and involvement of the society increase dramatically over that time. During these two years, I have tried to be available to any Off-Campus student with a problem. Also, at last year's Charter Day, I received the Sophomore of the Year award.

The job of V.P. Administration involves working within SMUSA with employees, the Gorsebrook Lounge, and many other areas. As a member of last year's Hiring Committee and being the head of this year's Stage/Clean-up Crew, I have seen how the V.P. Administration must interact with all of these groups and I feel that this experience will be a great benefit to me in this job. I also feel that my record as the Off-Campus Rep. over the past two years will prove that I am eager to work hard for the students of Saint Mary's and to make sure that your money is handled with the best possible care. After all, the Council, as the title states, only represents the students and therefore, we must do what is best for the students of Saint Mary's.

I hope you will all get out and exercise your right to vote on the 18th and 19th of February and I especially hope you will support me.

Thank You,
Sean MacLellan

Fellow Students

It's time again for you to decide who will represent you on your student council for the coming year.

My name is Charles Russell. I am running for the position of Vice President Administration. I am twenty-two years old and in my second year of commerce. Presently, I am heavily involved in several student and academic activities. I am the station manager of CFSM, a photographer and reporter for the Journal, and a photographer for the Yearbook. I hold memberships in the Commerce, Off Campus, and Marketing societies. I am also a student teaching assistant for basic computers.

Now, I would like to see all of my energies directed towards one position. I talk straight, and I work hard. I would like the students to be able to become more aware of what goes on in council.

If given the opportunity, I will do the best job I can as V.P. Admin.

Thank you for time, and I hope for your support on Feb. 18 and 19. Don't forget to vote.

Yours Truly
Charles Russell

Hi, my name is Dave Smart. I'm a candidate for the position of Vice President Administration for SMUSA. For the past two years I've been a member of the Students' Representative Council. Last year I was Commerce Representative and I'm presently in the position of V.P. Student Affairs. As V.P. Student Affairs I was responsible for the organization of orientation and this year's winter carnival. I've been working with representatives of Metro area Student Unions, lobbying to get a student bus pass from Metro Transit. Unfortunately, they have not, as of yet, agreed to give us the bus pass, but I will not stop trying. I've also been working on the Student Affairs Committee's study of the meal plan. I am presently setting up a meeting with Saga Foods and the Administration, to discuss the recommendations contained in the committee's report.

There are many things I feel the Students' Association should provide for the students of Saint Mary's. In the past year we've made some major steps towards providing students with the services they deserve, but progress is a very slow process and there is much more that can be done for the students. If elected, I intend to see that the services SMUSA now provides are continued; and where possible, improved. I'd like to see the implementation of new services if possible, services such as: a centralized typing service, that provides a fast and efficient service to students at rates a student can afford. I'd also like to see the implementation of a photocopier service, so that students don't have to wait in a line at the library to use a photocopier.

I do not intend to make promises that I can not, or will not, keep. The only thing I can promise is that, if elected, I will continue to do my best to serve the student body with the leadership and integrity it deserves.
Yours Sincerely
Dave Smart,
V.P. Student Affairs

Roots Remembered:

Last weekend marked 2 important dates in the history of Rock and Roll. Saturday was the fifth anniversary of the death of Bill Haley, the man who set it all into motion, and Sunday marked the date 22 years ago that The Beatles made their first appearance on the Ed Sullivan Show.

The world would never be the same.

And You Thought He Was Dead!

By Mark DeWolf

Peter Frampton is alive!! Alive and kicking as a matter of fact. To say that he's been living in some obscurity since his mega-star, Frampton Comes Alive period would make me the new master of understatement, it looked like glory days were another short chapter in Rock/Pop history. Luckily for us he's made a comeback.

The ex-Humble Pie guitarist, ex-pretty boy, ex-superstar has a new album on Atlantic Records called Premonition. Ironically, I don't think Jeanne Dixon could have predicted this one, Pete is alive, and still a musical force to be reckoned with.

Frampton has lined up a formidable group of musicians including Sting/Dire Straits drummer Omar Hakim, while retaining the role of lead guitar himself. Together they've made a kicking combo of hard rock and sweet hooks, updating his inimitable style with flashy keyboards and modern recording techniques. Premonition is a landslide victory, and could very likely be the big album of 1986 with the proper push from the record company (pray Springsteen doesn't release another vomit on vinyl). I can honestly say that there are no sleepers on this album. My favorite track and guilty pleasure is lying, a song reminiscent of his former glories, those pop classics I used to love when I was just a kid.

What can I say, Frampton has come alive again, and your nuts if you miss out on it.

New York's Okay If You Like Saxaphones

By Mark DeWolf

This is pure pop music at its best, England's Level 42 hail from the populist English music tradition of Jazz/Funk inspired salsa that has been all the rage in household Europe for the last 2 or 3 years. It's a real New York kind of sound, the smoky bar, the lounge lizard in his black zoot suit crooning away on the piano while the ever so laid back patrons make their moves into the wee hours of the night, it's an upbeat sound though, kind of like Steeley Dan on a good day. Dance club material to be sure.

According to their press package they've been a big draw amongst British audiences for a number of years. I was unaware of that as I don't generally follow this kind of music, but after hearing them for the first time I can definitely see why — this is summertime, get in your car and cruise music, flowing, catchy and slick. I should also say that on first listening I found their music appealing but a bit flat, but now, the more I listen the more World Machine grows on me. This album is fast becoming one of my favorites. Thankfully, I took the time for repeated listenings because the fact that it grows on me more and more with each listening indicates the true depth of their songwriting, arrangements, structure and musicianship.

They are consummate in all these categories.

Level 42 make pop music the way it should be made, with energy and imagination. Check out the first song on side one, Something About You, if that doesn't grab you I don't know what will.

Time Runs Out on Huskies

by Shane Ross

A time-clock shows no sympathy to teams that play catch-up basketball.

This is what the Huskies learned last Friday night when they hosted the St. F.X. X-Men. After being thrust into an early 15-point deficit, the Huskies battled back the rest of the game and gradually reduced the margin to two points, but their efforts were spoiled when time inevitably ran out on them.

"It's frustrating to fight back the whole game just to have time run out on you when you finally do get back into it," remarked veteran forward Gary Bratty. "If we could have had just a few more minutes maybe we would have won. But then again, you can't play a game forever."

Saint Mary's did lead 9-8 with five minutes gone in the game, but shortly thereafter St. F.X. took over a lead they never relinquished. The X-Men played tough defence under their own basket, and pretty well neutralized the Huskies' inside attack. This forced S.M.U. to take long outside shots which they had trouble making. It appeared as though the ball was too big for the basket as several shots bounced and rolled around the rim, but refused to go through.

The Huskies' bad luck continued when David Smith, one of their best outside shooters, was injured midway through the first half and did not return. The injury will force him to miss the Huskies' remaining games.

St. F.X.'s one time 28-13 advantage was reduced to just 39-32 at halftime, but the Huskies' fans (all except Vern) still had a hard time getting into the game. Then again, they always do unless their team is winning. Maybe we should do what the New York Knicks do — offer free pizza to the fans if the team scores over a certain amount of points!

X-Men point-guard Kyle Gayle played a fantastic game for his team, registering 20 points and at least a dozen assists. Practically every time he touched the ball it led to a St. F.X. basket. Whether he dribbled up the court and shot himself or dished off to a teammate who could get the easier hoop, he seldom made a mistake.

Even when he did appear human and missed a shot, the rebound always seemed to find its way into X-Men hands. Take the final stages of the game for example. S.M.U. was in a position where they had to commit a foul to send an opponent to the line to shoot one-and-one, hoping that he'd miss the first one and the Huskies could grab the rebound. Well, Gayle was one of those opponents who went to the line with under a minute left in the game. He missed the first shot, but the ball hit the back of the rim and bounced over everyone's head and right into the fortunate hands of teammate Monty Gallant, who calmly hooked it in for an easy two points. It was just that type of game for the Huskies.

Mike Williams, despite being double and triple-teamed whenever he was within five feet of the ball, still managed to score a team-high 18 points for the Huskies, equally his season average. Williams has been playing spectacular basketball for the Huskies this season, and his efforts were rewarded before the game when he was awarded AUSA "Player of the Month" honors. Congratulations Spider!

With this loss, the Huskies' playoff hopes became extremely slim. They must beat St. F.X. in Antigonish Feb. 11 (by the time you read this story the game will have already been played) and hope the X-Men lose the rest of their games, which is unlikely since they have games left with each of the two last-place teams. See what I mean about slim?

"The worst part about it is that our playoff fate is in the hands of another team," added Bratty. "All we can do now is concentrate on winning our remaining games and hope we get breaks elsewhere."

The Huskies' last home-game of the season is Thursday, Feb. 13 against Acadia. Even if they happen to be out of the playoff picture by then, why not still go out and show your appreciation for a team that wasn't supposed to do nearly this well anyway.

Waye Will Be Back

Dr. Ian McGregor, Director of Athletics and Recreation at Saint Mary's University, announced today that Allan Waye's contract has been renewed to coach the men's basketball team for the 1986-87 season.

The announcement is being made at this point to help ensure a successful recruiting campaign and to provide continuity for the remainder of this season and a carry-over into next year.

Waye's record to date has been impressive and the players have responded positively to his and the assistant coaches' efforts. The team's motivation and spirit has been at a high level since the Christmas break and settling the coaching situation now will allow the strong feeling of confidence and optimism to continue.
