President's Message

Dear Graduates of the Class of 2007

Congratulations! You can be very proud of your success. As you move on to the next stage of your career, I am sure that the time you have spent at Saint Mary's University has provided a strong foundation for the future.

While intellectual life is at the heart of what we are about as a university, we have never felt that our mission stopped there. A Santamarian is someone who, in addition to her/his classroom and laboratory learning, has acquired communication, leadership, cross-cultural skills and also has developed a sensitivity to the local, national and global competitive agendas.

I hope you will return to this book many times in later years to relive your memories of Saint Mary's – your professors, your friends, and the events which took place on campus, particularly in your final year. This past year has seen the commencement of the Science building renewal project. This will see not only refurbishment to the existing facilities, but additional space to house the ACEnet project and other science faculty priorities.

I hope, too, that you will continue to think of Saint Mary's not only as the place at which you studied, but where you became more of a person, in every way. So please keep in touch with your graduating colleagues and with us. Join an Alumni chapter and be part of the 35,000+ alumni network worldwide.

My colleagues and I wish you well.

Yours sincerely,

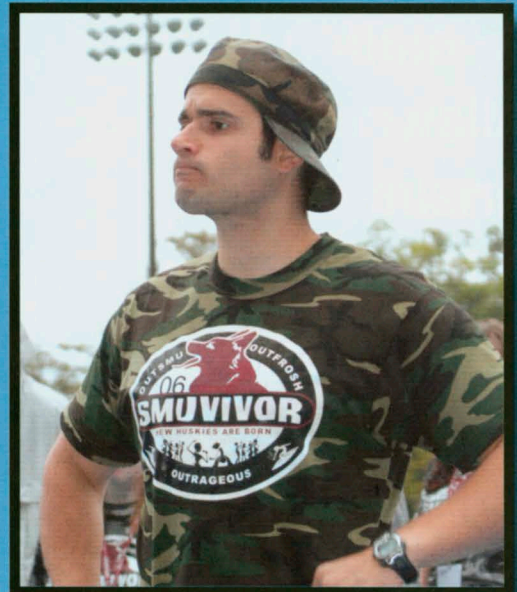

J. Colin Dodds, Ph.D.

SMUSA President's Message

Dear Class of 2007,

Congratulations! I hope the pages of this book are successful in sparking some fond and fun memories of your time at Saint Mary's...and hopefully some laughs too! I'm sure many of you will notice the drastic change we've all undergone since our first year here. We've gone through the transition from fake Ids to real ones, from high heels to ugg, and of course the most revolutionary transition of them all...ICQ to MSN... to "hiFive," to "Where are you now," to "mySpace," to "Facebook." But, more importantly, we've transformed as people; our minds and hearts have been shaped by this university (at least I hope), be it from our experiences in the classroom or out. In looking through these pages, however, it is also important for us to remember what it means to have attended this institution.

We have become Santamarians, all of us. No matter if you are from Halifax, Cape Breton, Ontario, or Nigeria, this university now binds us together in shared experience, shared community, and shared commitment. Saint Mary's has given us the opportunity to learn from different cultures and to learn from different religions. It has given us the opportunity to live and learn together, and this is important. A wise professor, Dr. Magi Abdul-Masih, once told our class: "bridges are built through friendship; understanding, empathy, and compassion are enhanced through friendship; the world is changed through friendship. Graduates, Saint Mary's has given us this friendship, and now it is our duty as Santamarians to go change the world.

I'll see you out there! And best wishes to everyone.

Sincerely yours,

Zach Churchill
President
Saint Mary's University Students' Association (SMUSA)

Year in Review At SMU

St. Mary's University's 2006-07 academic year began as customary, with Frosh Week, coordinated by Sam Lordon. The first week of classes was filled with information sessions and fun activities including a free BBQ, Sex with SMU (with guest, Dr. Johanson), Turfburn, and First Year FYI. The students, or "frosh" as they are commonly referred to, were welcomed by Lordon and his team of frosh leaders who enthusiastically woke them up early every morning, guiding them through several days of group activities.

Frosh proved to be a very eventful month. Before the halfway mark was reached in the first semester, rumours of a possible strike filtered from St. Mary's University's faculty to its students. Students, for the most part, were less than pleased when the rumours were confirmed by the faculty union's website and informative articles in The Journal. The union was fighting, among other things, for a minimum of 4% increase in salaries. The administration and the faculty were unable to reach a decision, resulting in a vote which was held by the faculty union on October 9. 92.2% of the faculty union members voted in favour of the strike, and 80.9% of the voting members were in support of the strike. By mid-October, students were questioning the presence of the St. Mary's University Student Association (SMUSA) and its actions, in light of the strike. An article, now infamous, was written in The Journal on October 18, 2006, rebuking Zach Hill (SMUSA President) for not addressing the needs of the student population. The article then launched into a personal attack, and it was not well received by the student readers. Needless to say, there were several replies in the next issue, and a great deal of discussion. SMUSA launched a "Don't Forget Me" campaign, distributing over 1000 pins for students to be worn in order to remind faculty and administration members of the students and their needs. The faculty union announced that they would not strike before the Christmas break, and that they and the university administration sought assistance through conciliation. An agreement was finally reached, and fears of strike subsided.

It was not long before Dr. Peter March decided to stir up a little trouble and/or spark a little debate among faculty and students alike. Dr. March, a professor of Philosophy, reposted Jyllands-Posten cartoons which negatively depicted the prophet Mohammed once again. (This occurred during the 2005-2006 academic year, leading to protests and a "March Against March", and the administration instructing Dr. March to remove the cartoons from his office door.) He was, again, told that the images were offensive and inappropriate, and Terry Murphy (Academic Vice President) told him that the cartoons had to be removed. Dr. March explained that his actions, initially, were intended to cause discussion. He claimed that the reaction of the university is evidence of danger that freedom of speech and academic freedom are in. The second time that he posted the material was to make a point, namely that "justice delayed is justice denied" as the university was unable to show him where it is explicitly stated that his actions were illegal, or not in keeping with university policy. He was disappointed in the lack of support from the members of the faculty union. The St. Mary's University Faculty Union responded saying, "Academic freedom carries with it the duty to use that freedom in a manner consistent with the scholarly obligation to base research and teaching in an honest search for knowledge."

In October, the Norwalk Virus made its way to Nova Scotia. News of the virus reaching one of the maritime universities, causing the entire school to close and all students to be quarantined was cause for concern. Suddenly, hand sanitizer was placed all over the St. Mary's University campus. Bottles of hand sanitizer were placed in the restrooms, on the counters at Tim Horton's, at the cashier's station at the Dockside cafeteria, and many other locations. Orange signs were placed on information boards in academic buildings and residences detailing the proper procedure for hand washing. The Student Health Centre also issued an announcement informing students about the virus, what can be done to prevent it, how long it lasts, and not to visit the Health Centre as nothing could be done to help them. Students were in a frenzy, not wanting to touch anything for the better part of three weeks. It was certainly a relief to all when the Norwalk virus seemingly disappeared.

In Maclean's University Rankings 2006, St. Mary's University dropped two spots to number nine (out of 21) for Overall Primary Undergraduate. SMU's rankings in other categories are as follows: 4th in Value Added, Social Sciences and Humanities Grants; 2nd in Student Retention, International First Year Students, and Alumni Support; 1st in Proportion of Students Who Graduate; 7th in Overall Reputation; and 3rd in Classes Taught by Tenured Faculty. It should be noted that 26 universities in Canada chose not to submit their information to Maclean's due to their disagreement with its methods of evaluation. St. Mary's University is not generally opposed to these methods, but is not in agreement with the library service analysis, and considers the reputation category to be "a popularity contest".

On February 14th and 15th, the student body was called upon to vote for the SMUSA Executive for 2007-2008. The candidates for President, in order of total vote numbers, were Mitch Gillingwater, Bradley Farquar, Joe Doherty, and Jean Brunet. Candidates for Vice President Internal, listed in the same fashion, were Chris MacDougall, Mani Itiveh, Jen Schwartz, Scott MacPhail, and Julie Thompson. Vice President External candidates were Matt Risser, Ali Singh, Andrew Seymour, Maureen Kimani, Chris Mercer, Holly Underhill, Robert Hingley, and William Matheson. The three candidates for Vice President Academic were Rhys MacDonald, Courtney Schaller, and Joe Power. The Vice President Finance has not yet been announced as it is not an elected position. According to the votes, for the 2007-2008 academic year, SMUSA will be led by Mitch Gillingwater as President, and Chris MacDougall as Vice President Internal, Matt Risser as Vice President External, and Rhys MacDonald as Vice President Academic.

Student Life

Whether you are a student living in residence or off-campus there is always something going on to help students relax and escape from their studies. From annual events held at the Gorsebrook Lounge every year, to new and exciting things, students are always ready to have fun and let loose. The school year of 2006-2007 started with the freshman class getting a dose of reality during the “SMUvivor” Orientation Week events. Although the events during turfburn were dampened by light rain, that did not stop the fun. Many events at the Gorsebrook Lounge were a huge success as well, including Halloween night, SMU Years Eve, and St. Patrick’s Day. Other returning events that were put on by SMUSA for students included The SMUmazing Race, Price is Right, and the Winter Carnival. When not partying and celebrating, most SMU students spent the rest of their time focusing on their studies.

Located at Camp Lone Cloud, Frosh Leader Camp is always a great time for everyone involved. This year camp was a huge success, with 30 facilitators and even more leaders. Frosh Leader Camp is where the frosh leaders get to know each other and are given the chance to practice communication and leadership skills, essential for Orientation Week. When not training, leaders and facilitators were able to play games, hang out, or catch up on some much needed sleep.

Turfburn

The third day of Orientation Week, Turfburn offers freshmen an opportunity to get to know each other while having a great time. This year the weather was not as cooperative as previous years, but luckily, for the most part, the rain held off during the day. This year featured games pitting teams against each other in a variety of challenges to go along with this year's "SMUvivor" theme. Some of the games featured during the day included: bobbing for Mr. Potato Head parts, transferring a bucket of water with feet only, knotting together team mate's clothing to form the longest chain, and sticking plungers to a team mate's body. The day also offered freshmen a barbeque, refreshments, a late night movie, and an opportunity to sign up for the Scavenger Hunt.

One of the events that kicked off Orientation Week, Casino Night is always a big success with the freshmen every year.

Smuvivors READY????

On Sunday September 3rd, 2006 Orientation Week SMUVIVOR style was ready to kick off! Students from near and far participated in the week's first theme night! The Student Centre cafeteria featured the long favoured Casino Night; where students who participated in Vegas style games had the chance to walk away with over $4000 in prizes. While in the pub, students were treated with the East Coast sounds of 'Fortunes Hand'.

While Monday brought us plenty of rain, it failed at putting a damper on this years SMUVivor's, whose spirits were unbreakable! Over 300 students showed up to participate in argumentably one of the biggest events during Frosh Week; Turf Burn! This is the place where frosh gather, meet new friends, make fools of themselves and play a ton of great games in Huskies Stadium followed by a much needed BBQ! Later on that night the frosh were able to cozy up with some delicious treats and relax at movie night. The following day brought tons of frosh out in full force to travel around their new surroundings of Halifax and participate in the City wide scavenger hunt. After a long day of running around, smuvivors headed into the auditorium to see the infamous Damien, Hypnotist extraordinaire!

Upon arrival of the feared or excited first day of classes, new students were starting to become more familiar with their new campus. At an all day long Open Mic, hosted by the Gorsebrook Lounge, all new and returning students came out and showed off their talents. One of Saint Mary's University's societies, AIESEC, presented "Frosh Trivia" along with Glo Pro Olympics, for all those wacky crazy "athletes!"

On Thursday, new students were able to learn more about their university community by divulging themselves into the society expo, to see what Saint Mary's societies has to offer. That night, students were able to enjoy the week's Big Ticket Concert, which featured Pilot, Cuff the Duke and Uncut.

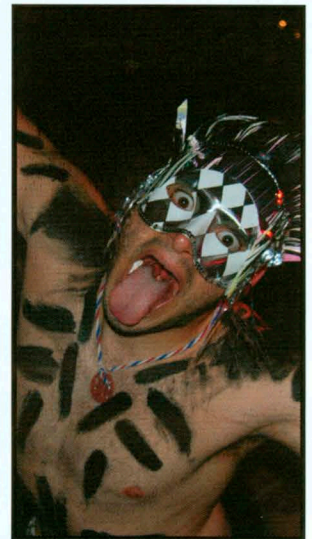

Finally, the much anticipated final day of SMUVIVOR, students ended the week with some sex education from Canada's own Sue Johansson! Friday also featured what is hoped to be the first of many fundraisers! In conjunction with Halifax's home of Rock 'N Roll Q104 and our very own Husky Patrol, students pulled vans to help raise money for the Canadian Liver Foundation. Last but definitely not least, Jungle Fever Dance Party! Frosh, Leaders and Facilitators partied, jungle style, as they were finally able to celebrate a job well done! We couldn't have asked for a better event to close off Orientation Week 2006 as hundreds of students showed up for one great evening!

This week would not have been possible without the hundreds of volunteers who worked so hard all week long! They went without food, sleep, and gave up countless hours of their time. Your help was greatly appreciated and because of it, the week's events went off without a hitch! Your Orientation Week Coordinator, Mike Keating

When I arrived at Saint Mary's in 2002, I never dreamed that I would find myself leading hundreds of students into a week filled with fun and games. The truth of the matter is I was just another frosh among the thousands of students who made their way onto our campus each year. It was during my time at Saint Mary's that I developed lifelong friendships, organizational skills, and time management which allowed me to take part in one of the most exciting weeks to ever hit Saint Mary's.

Damien, master hypnotist, came to SMU during Orientation Week to put our new santimarians into a trance-like state. Damien had the crowd roaring in laughter while he had their future classmates on stage participating in outrageous stunts. From pretending to get high off of marijuana, to giving each other lap dances, no doubt it was a crazy night.

HALLOWEEN SPOOKTACULAR

This year's Halloween Spooktakular at the Gorsebrook Lounge was a huge success. Line ups were out the door for the event on October 28th. Lorne Carorn, Manager, along with his staff (above) dressed as doctors and nurses to go along with the Halloween theme. There was also a dry dance in the SUB cafeteria for those students under the age of 19.

THE SMU AMAZING RACE

This year teams faced a greater challenge than ever before. The race took them across the bridge into Dartmouth for a leg of the race. Other exciting challenges included curling, eating raw fish pizza, and searching for marbles buried in the ground. Thanks to Travel Cuts for being the major sponsor of the event.

The Teams

The race started where last year's race ended, in front of the McNally Building. Before the race began, all 20 teams of 4 posed for a group picture.

The Winners

Christmas With SMUSA

SMUSA celebrated all of their accomplishments during the first half of the year with a staff christmas party, while helping to gather donations for the Ward 5 Neighborhood Centre.

This year the SMUSA managers and executive staff served their employees a turkey dinner to celebrate the christmas season and to acknowledge everyone's achievements and commitment during the first half of the school year.

The Price Is Right

The Price is Right has become an annual event at Saint Mary's University. Based on the popular daytime game show on CBS, the event has become one that Santamarians look forward to. Adam London hosted the event as The Price Is Right's Bob Barker. Contestants picked from the audience were encouraged to "Come On Down" and compete to win prizes during price guessing games. Each contestant was given the opportunity to spin the big wheel for a chance to be one of the two final contestants during the showcase showdown.

OPEN MIC

Every Wednesday Saint Mary's University students flock to the Gorsebrook Lounge to listen to SMU talent perform on stage. As the year went on, the events became bigger and better than ever before. The weekly event surpassed last year's crowds

INTERNATIONAL NIGHT

A DAZZLING NIGHT OF INTERNATIONAL CUISINE, INTERNATIONAL ENTERTAINMENT, AND A DJ.

International Night is one of the main international activities on Saint Mary's campus. Sold out for the past several years, its popularity keeps growing. Attendees and performers alike get to dress up and go out for an engaging evening of food and dance. The evening begins with an array of international cuisine, which is followed by student performances from all over the world. From bright traditional dress to entrancing music to breathtaking dances, those who attend are taken away to a different time and a different place with each performance. Students learn about the many unique cultures and traditions in a relaxed and exciting atmosphere. Celebrating and highlighting Saint Mary's University's diverse cultural background is the main goal, a chance to party with old friends and new ones also. The dance at the end of the night (once the performances are over and the food is gone) is an event that everyone looks forward to. International Night offers international and domestic students alike the opportunity to feel at home in our global community.

DEAL or NO DEAL

One of the main events during this year's annual Winter Carnival Week was a night of Deal or No Deal. Based off the very popular NBC game show with the same title, the point of the game is to go home with the most amount of money.

Each contestant begins by selecting 1 of 26 cases. Each case contains a dollar value ranging from one penny up to $1,000,000 (values were scaled down for the evening, with the highest value being $10,000). Next, the contestant picks six other cases to open, revealing a number that is not in the case he/she has selected. Typically, everyone wants the contestant to win the grand prize, everyone except the Banker. The Banker's job is to offer the contestant a dollar amount to buy his/her case. By keeping high cases in play, the contestant can put the odds in his/her favor, and drive the Banker's bid up. If the contestant rejects the Banker's offer, he/she continues playing and chooses five cases to open. Play continues in this fashion until either the contestant accepts the Banker's offer, or there is only one case remaining and the contestant's case is revealed.

With Jeff Lohnes as the host and his many lovely models, the night almost felt like the real thing. To celebrate everyone's winnings, there was also an after party at the Gorsebrook Lounge afterwards.

AWARE FASHION SHOW

SMUSA IS AWARE

Organizers Katie Hamilton, Adam Lordon, and Kaitlyn Sawyer outdid themselves this year with the AWARE Fashion Show. When Kaitlyn Sawyer approached SMUSA to combine the fashion show with the AWARE (Activists Worldwide AIDS/HIV Reproductive Education) Project to help raise awareness and money for the cause, SMUSA gladly agreed. After the show was over, an excess of $1,000 was raised for the worthy cause.

Doug Gordon, local photographer and model consultant, volunteered his time and services to help make the show a success. Doug also provided models Heidi Hiscock and Shannon McNabb to the show. Also on hand were Amanda Tsistinas for makeup and Marina Charnina and Alicia Melanson from Kara's Hair Studio to finish the model's distinctive looks.

The fashion show featured twenty-five models, mostly SMU students showing off the designs of 15 local, and even some international designers. Thank you to everyone who volunteered their time to the event, it couldn't have been such a success without your help.

The SMU R.A.K. (Random Acts of Kindness) Squad were busy again this year helping out the local SMU and Halifax community. Some of the random acts that the group performed this year included helping "Feed Nova Scotia", cleaning up the community during a litter pickup, handing out free hot chocolate on campus, and feeding the student body with a Valentines Day cake. The R.A.K. Squad prides itself in helping the community through random acts of kindness, and believes that everyone, not only those in the squad, should do the same through their own random acts of kindness. You can perform your own R.A.K.'s through simple gestures, such as providing a helping hand to a stranger in need, or helping your neighbour shovel his/her driveway during the next winter storm.

With over fifty societies to choose from, there is something for everyone. Although some become inactive over the years, many societies are still prevalent on campus. In order to be considered an official society on campus and qualify for funding and other support from the Saint Mary's University Students' Association, every society must be ratified by the Student Representative Council. Every officially ratified society is encouraged to take advantage of a free page in the yearbook. Being part of a society has its advantages, and will always leave the participants with fond memories and valuable experience. These experiences will aid those involved in societies get that first job upon graduating, especially if that person played an intricate role in the daily tasks and planning.

AIESEC Halifax had an amazing year in 2006-2007. We had an all-star executive team, created strong partnerships and recruited forty new members. Not only this, but we hosted our third annual World Cafe, second annual Corporate Breakfast and sent over twenty people to both the Ontario Regional Conference in Ottawa and the National Congress in Edmonton. Not to be forgotten are the awards. AIESEC Halifax won Excellence in Talent Management at National Congress and Society of the Year from SMUSA during their annual Charter Day ceremony. # Japanese Canadian Culture Society

Our society bridges the gap between Japanese and Canadian culture and is not only enriching for its own members, but also to the greater community of Saint Mary's and Halifax. Colin Rennie, our society's president this year, has created a friendly and fun environment in which people with an interest in sharing cultures can interact. The major highlight of the society this year was the Japanese Little New Year celebration called Koshogatsu. This year's annual Koshogatsu not only celebrated the transition into a new year, but it also was a milestone in that it celebrated the 25th anniversary of the sister cities of Hakodate and Halifax. There was a sense of great power among the performances at Koshogatsu through taiko drumming, Karate, and Kendo demonstrations. There was also traditional song and dance with a wide variety of interactive activity stands that ranged from games, kimono fitting demonstrations, and the popular calligraphy stand. Koshogatsu attracted close to a thousand people and is considered the biggest of its kind since the society's creation almost a decade ago. Koshogatsu would not have been possible without the organizing skills and guidance of Colin and the hard work of its volunteers; we hope that the society will continue to thrive in seeing its next milestone of 50 years! We wish the best of luck to the society of next year, and to this year's society, good work everyone!

This year the Huskies had a rough year, with ending the season with a 3-4 record, placing second in the Atlantic University Sport (AUS) ranking for 2006 with a total of 6 points. Acadia placed first with 10 points, with St. FX and Mount Allison in a tie for third place with 4 points. Between 1999 and 2004, the Huskies were able to remain on top of the four Atlantic University teams, but lost that streak in 2005 when Acadia and St. FX overtook them. The Huskies have renewed hope for the 2007 football season after recruiting Craig Leger, the top recruit out of the Nova Scotia high school ranks.

The Saint Mary's University Students' Association was incorporated in 1966, with goals to promote and encourage student involvement in educational, social and recreational activities while attending Saint Mary's University. SMUSA provides many services to students such as the Information Desk, Gorsebrook Lounge, Marketing Department, Husky Patrol Safe Drive Program, Functions Department, Yearbook Department, scholarships, bursaries, society funding and much more. Each student that attends Saint Mary's University is a member of the association and members may make demands of the association at any time. The association also advocates on behalf of the members, lobbying to all levels of government.

what the hell is SMUSA anyway?

This year, SMUSA hosted the first “Cafe Santa Maria” in order to hear comments and suggestions about the Students’ Association. From the feedback received at the event, SMUSA has launched the “What the Hell is SMUSA Anyway?” campaign, designed to inform the student body of the services that SMUSA provides to Saint Mary’s University’s students. More importantly, the campaign focuses on informing the student body about what their student representatives have been doing for them over the course of the year. Below are some of the important questions asked during the “Cafe Santa Maria.”

WHAT HAVE YOU
MOST ENJOYED
IN YOUR TIME
AT SMU?

WHAT HAVE BEEN THE CHALLENGES?

Q.2

IF WE IMAGINE
THE BEST KIND
LOOK LIKE?

Q.3

WHAT CAN SMU
DO TO SERVE
AND YOUR VISION
OF THE BEST

InfoDesk

The Students' Association Information Desk is found on the first floor of the O'Donnell Hennessey Student Centre. The Info Desk offers students many services such as Husky Patrol sign ups for pick ups and drop offs, quarters for laundry money, project binding, a courtesy phone, U-pass distribution, bus tickets, bus passes, envelopes, stamps, Express Post envelopes, photocopying, faxing and of course access to campus information. This year, Jackie (manager), Michael, Danica, Meghan, Dalia, Alison, Isabella and Andrea were available Monday to Friday from 9am to 12am and Sundays from 6:30pm to 12am (exclusively for Husky Patrol services) to offer assistance and help answer any questions you may have.

In its eleventh year of operation, SMUSA's Husky Patrol Safe Drive Service has again been a familiar face on the roads of Metro Halifax. The program operated Sunday through Friday, between the hours of 6:30pm and 12:30am in two SMUSA owned Ford Windstar vans. The 2006-2007 year marked a passenger increase exceeding the totals of the last three years. Over the year, Husky Patrol transported over 8,700 students, staff and faculty to and from the University. The service has endured over the years based largely on the strong partnerships it has formed both internally and externally. We would like to thank all of our sponsors for their dedication to the program, in particular, The Gorsebrook Lounge, Aramark, Oland's Brewery, Shoppers Drug Mart (Fenwick Street), MBNA Canada, Coca Cola, and About Image Photography. Finally our team would like to wish everyone safe driving in the years ahead, and we look forward to serving all returning students again in the fall.

Husky Patrol Safe Drive Service is provided by Saint Mary's University Students' Association, in partnership with Saint Mary's University Security.

Yearbook

This year marked a first for the Santamarian. The 2006-2007 book is the first yearbook at Saint Mary's University to be printed entirely in color from cover to cover. My staff and I are honored to bring this to the graduating class of 2007. With two other yearbooks completed, I have to say that this year's book was most fun to put together and create. Working in full color for the first time is kind of like being able to see clearly for the first time. Now every page is as vibrant as the last.

I would like to thank my staff, Alicia Wallace, assistant editor, and Joel Miller, photographer, for all of their hard work. Without them, this book would never have happened. I would also like to thank the full-time staff and executive team for all of their support, especially Robert Finn, Graeme MacKenzie, and Pamela Feltmate. I would also like to thank the Residence Department and all of the Resident Assistants for their support and co-operation with the residence section, as well as all of the societies for their input into their sections.

I hope that you enjoy the book that we have put together for you this year. If you would like to own any of the previous books, you can stop by the Info Desk on the first floor of the Student Centre to purchase one.

The SMUSA Marketing department had a productive year in 2006/2007 with highly trained staff and a dedicated compliment of managers. With ongoing staff training and the introduction of new equipment, the Marketing department allowed for a wider array of services and graphic design that set a new benchmark for the department. This year has seen some interesting promotional material created, both cutting edge and crossing lines.

Our staff this year has been essential to the department's success. To those leaving, our best wishes for the future and for those returning we look forward to another exciting year.

Liquor Services

The liquor services staff had a great year in 2006/2007. We served at a number of different events such as football games, faculty events, hockey games and various student events. Each event was pulled off without a hitch due to the hard-working, dedicated team. Some of the highlights this year for employees were meeting different faculty, professors, and members of the community and serving outstanding events such as Frosh Week and international night. On behalf of the Liquor Services department, I would like to congratulate the graduating class of 2007, and wish everyone best of luck in the future.

2006-2007 saw the continued growth of the Gorsebrook Lounge with staff, students and alumni alike, all taking full advantage of the renovations which took place during the summer of 2005.

The staff and management would like to thank the continued patronage of all the students, staff, alumni and guests and look forward to serving you for years to come. I would personally like to thank the outgoing student executive for their tremendous support and patronage and look forward to forming new bonds with the incoming executive team. Thanks also to Graeme MacKenzie, Rob Finn and all of the SMUSA staff for making our jobs much more fun and easy. Of course, to not mention the amazing job the staff on both the food and bar side has done this year would be a huge oversight. We'll be losing a few friends from the bar and wish them all the success in the world with their future endeavors.

Events such as Keith's Birthday, Bacardi Gras, SMU Year's Eve and St. Patrick's Day continue to be the backbone of the Lounge, with theme nights such as the Office Party and Western Night continue to grow in popularity. Our Open Mic night continues to showcase some of Halifax's musical talent and Friday's saw some of the best bands around playing such as Signal Hill and Never.

Whether you're booking a private event, holding a fundraiser, coming out to one of the many promotions or just popping in for a pint, we'll make sure the door is always open, the drinks are nice and cold and the staff are warm and friendly. You'll always have a home here at the Gorsebrook Lounge.

Cheers,
Lorne Caborn
Manager

Communications ↘

This was the second year for SMUSA's Communications Department. It has been credited with being a major force behind increasing both the effectiveness and efficiency in which SMUSA spreads the word on campus. The continuing success of the SMUSA website, new executive initiatives and exciting events made this year especially entertaining and allowed the Department to expand on a very engaging and interactive programming year. With eager staff and a variety of successful initiatives we can all say that it was a pleasure working for, and with, SMUSA for the 2006 / 2007 academic year. Best wishes to those staff who will be leaving us, and we look forward to reuniting with those staff who will be returning after the summer.

Tom Bilodeau, Alireza Sing, Meaghan Kerman (Manager-Fall), Jason Ellsworth, Chris MacDougall (Manager-Winter)

It was another solid year in the Programming Department for SMUSA. Many of last year's successful events were successful again including The Price Is Right, SMUSA Spring Fashion Show, and the Travel Cuts SMUmazing Race which saw a larger route, better challenges, and more sponsors including Casino Taxi and Z103.5. Many new events took place including an all ages Annual Halloween Party which took place in the Student Center and the Gorsebrook Lounge, as well as Deal or No

Deal where students could win up to $10,000. This year's Winter Chill-Out 2007 theme was "Chill Another Day" and included a wide variety of activities. Finally we had some excellent theme nights in the pub, mixing traditions such as retro night, beach night, and Mardi Gras with new favorites, including "Cops and Robbers" night and the infamous "Office Party". On a personal note it has been a pleasure to be the SMUSA Programmer and Volunteer Coordinator over the past 2 years. I have worked hard during this time to provide quality events and activities to the students of Saint Mary's. The social aspect of a student's time at university is a vital part of the degree, and in saying that I hope we have enhanced the experience of our students. I have enjoyed working with all of the student volunteers, SMUSA employees, managers, and executive who have made these times possible. Thanks for the memories!

Mitch Gillingwater, SMUSA VP Academic, presented the Teaching Excellence Awards

Charter Day, an annual dinner event hosted by Saint Mary's University Students' Association, was a huge success this year. This year marked a special occasion for SMUSA, being the associations 40th year of incorporation. Held on Saturday, March 24, 2007, the event awarded students, faculty, staff, and external groups for their contributions to the University and the community. Shane Cunningham & Chris MacDougall hosted the evening as Masters of Ceremonies. The evening started with remarks by Patrick Curran, SMUSA, President (1964-1965), then dinner was served as photos from the past 40 years were displayed for all to see. After the main course, all 28 awards were given out. Zach Churchill, current SMUSA, President (2005-2007), gave some closing remarks and wrapped the night up with an entertaining rap song. All guests of Charter Day were invited to the Gorsebrook Lounge afterwards for a Post-Awards Celebration.

The day every student at Saint Mary's University, or any other institution, looks forward to; graduation day. This is the day that makes it all worth it. Sitting through those not so entertaining lectures, spending weeknights and weekends in the library studying for that big midterm, and working two or more part-time jobs to make ends meet. The day of convocation makes it all worth it when an undergraduate student walks on stage to receive that diploma he or she has worked so hard to obtain. Where does the time go? To any student, it may feel like he or she was just a freshman starting his or her first week at Saint Mary's. Congratulations to all of the Saint Mary's University students who graduated in the Spring and Fall of 2007. Don't forget that no matter where life may take you, you are always a member of the Saint Mary's University community.

Saint Mary's University
Founded 1802

WINDSOR STREET CAMPUS
SAINT MARY'S UNIVERSITY

In 1823, a three-story brick and granite structure opened at the corner of Windsor Street and Queens Road to house Saint Mary's College, which had been closed since 1819.

Canadian Officers, then Archbishop of Halifax, led the effort to reopen the College which had been closed since 1819.

After a decade of leadership by the secular clergy of the Archdiocese, the Christian Brothers of Ireland assumed the administration of the College in 1833.

Over the next twenty-seven years the College increased its enrollment at both degree and high school levels, and additions to the campus were completed.

The direction of the College was taken over by the Society of Jesus (the Jesuits) in September of 1860. Shortly thereafter a lecture opened the north end of the College was rapidly expanding the Windsor Street campus. The Archbishop of Halifax purchased land for a new campus to the south end of the City in 1903.

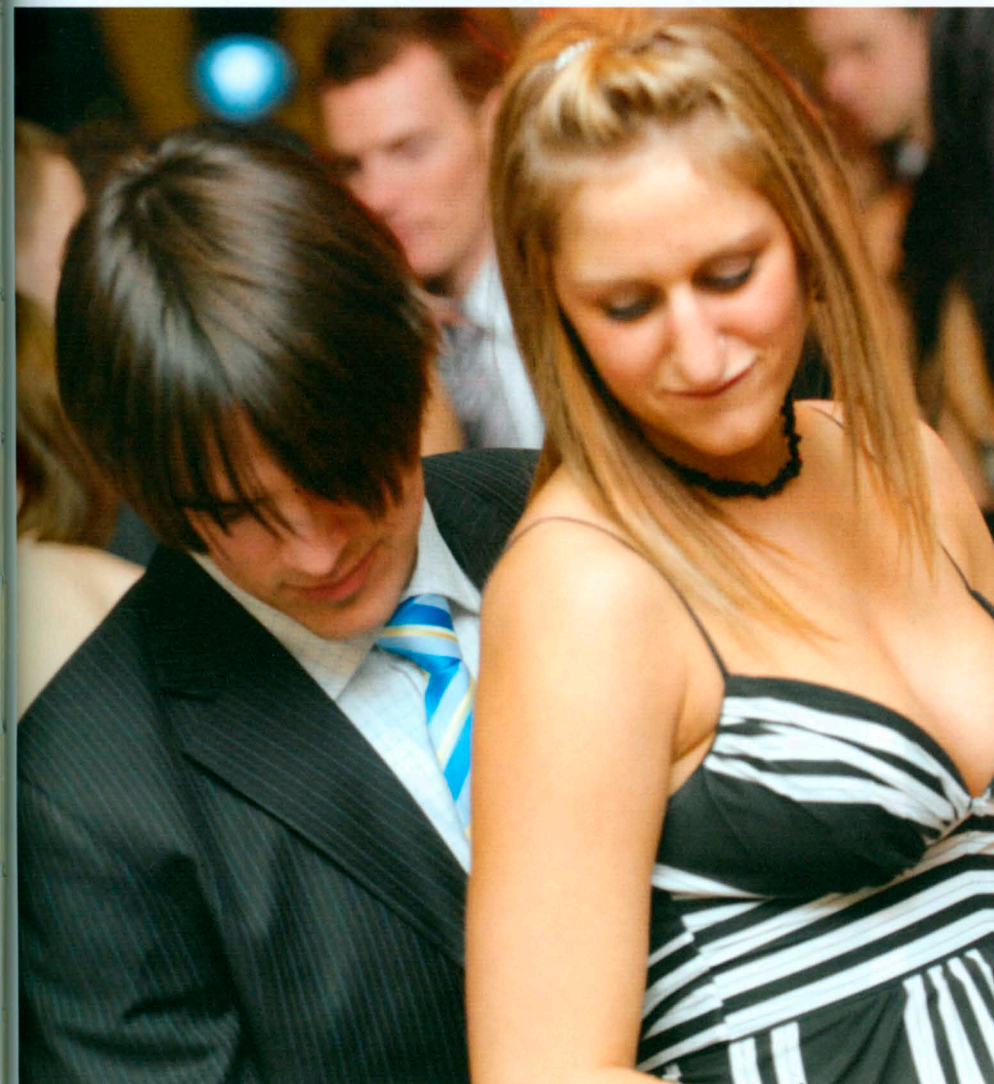

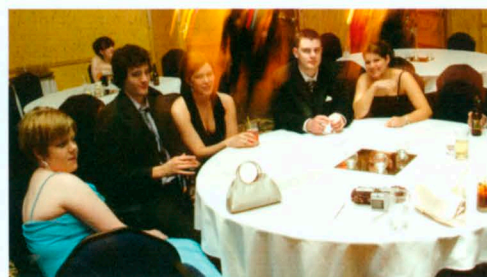

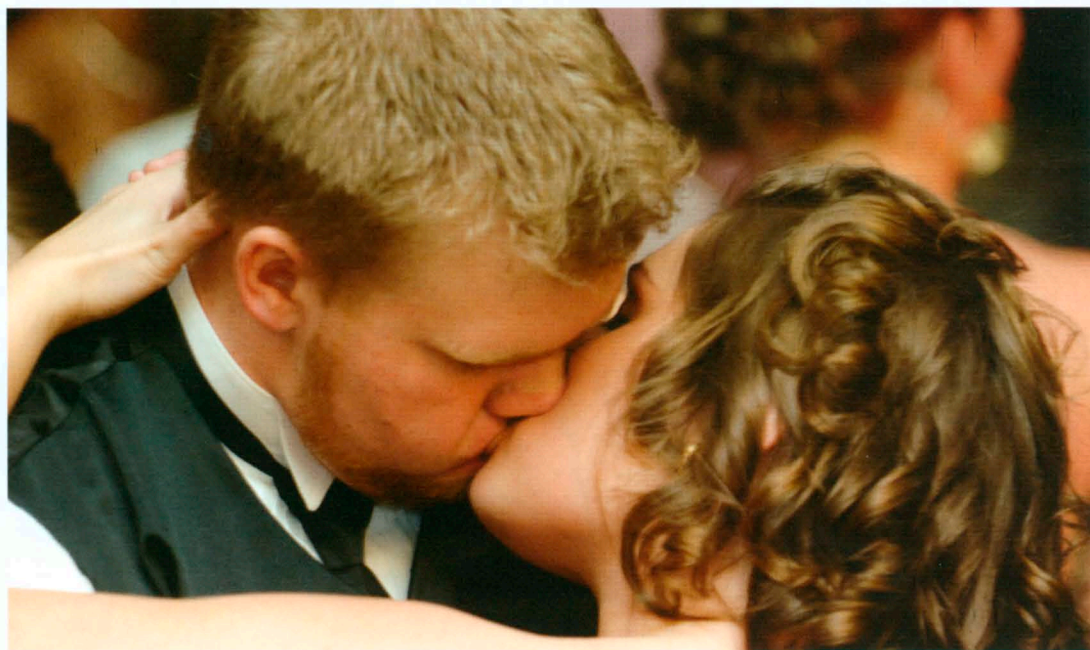

The relocation of the College to its new home on Bellefleur was completed in 1922, resulting in the closure of the Windsor Street campus.

Spring Convocation

Tradition

For Saint Mary's University, convocation is a day full of tradition dating back as far as the early 1800's. Convocation brings together the University community to honour those students who have completed their degrees.

The ceremony begins with the entering of the Marshall of Convocation, followed by the graduating students. Special guests and honorary degree recipients follow next with the Vice President of Academic and Research, the President, and the Chancellor of the University close behind. One of the more modern traditions include a mace made from oak that sits on stage during the ceremony. This mace was given to the University by Maritime Command in 1980, and it symbolizes the University's authority to grant degrees. Some other more modern traditions include: the Presidential Medalion of Office, the hooding ceremony, the flags on stage, and the graduation alumni pins.

▲ SMALL BILLS PRODUCE BIG CHANGE. Bangladeshi economist Muhammad Yunus was awarded a Nobel Peace Prize for his pioneering strategy of bankrolling poor people to enable them to start small businesses. Microcredit financing helps the poor to access loans without a down payment. The Grameen Bank was founded by Yunus in 1976 with $27. It now boasts 6.6 million borrowers in 70,000 Bangladeshi villages. The average loan is $227, and 97 per cent of the borrowers are women. (Kent Gilbert/AP)

▲ IRAQ TEETERS. While the trial and execution of former dictator Saddam Hussein should have been a sign of progress in Iraq, the steady flow of bad news continued. More than 60,000 Iraqi civilians are estimated to have died since the U.S. invaded in March 2003. And there was growing evidence that the country is spiraling into utter chaos, with car bombings, brutal death squads and mounting casualties a daily occurrence. The unrest has forced millions to flee their homes. The UN estimates there are 1.8 million internally displaced people and 2 million more who have left Iraq. Prime Minister Nuri al-Maliki has pledged to disband Shia and Sunni militias that have been fueling the violence and to restore basic government services. (Bruno Klein-Abaca Press/MCT)

▲ SPOTLIGHT ON DARFUR. The United Nations renewed efforts to revive the stalled peace process in the war-torn Darfur region of Sudan. More than 200,000 people have been killed and at least two million others displaced since 2003 largely because of fighting between government forces, militias and rebel groups. Almost 4 million people are dependent on humanitarian aid, but unstable conditions have led to the withdrawal of many relief workers. Meanwhile actor George Clooney uses star power to keep the world's attention focused on the crisis. He has traveled to the war-ravaged region, where he describes the situation as "ethnic cleansing," and produced a documentary of the horrors he saw. He has also lobbied China, Egypt and the UN for action to halt the violence. (Timothy Smith-U.S. Navy/KRT)

◀ THE SUMMER WAR. On July 12 the Lebanese militant group Hezbollah kidnapped two Israeli soldiers. Israel responded with a military assault to defeat the Shia organization. While Hezbollah launched hundreds of deadly missiles into Israel, that country flattened swathes of southern Lebanon and Beirut. Trapped international civilians, including 15,000 Canadians, fled Lebanon by ship. After 34 days, a shaky ceasefire was imposed but more than 1,000 civilians were dead, Hezbollah had survived and the two Israeli soldiers were still missing.

▲ PANDA PERFECTION. Eighteen panda cubs left their mothers and moved into a kindergarten at China's Wolong Nature Reserve in February. Aged between five and seven months, the endangered animals will be raised together until their first birthday when some could leave their outdoor school to join the estimated 1,600 pandas still found in the wild. (AP)

▲ YOUNG, ROYAL AND HUNKY. With a murmured "I love the uniform... it's so sexy," Kate Middleton admired boyfriend Prince William as he graduated from Britain's Sandhurst military academy in December. The future king of England will spend time in all three services before starting royal duties. However, younger brother Prince Harry (right, with William and father Prince Charles) is making the army his career, with Iraq his first foreign tour. (NPA Rota-Express Syndication/KRT)

▲ SEE-THROUGH LUGGAGE. After the British government announced last August they'd foiled a plot to use liquid explosives to bomb a transatlantic flight, passengers around the world learned to cram "anything liquid or cream" into transparent ziplock bags. Immediately after the warning, authorities wouldn't even permit paper and pencils in airplane cabins, though they did make one exception—J.K. Rowling was allowed onboard clutching her unfinished manuscript for Harry Potter and the Deathly Hallows.

(Jonathan Buckmaster-Express Syndication/MCT)

▲ KING OF CROCS. The khaki-clad Crocodile Hunter from Down Under had a life-long love affair with animals and the natural world. And his enthusiasm was contagious. Fans of Steve Irwin's TV shows never tired of his buzzword "Crikey!" or his tendency to ham it up for the camera. Irwin, 44 and the father of two, was killed when a stingray's barb pierced his heart while he was filming off Australia's Great Barrier Reef.

(Bob Pepping)

▼ FREE AT LAST. During the eight years of her confinement, largely in a windowless room under a house in Strasshof, Austria, Natascha Kampusch waited for an opportunity to run. On Aug. 23 the moment arrived when kidnapper Wolfgang Priklopil left her alone to get the phone. After reuniting with her joyful family, relatives and Austria that "they don't have to worry about where I am anymore." (Ronald Zak/AP)

◀ STANDING IN LINE. Passport applications skyrocketed after the U.S. started demanding the documents from everyone flying into their country. Delays of up to five weeks were reported for the blue document. One unexpected consequence was that thousands of residents discovered that they weren't Canadian citizens due to technicalities in old citizenship laws, thus creating yet another passport problem for Ottawa. (Tom Hanson/CP)

▲ A CHILDREN'S CHAMPION. For his decade-long fight to free children from poverty and forced labour, Craig Kielburger was awarded the World's Children's Prize for the Rights of the Child by Queen Silvia of Sweden in 2006. Back in 1995, Kielburger, then 12, founded Free the Children with a group of classmates. Since then the organization has built more than 450 schools in 21 countries as well as giving farm animals and sewing machines to 20,000 mothers, allowing their kids to be educated rather than being forced to work. (Gary Nylander-Kelowna Courier/CP)

Canada

◀ ▲ THE BIGGEST BATTLES SINCE THE KOREA WAR. When more than 2,000 Canadian troops poured into the Afghan province of Kandahar, a hotbed of terrorist activity, generals warned the public to prepare for both war and casualties. The soldiers fought ferocious battles with the Taliban while also building schools and clinics. By the end of 2006, 44 Canadian troops had died. Still soldiers' morale remained high, supplemented, no doubt, by the opening of a Tim Hortons on base. (Photo left: Capt Dave Muralt) (Photo above: Sgt Dennis Scoinik-Dutch Army)

▶ TERROR COMES TO CANADA. The charges last summer against 18 Canadians, all Muslim, are chilling. Police believe the Toronto-area men, including five teens, planned to behead the prime minister and attack Parliament. Their alleged goal was to get Canadian troops out of Afghanistan. Their arrests were triggered after the accused accepted delivery of a fertilizer, which can be used to make a bomb. Police reportedly learned of the plot in its early stages and had two informants telling of the group's every move. Family and friends stood by the accused, professing their innocence. (Frank Gunn/CP)

◀ THE POWER OF GREEN. No one can accuse Elizabeth May of being a late convert to the environmental cause. For 17 years she was executive director of the Sierra Club of Canada and helped create a grassroots network devoted to protecting the Earth's ecosystems. Last August she was overwhelmingly elected leader of the Green Party of Canada and set about capitalizing on the electorate's new-found environmental zeal. By the spring, the Greens were within striking distance of the New Democratic Party in opinion polls—which is impressive considering the party doesn't have an MP in Parliament.

(Dave Chidley/CP)

▲ WHAT IF HE'D STARTED WITH A COFFEE MUG? Back in 2005, Kyle MacDonald of Belcarra, B.C., looked at a red paperclip and wondered if he could trade it for a house. He offered to exchange it online and within two days was the owner of a fish-shaped pen. More barter followed—including a generator and even a film role—until he got a two-storey house in Kipling, Sask., on July 12, 2006. (Troy Fleece/CP)

▼ WHEN "SORRY" WASN'T ENOUGH. A federal inquiry determined that, partially because of faulty information given by the RCMP linking Maher Arar to al-Qaeda, the Americans sent the dual-Syrian-Canadian citizen to Syria in 2002. He was imprisoned and tortured for 10 months before being released. RCMP commissioner Giuliano Zaccardelli resigned over the scandal. Then, in January, Prime Minister Stephen Harper apologized on behalf of the government and gave Arar more than $10.5 million. Even so, Arar lamented, "I wish there was a way I could buy my life back."

(Tom Hanson/CP)

▲ RISING TO THE TOP. Former environment and intergovernmental affairs minister Stéphane Dion is the new leader of the federal Liberal party, defeating frontrunner Michael Ignatieff in December. The geeky 51-year-old's quiet determination impressed party members at the Montreal convention and turned what looked like an Ignatieff coronation into a cliff-hanger. To heal party divides, Dion quickly appointed his defeated opponent as deputy Liberal leader and focused his, and the party's, attention on winning the next federal election. (Dimitri Papadopoulos/CP)

▲ STOP IT! A climatologist described the winter storms that slammed into British Columbia's Lower Mainland as "jumbo jets on the airport tarmac. You had one coming in right after another." In November, a huge wind-and-rain storm left more than 200,000 houses without power and around two million Vancouver-area residents under a "boil water" advisory. A month later, a mammoth windstorm uprooted at least 3,000 trees in Vancouver's historic Stanley Park, clear cutting swathes of the urban forest. The only upside to the storms: a great ski season in B.C.'s interior. (Ryan Remiorz/CP)

▼ BIG STAGE FOR BIG TALENT. Since releasing its 2003 self-titled album, Billy Talent's popularity has skyrocketed worldwide. The Mississauga, Ont. band's follow-up, 2006's Billy Talent II, earned five Juno nominations and spawned several hit singles including Devil in a Midnight Mass, Red Flag and Fallen Leaves. Although BT still enjoys playing smaller venues, like its longtime favourite the Horseshoe Tavern in Toronto, singer Ben Kowalewicz concedes that playing sold-out shows at the Air Canada Centre, home of the Toronto Maple Leafs, also feels pretty amazing. (Craig Robertson-Toronto Sun/CP)

▲ ROCK ON, ROSSI. Toronto singer Lukas Rossi (right) beat long odds last fall to win the CBS TV show contest Rock Star: Supernova. Having missed the auditions in his hometown, the spiky-haired rocker borrowed money for a plane ticket to the Vancouver call, and continued on to beat out contestants from Iceland, Australia and Texas in the final round. (Richard Lam/CP)

▲ RED HOT ROCK. Within days of winning four Grammys for Stadium Arcadium, their first album to debut at No. 1, the Red Hot Chili Peppers announced they will take part in the July 7 Live Earth concerts that will include shows in China, South Africa, Australia, Britain, Japan, Brazil and the U.S. Event organizers hope to reach a two-billion-strong audience to address the global climate crisis. The Peppers, including singer Anthony Kiedis (above), have perfected a super-charged rock sound and crazed performing style that's guaranteed to wow the crowd at any venue. (Fabian Bimmer/AP)

Music

▼ TOUGH TEXAS TRIO. Back in March 2003, Natalie Maines (centre) told a British audience her band was "ashamed the President of the United States is from Texas." The backlash from U.S. country music fans was fierce, and the Dixie Chicks' career went flat. But their 2006 CD Taking the Long Way struck a chord with more than just country fans, and earned them five Grammy awards including album and song of the year. Contrary to the title of their hit single, seems they just might be ready to make nice.

(Amanda M. Parks-Abaca Press/MCT)

◀ BLUNT INSTRUMENT. His intimate, confessional single You're Beautiful, which features a sweet, sparse falsetto, was inescapable listening on pop radio stations nationwide, riding the Billboard Hot 100 for 38 weeks. The track eclipsed the other nine songs on James Blunt's debut album Back to Bedlam and portrayed a vulnerable side that is at odds with the macho image of this former British army officer who served in Kosovo in the late 1990s. But a music career was always Blunt's goal, and he has happily swapped guns for guitars.

▲ A DREAM DUET. Imagine performing live, on stage with Justin Timberlake. That dream became a reality for Robyn Troup, 19, of Houston, Tex. After she won the "My Grammy Moment" contest, Troup sang Timberlake's recent No. 1 hit My Love with the man himself at the February awards show. Timberlake, meanwhile, took home two Grammy awards to add to his collection. (Mark J. Terrill/AP)

▲ MARY J. BLIGE. Be Without You, the lead-off track from the R&B diva's seventh album, entitled The Breakthrough, topped the R&B singles chart for a record-setting 15 consecutive weeks. CD sales were brisk, making Breakthrough one of the top five selling albums of 2006. With all that momentum, it was no surprise when Blige carried off three Grammy awards.

(Amanda M. Parks-Abaca Press/MCT)

▲ INSANE SUCCESS. Their run-away hit single Crazy was arguably the most adventurous, irresistible song of 2006, blending soul and rock in a tune that appealed to just about everyone. Gnarls Barkley, the quirky duo that is DJ/producer Danger Mouse (Brian Burton) and rapper/singer Cee-Lo Green (Thomas Callaway), love to dress up in an ever-rotating roster of costumes — everything from airline flight crew uniforms to Star Wars characters. Nominated for four Grammys, the pair's St. Elsewhere won for best alternative album, and their wild antics earned the best urban/alternative performance Grammy for Crazy.

(Jeff Christensen/AP)

► MOM'S THE WORD. As the mother of two pre-schoolers, Winnipeg-born Chantal Kreviazuk realizes that at some point, her kids are going to have a good, hard listen to her music. So these days, she sees her songs as her gift to them. For instance her single All I Can Do (sample line: "All I can do is love you to pieces") is really about her children. Who knew? (Nathan Denette/CP)

◀ VEGAS VIBES. Like their hometown city of Las Vegas, where everything is about excess and flash, the Killers want to be noticed. The foursome's second album, Sam's Town, and its hard-rocking hit When You Were Young won raves in Britain and in Rolling Stone magazine. While their first CD had a strong British pop feel, this time out lead singer Brandon Flowers added a touch of Bruce Springsteen for a more all-American sound.

(Michael Ansell/ABC/Evrett Collection)

Lifestyle

◀ BIG IS BEAUTIFUL. First it was oversized sunglasses. Now the fashion industry has super-sized women's handbags. No more demure evening clutches. Today's stylemakers lug purses that resemble midsize duffel bags. At first glance it seems like a match made in heaven: fashion AND function in one accessory. The upside: these bags hold everything but the kitchen sink. The downside: they're causing a sharp increase in reported neck, shoulder and back problems. (Patrick Rideaux)

▲ MADE YOU LOOK. YouTube, the site that allows everyday folks to post video clips to the Internet, which the rest of us can't stop watching, was sold to Google for US$1.65 billion. With 72 million visitors each month, YouTube's success shows how the Internet continues to evolve, as more and more people go online not just to work, but to amuse themselves. Google hopes this huge Web audience will attract new advertisers. Stay tuned for innovative ads and video clips.

▶ FLASHDANCE REDUX. Hey, we liked the 1983 movie too, but not enough to parade in public wearing spandex leggings and baggy pullovers. Yet many continue to mine the '80s for these fashion faux pas. Skinny jeans and wide belts also fly off the racks. What's next? Shoulder pads? (Fernando Salazar-Wichita Eagle/MCT)

▲ WALKING SKELETONS AREN'T ROLE MODELS. Wanting to project an image of beauty and health, organizers at top international fashion shows barred super skinny models from the runway. The Madrid show hired medics to check the catwalk queens, and those with a body mass index below 18 were turned away. BMI is a height-to-weight ratio. The normal range is between 18.5 and 25. Many designers insist on size 0 models, who typically have a BMI of 16 and often look gaunt, frail and sickly. But the World Health Organization says such a figure borders on starvation. Tah-tah to the toothpick trend. (Steve Wood-Express Syndication/MCT)

▲ BATTLE OF THE BULGE. Fried food, sugary sweets and salty treats may soon be on the endangered species list. Across North America, local governments are banning unhealthy foods. New Brunswick banned junk food from elementary school cafeterias and is phasing it out of high schools, while Winnipeg is attempting to meet Manitoba's guidelines for school food that call for severe restrictions on the sale of fries and pizza pops, and the outright banning of chocolate bars and soda pop. Vending machines are also experiencing an extreme makeover, with the candy and chips giving way to trail mix and yogurt drinks. While young people pack on the pounds and obesity rates soar, city councils, school boards and legislatures opt for lean and green. Say goodbye to that side of fries and hello to a fruit cup. (San Jose Mercury News)

▲ iTUNES: TWO BILLION SERVED. Music lovers in 22 countries around the globe have purchased more than 2 billion songs from the iTunes Music Store. Launched in April 2003, iTunes sold its first million tracks in just five days and since then it hasn't looked back. iTunes accounts for more than 80 per cent of legal music downloads in the United States. While digital music sales account for only 10 per cent of overall music sales, they total almost US$2 Billion a year. And that's music to Apple CEO Steve Jobs's ears. ▼ TOO HOT TO HANDLE. In the largest safety recall in the history of the consumer electronics industry, Dell Inc. agreed to replace 4.2 million notebook computer batteries made by Sony Corp. because they can burst into flames. After a number of laptops overheated and caught fire, other companies joined in with recalls of their own, swelling the number of batteries to be replaced to 9.6 million worldwide. Sony is feeling the heat. The burning issue now is whether the Japanese giant can recoup its reputation. (Matt Stocum/AP)

▼ GAMING: THE NEXT GENERATION. The much-anticipated launch of Sony's PlayStation 3 saw eager gamers jostling for the few consoles that were initially available. PS3 features awesome, high-rez graphics: a treat for all video fans. Meanwhile, Nintendo's Wii lures players off the couch with its motion-sensitive control panel. Some gamers got so caught up in the action that they lost their grip on the wands and sent them crashing into TVs or other players. Ouch! (PRNewsFoto/Nintendo)

▲ ▼ IT'S ALL ABOUT US. Web traffic statistics show social network site MySpace is wildly popular in North America, and Facebook is a hit particularly with 17- to 25-year-olds. While studying might slide, we all work hard at other forms of homework: upgrading our profiles, surveying news feeds from friends, and tagging our photos. Chances are that one or the other site is your first visit of the day and your last visit before bed. The trend toward user-generated content caught the eye of Time magazine editors who name "You" their Person of the Year. (Peter Bregg)

▲ TAKING JET-SETTING TO A NEW LEVEL. Angelina Jolie and Brad Pitt have been racking up frequent-flier points. After a stint in Paris, they decamped to Namibia for the May birth of Shiloh. They'd barely returned to Los Angeles when the household hit the road again, this time to India to shoot A Mighty Heart. By January they'd moved into a New Orleans mansion, no doubt with movers on standby. (Tim Ockenden)

◀ REMEMBER WHAT HAPPENED TO PINOCCHIO! After the pop singer's nose changed shape, Ashlee Simpson, 22, wouldn't confirm speculation she'd had a nose job, telling People magazine, "everybody's already saying it, so I just don't talk about it. I'm like, okay, whatever. It doesn't bother me." Better publicity came months later, ironically, when she played publicity-mad Roxie Hart in the musical Chicago. (Al Diaz-Miami Herald/MCT)

◀ BFF. Paris Hilton's debut album failed but the party life of America's favourite heiress/celebrity continued unabated. In August, Las Vegas's mayor declared a Paris Hilton Day and two months later she ended her feud with Simple Life co-star Nicole Richie by being seen with the alarmingly thin author/celebrity. The show's fifth season will have the pair playing Malibu, Calif., camp counsellors. (Chris Carlson/AP)

Entertainment

◀ MISSION: POSSIBLE. Everyone wrote off Tom Cruise when his lucrative producer's contract was cancelled after his couch-jumping antics. But Cruise pulled his career out of the fire by signing a deal to resurrect the historic United Artists. Then in Vanity Fair, he and fiancé Katie Holmes introduced their baby daughter Suri to the world. "TomKat" finally tied the knot in a romantic Italian castle filled, naturally, with A-list celebrities. (Gregorio Borgia/AP)

▼ BACK ON THE SINGLES SCENE. Another victim of the Best Actress curse (six in the past 10 years have left their significant others after embracing Oscar), Reese Witherspoon ended her marriage to Ryan Phillippe after, or so gossips say, discovering his infidelity. At the Oscars the actress wore a sculpted purple dress that screamed "I'm sooo over that Flags of our Fathers guy." (Michael Goulding-Orange County Register/KRT)

▲ WHAT WAS THAT LINE AGAIN? After her divorce from Nick Lachey (above) was finalized last year, Jessica Simpson was rarely out of the headlines. In August, her appropriately titled album, A Public Affair, was released and then, years after Rosie O'Donnell inspired her by prophesizing "you're gonna be a star," she was O'Donnell's debut guest on The View. Her botched lyrics to Dolly Parton's "9 to 5" in a tribute to the singer are forgotten now that she's starring in a movie with Luke Wilson. The title says it all—Blonde Ambition. (Lionel Hahn/Abaca Press/MCT)

▲ "SHAVED THAT MAN RIGHT OUT OF MY HAIR." In November, after giving birth to second son Jaden, Britney Spears filed for divorce from dancer-turned-wannabe rapper Kevin Federline. The pop princess celebrated her decision with months of all-night partying. Her increasingly bizarre public appearances culminated with an impromptu hair shaving in February. Days later, a bald Britney entered rehab. (Danny Moloshok/AP)

◀ DEAL...OR NO DEAL?

With no mentally challenging history questions, Deal or No Deal is the anti-Jeopardy. Contestants open cash-stuffed briefcases while gambling that they can "beat the bank" by cashing out just before opening one case too many. The show's immediate popularity was due not only to the game's simplicity but also Canadian-born host Howie Mandel, a game show master of suspense and drama. (Trae Patton/NBC)

▲ DRAWING THE LINE TO SUCCESS. Fox's American Idol might get all the attention but the network's domination of the TV animation schedule is equally impressive. Family Guy achieved the rare status of being brought back to life after cancellation by the strength of its fan base. Then there's American Dad!, the twisted tale of a CIA agent coping with his troubled home life and a German-speaking goldfish. But, duh!, nothing can match the subversive wit of The Simpsons, now closing in on two decades on air. (FOX)

▼ GOING GREY. The Fray was just another band when Grey's Anatomy adopted their melancholy song, How to Save a Life. Downloads by the show's devoted fans catapulted the tune into the seventh most popular digital song of the year. Meanwhile, sites like SeenOn.com were overwhelmed as people purchased fashions seen draped over the show's actors. (Bob D'Amico/ABC)

◀ THE LITTLE SHOW THAT

COULD. Heroes' quirky premise of ordinary people with extraordinary skills worried NBC execs. But fans were instantly drawn to characters including a geeky Japanese office worker who can stop time and an un-killable cheerleader with the creepy "Horned-Rim Guy" as her father. When its slogan "Save the cheerleader, save the world" was uttered, Heroes rescued NBC's Monday ratings. (Chris Haston/NBC)

◀ THE BACKGROUND WAS WHITE, OF COURSE.

Capitalizing on Apple's coolness quotient, its Spartan Mac commercials simply featured two men personifying computers. The dry wit of John Hodgman (PC guy) played off the hip Justin Long (Mac guy) and viewers' sympathy towards the geeky PC guy, desperately trying to finesse his product's finicky reputation, added to the ads' success—Apple was crowned "Marketer of the Year" and Mac sales shot through the roof.

▶ HOLA, BETTY! The season's hottest comedy, Ugly Betty, is about how a sweet Latina girl—and her signature braces, thick eyebrows and ghastly clothes—conquers the snake pit of a fashion magazine with intelligence and bravado. This family-friendly show proved that good writing and acting can lure viewers away from reality TV. (ABC/CRAIG SJODIN)

▲ WALTZING HIS WAY TO THE TOP. Emmitt Smith led the NFL in career rushing yards, rushing touchdowns and rushing attempts. The retired athlete can add another honour to the list—Dancing with the Stars champion. With bespangled shoes carefully coordinated to his outfit, über-popular Smith won by getting the fan vote. (ABC/ADAM LARKEY)

▲ FRIDAY NIGHT TOUCHDOWN. The pressure on Roman gladiators couldn't have been as intense as that on high school athletes in football-obsessed Texas. Friday Night Lights graphically combined the triumphs and tragedies of players, including quarterback Jason Street (Scott Porter, centre), with the soap opera that is high school. Recognizing its cult status, NBC threw the show a Hail Mary and picked it up for the season. (Paul Drinkwater/NBC)

◀ DIVA-LICIOUS. Shrugging off her American Idol rejection, Jennifer Hudson displayed her impressive pipes as well as her acting skills in Dreamgirls by playing Effie, the Dreamettes' lead singer who is dumped so svelte Deanna (Beyoncé Knowles) can break the group into superstardom. Hudson's heartbreaking rendition of And I Am Telling You (I'm Not Going) was so powerful that one preview audience gave it a standing ovation. At the Academy Awards, The Departed picked up the Best Picture prize, but the night belonged to Hudson as she walked off with the Best Supporting Actress honour.

▲ ROMEO AND JULIET, GREASE, FOOTLOOSE and now...Disney's High School Musical was about a jock (Zac Efron) and an academic (Vanessa Hudgen) who, drawn together by their love of singing, try out for the school musical. An instant hit, the made-for-TV movie spawned the year's No. 1 CD, a bestselling DVD and a blockbuster concert tour by the movie's stars. More than 2,000 amateur groups will stage their own versions of the show this year and a sequel will be out in the summer. It's truly the Grease of the iPod generation.

▲ COMEBACK OF THE CAPED CRUSADER. A lot can change in five years. When Superman (Brandon Routh) returned to Earth after searching for the destroyed Krypton, he discovered Lois Lane not only had a boyfriend but also a son. Oh, and Lex Luthor was cooking up another diabolical plot. Superman Returns returned to its comic book origins and rebuilt the legend, one magnificent rescue at a time. (© 2006 Warner Bros. Pictures)

▲ "I'M JUST A BIG HAIRY AMERICAN WINNING MACHINE, YOU KNOW?" Will Ferrell's sports satire, Talladega Nights: The Ballad of Ricky Bobby, was the comedic hit of the summer. His good-natured ode to the power of car racing included every cliché about the South, NASCAR and America; it also hit every funny bone in the theatre. (Sony Pictures/Everett Collection)

▲ THE JOKE'S ON US. Kazakhstan's government spent millions trying to pitch their central Asian country as a tourist destination, but no marketing campaign could change the fact that their most famous citizen is the fictional Borat Sagdiyev. British comic Sacha Baron Cohen's explicit, demented comedy, Borat: Cultural Learnings of America For Make Benefit Glorious Nation of Kazakhstan, was packed with ethnic, religious and sexual stereotypes as it showed off unscripted encounters between Borat and unsuspecting Americans. Talk of a sequel started the minute after it killed the competition at the box office. (Paul Drinkwater/NBC/Everett Collection)

▲ FASHION WORLD FOLLIES. In The Devil Wears Prada, Andy Sachs (Anne Hathaway) was an average young woman wearing chain store clothes. Yet Miranda Priestly (Meryl Streep), the superciliously arrogant editor of "Runway" hired her as a new assistant, loading her down with impossible tasks such as getting the unpublished Harry Potter book. Along the way Sachs got a killer wardrobe and realized what she wants out of life while viewers got a hilarious look inside the fashion world, set to a great soundtrack.

(Barry Wetcher/Fox)

▲ JACK IS BACK. The second Pirates of the Caribbean film, Dead Man's Chest saved the summer movie season when fans plunked down more than US$400 million to see the swashbuckling adventures of glam-rock Capt. Jack Sparrow (Johnny Depp, centre), and ever-separated sweethearts Will Turner (Orlando Bloom) and Elizabeth Swann (Keira Knightley). Whether the cute couple will ever get hitched will be revealed in the series' final installment, due this summer. Just in time to rescue another summer movie season.

◀ A BUFF BOND. Daniel Craig claimed the James Bond character as his own in the opening of Casino Royale when he made his first kill by bashing a man into a bloody pulp. Displaying an impressively-muscled body, the British actor turned the suave tuxedoed super-spy into a chillingly brutal assassin who, thank heavens, works for the good guys.

▲ VROOMING UP THE BOX OFFICE LIST. Pixar has made hits such as Toy Story, Monsters, Inc., The Incredibles and Finding Nemo, but an animated film about cars that have eyes made from windshields? In Cars, Lightning McQueen (Owen Wilson) detoured off the highway, parked in Radiator Springs and learned that his "I don't need help from no one" attitude needed a tune-up. The movie motored into last year's No. 2 spot, with a US$244 million box office.

▲ LOOK WHO'S COMING TO DINNER. As Dupree in You, Me and Dupree, Owen Wilson perfected his slacker/Valley-boy act. Why newlyweds Carl (Matt Dillon, left) and Molly (Kate Hudson) allowed Dupree to crash at their house when he lost his job and apartment is the question that echoes through this comedy. They had to know trouble was moving in when Dupree brought not only a ukulele but also a moose head.

(Universal/Everett Collection)

▼ THE MUTANTS TAKE SIDES. If you had to choose whether to turn off alienating superpowers, such as Rogue's inability to touch anyone without hurting them, would you? That decision split the mutant community apart in X-Men: The Last Stand and lead to a spectacular showdown in San Francisco. But the film wasn't the end of the franchise, Hugh Jackman will reprise his role for next year's Wolverine.

(Kerry Hayes for Twentieth Century Fox)

▲ MISSION: SAVE TOM'S CAREER.

After the disappointing box office of War of the Worlds, Tom Cruise needed Mission: Impossible III to be a hit, a huge hit. This time the action-laden plot revolves around secret agent Ethan Hunt defeating a maniacal billionaire (Philip Seymour Hoffman) who wants to destroy the world with something called "rabbit's foot." Cruise swings, literally, around Shanghai's skyscrapers to save the day and his career.

◀ A DIZZYING DISPLAY OF TALENT.

In practice for the skiing superpipe women's competition at the 2007 Winter X Games, Sarah Burke, 24, of Midland, Ont. (here at an earlier event in Penticton), crashed into the ice while attempting a "900"—rotating in the air two-and-a-half times. Undeterred by a broken nose and two black eyes, Burke unleashed a silky smooth 900 in the finals to beat Grete Eliassen for the gold. The victory is especially sweet for Burke, since she'd had to settle for silver in the past two games, behind her Norwegian rival. (Jacques Boissinot/CP)

▲ SPEEDING HER WAY TO THE TOP.

Cindy Klassen beat out Steve Nash and Justin Morneau to win the 2006 Lou Marsh Award for Canada's top athlete. On top of winning five Olympic medals at the Turin Winter Games, the speed skater also set nine world records, won 11 world cup medals and earned the year's world all-round championship title. With her eye firmly on Vancouver's 2010 Games, the Winnipeg native trains at Calgary's Olympic Oval, home to the fastest ice in the world. (Larry MacDougall/CP)

► FULFILLING THE PROMISE. Living up to his pressure-filled moniker of "the next Wayne Gretzky," Sidney Crosby (left) became the youngest player in NHL history to record 100 points in a season and the first this year to reach 100 points. Together with fiery Russian Evgeni Malkin, the Nova Scotian has set the Pittsburgh Penguins on fire and filled arenas to capacity. (Gene J. Puskar/AP)

A GOLDEN HAT TRICK.

Team captain Kristopher Letang hoists the cup after the men's junior hockey team played Russia for gold. Canada took the lead early with three goals in the first period and went on to win 4-2, marking its third consecutive gold medal at the championship. For goalie Carey Price, the win was especially sweet—he was named the tourney's MVP.

▲ SWINGING STAR. Justin Morneau was batting just .236 when his manager benched him. "It woke me up," recalled the Minnesota Twins' first baseman. "He lit a fire under me." After that, the New Westminster, B.C., native batted .362 with 23 homers and 92 RBIs. Not only did he become the first Canadian to be the American League's MVP but Morneau upped his salary as well—in February he inked a one-year deal worth US$4.5 million. (John Sleezer-Kansas City Star/MCT)

▲ TOO HOT SCOTT. Going into the finals with a 10-1 round-robin record, Kelly Scott's Team Canada rink walloped Saskatchewan to capture their second consecutive Scotties Tournament of Hearts curling championship. Eligible for $144,000 in Sport Canada funding over the next two years, the B.C. team's ambition of winning gold at Vancouver's 2010 Winter Olympics just got a whole lot easier. (Andrew Vaughan/CP)

◀ STANDING GUARD. Though short by NBA standards at six foot three, Victoria's Steve Nash makes up for it by being, arguably, the best point guard in the league. The Phoenix Sun set up play after play on his way to posting career highs in points and rebounds last season. No wonder Nash was named league MVP for the second year in a row. His on-court hustle is matched only by his volunteer work in promoting health for children. What can he teach kids? Former rebounding star Charles Barkley nailed it: "It pays to be selfless." (Harry E. Walker/MCT)

◀ THE INSULT SEEN AROUND THE WORLD. Italy should have dominated the headlines after defeating France to win the 2006 World Cup in a dramatic penalty-kick finale, but, instead, all the talk was about French captain Zinedine Zidane's head-butt of Italian defender Marco Materazzi. After the great French player (in the No. 10 jersey) was expelled by the ref, his team's chances drained away. Zidane, named the tournament's best player, later apologized for his action, saying that Materazzi had insulted his sister. (Gouhier-Hahn-Orban-Abaca Press/MCT)

▲ SO THERE! Peyton Manning had a reputation as a choker—his impressive field performances always buckled under the pressure of fans' expectations. But the Indianapolis Colts quarterback consigned all choke talk to history when his team defeated the Chicago Bears in the Super Bowl. Manning, who passed for 247 yards and a touchdown, fittingly added the game's MVP award to his collection. (Al Diaz-Miami Herald/MCT)

▲ WHO'S GOT CRAZY GLUE? The B.C. Lions were the best team in the CFL last season, so it was only fitting that they'd dominate the Grey Cup with a decisive 25-14 win over the Montreal Alouettes. What no one expected was that they'd break the trophy. "It just snapped in half," explained embarrassed 293-pound offensive lineman Kelly Bates. "What can you do?" (Ryan Remiorz/CP)

▲ KING OF THE LINKS. After Tiger Woods won July's British Open—his first victory following the death of his beloved father, Earl—he sobbed uncontrollably on the shoulder of caddie Steve Williams. That win, his 11th major, set off an unbelievable string of wins, including his 50th PGA win in August, which he celebrated by sneaking a taste of his victory cake. His impressive streak of seven consecutive PGA tour wins ended at February's Accenture match play tourney. (Julian H. Gonzalez-Detroit Free Press/MCT)

▶ SOCCER STAR COMES HOME. Burnaby, B.C.-native Christine Sinclair was named the 2006 U.S. collegiate woman athlete of the year. The first Canadian to win the trophy, Sinclair finished her college career at the University of Portland with 252 points, the fourth highest in NCAA history. As well as being a member of Canada's national team, the soccer phenom is a forward on the Vancouver Whitecaps. In August they won the W-League championship with Sinclair, naturally, being named MVP. (David J. Phillips/AP)

◀ A COMMANDING PRESENCE. When Swiss tennis ace Roger Federer decimated Andy Roddick at the Australian Open, the American player said the match "sucked. It was terrible. Besides that, it was fine." That's the attitude opponents need as they meet and usually lose to 25-year-old Federer. In 2006, his record was 92-5, he's already passed Jimmy Connors' record for consecutive weeks at No. 1 and, with 10 grand slam wins, should pass that record of 14 by early 2008. No wonder tennis greats say he could be the best player that tennis has ever produced. (Corinne Dubreuil-Abaca Press/MCT)

▲ THE HOTTEST STORY. From wildfires across the U.S. Southwest, to floods in India, to melting ice caps in Greenland and Antarctica, to drought in Africa, to Cyclone Larry, a category 5 storm that hammered Australia, the global warming crisis is upon us. Our CO<sub>2</sub> emissions, mostly from burning fuel — gasoline for cars and coal for electricity — trap heat from the sun and raise global temperatures. These greenhouse gases were the focus of former U.S. presidential candidate Al Gore's Oscar-winning movie An Inconvenient Truth. The film demonstrated that when temperatures rise, climatic disasters strike hard and will keep coming as planet Earth attempts to fight the fever. (Steve Ringman-Seattle Times/KRT)

▲ BLAME IT ON EL NIÑO. According to officials at the U.S. National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration, last year was the warmest in the U.S. since record keeping began 112 years ago, due in large part to an unusually warm December. While the eastern half of North America basked in record-breaking warm temperatures well into January, leaving the ski industry there struggling, Denver dug out from multiple blizzards that dumped dozens of feet of snow. Meanwhile California's citrus crop was flash-frozen on the tree when the thermometer plummeted, and the Pacific coast suffered through wind storms, heavy snowfalls and torrential rain. The major cause of the wacky weather? El Niño, a condition that involves a periodic warming of Pacific Ocean waters near the equator. (Tom Fox-Dallas Morning News/MCT)

► A CANCER VACCINE IS BORN. Gardasil, a new vaccine from drug manufacturer Merck, prevents four of the most common strains of human papillomavirus (HPV), the virus that causes most cases of cervical cancer. The vaccine is approved for females aged 9 to 26, and is given in three injections over six months. Cervical cancer is the second-leading cause of cancer in women, therefore the arrival of this vaccine is a major medical breakthrough. (Sharon Gekoski-Kimmel/Philadelphia Inquirer/MCT)

◀ AND THEN THERE WERE EIGHT. When the world's professional stargazers, the International Astronomical Union, met to consider the fate of wannabe planet Xena, they hammered out a new definition of what constitutes a planet, and poor little Pluto didn't make the cut. The judging panel voted to downgrade the tiny sphere to "dwarf planet" status, which for many earthlings, was the biggest news from space since the cow jumped over the moon. As for Xena, although her discovery in 2005 turned heads, she was tagged as a dwarf too, and her name was changed to Eris. (Nick U/AP)

◀ WALL-TO-WALL TV. When it comes to flat-screen televisions, size matters. Sharp Electronics has produced a gargantuan, 108-inch liquid-crystal display (LCD) that probably won't even fit through the front door of most homes. That's nine feet, measured diagonally corner to corner. With the introduction of high-definition digital broadcasting, sales of flat-screen TVs are booming, and three-quarters of those sales are LCD units. The rest are plasma. Monster screens come with monster price tags: Sharp's model isn't available yet, but Panasonic's 103-inch plasma TV retails for US$70,000. (Joe C. Hoag/AP)

◀ URBAN WHEELS. As gasoline prices soared to new highs at the pumps, Toronto-based Feel Good Cars rolled out the ZENN (Zero Emissions No Noise). The two-seat electric runabout is designed for short trips on city streets. It's designated as a low-speed vehicle (LSV) and has a top-rated speed of about 25 mph (40 km/h), perfect for congested downtown routes, quiet suburban communities or sprawling university campuses.
