President's Message

One University. One World. Yours.

Dear Graduates of the Class of 2013,

Congratulations! You can be very proud of your success. As you move on to the next stage of your career, I am sure that the time you have spent at Saint Marys University has provided a strong foundation of the values of citizenship that will serve you well in all aspects of life.

While intellectual experience is at the heart of what we are about as a university, we have never felt that our mission stopped there. A Santamarian is someone who, in addition to her/his classroom and laboratory learning, has acquired communication, leadership, cross-cultural skills and also has developed a sensitivity to the local, national and global competitive agendas.

I hope you will return to this book many times in later years to relive your memories of Saint Marys your professors, your friends, and the events which took place on campus, particularly in your final year. This past year has seen both the opening of the new ESL building and the return to campus of the Business Development Centre.

I hope, too, that you will continue to think of Saint Marys not only as the place at which you studied, but where you became more of a person, in every way. So please keep in touch with your graduating colleagues and with us. Join an Alumni chapter and be part of the 36,000+ alumni network worldwide.

My colleagues and I wish you well.

Yours sincerely,

J. Colin Dodds, Ph.D.
President

SMUSA President's Message

Dearest Graduating Class of 2013,

Congratulations on a job well done! Your journey has been filled with highs and lows, but you have finally made it past the finish line! It is my hope that this book will bring back countless memories of your university experience.

We all came here with different backgrounds and all had a very different experience while at Saint Mary's. We have made friends and memories that will last a lifetime. It is up to you to move forward cherishing these experiences and taking advantage of the many life lessons you have learned both inside and outside of the classroom.

As we go our separate ways, remember those who helped you along your path to success. Remember to thank them for the good times you shared and remember to keep in touch with your peers.

Best of luck in your future endeavors and don't forget to keep in touch.

Sincerely,

Jared Perry
President, Saint Mary's University Students' Association

▷ ESCALATING TENSIONS
In December 2012, North Korea launched a satellite rocket called Kwangmyŏngsŏng-3 Unit 2, the first successful launch of an Earth observation spacecraft by the Asian nation. It was quickly followed by backlash from other countries, however, given that rocket technology is similar to ballistic missile technology, which is banned in North Korea. The United Nations Security Council adopted Resolution 2087 following this event, citing North Korea's violation. This led to ongoing tension between North and South Korea, the United States and Japan, as North Korea began to ignore previous agreements and threaten nuclear attacks under Kim Jong-Un's administration.

△ PROGRESSIVE PRESIDENT After allegations of voting irregularities and inauthentic results in previous elections, Iran changed their supervisory practices for the June 2013 election: A committee of eleven professionals were instituted to oversee the event for the first time in the country's history. Hassan Rouhani from the Moderation and Development Party, considered the most liberal candidate in the running, won in a landslide victory, capturing just over 50 percent of the vote. More than 36 million Iranians cast their ballots, a whopping 72.7 percent voter turnout.

△ TYPHOON TERROR For parts of Southeast Asia, November 2013 is a month that will live in infamy: Typhoon Haiyan, or Typhoon Yolanda as it was dubbed in the Philippines, was a cyclone that terrorized Micronesia, the Philippines, Southern China and Vietnam, claiming more than 6,200 lives; bodies were still being recovered as of January 2014. The damage is estimated at $1.6 billion, and more than 16 million people have been affected. Homelessness and subsequent lootings, as well as the threat of disease from poor living conditions, remain rampant. (George Calvelo/NurPhoto/REX (3377229b))

< EGYPTIAN COUP D'ETAT After four days of protests calling for the resignation of President Mohammed Morsi, Egyptian army chief General Abdel Fattah el-Sisi stepped in on July 3, 2013, to take action: He removed Morsi from power and suspended the constitution. An interim president, Chief Justice of the Supreme Constitutional Court of Egypt Adly Mansour, was instated. Global reception of the events has been mixed; some nations supported the military action while others strongly opposed the forceful removal (and subsequent house arrest) of Morsi. Protests both for and against the events are ongoing. (Keith Lane/MCT)

◁ MASS CATASTROPHE At 8:45 a.m. local time on April 24, 2013, an eight-story factory building in Savar, Bangladesh, collapsed, killing 1,129 people and injuring more than 2,500. The rescue efforts ended on May 13, after nearly three weeks of searching for survivors. The factory housed manufacturing for many North American retailers including Benetton, The Children's Place, Joe Fresh, Mango and Walmart. The companies have received criticism in the months since the accident – which is considered the worst garment-factory disaster ever – in terms of how working conditions and safety issues are monitored. (Rijans)

△ A STEP IN THE RIGHT DIRECTION In September 2013, United States Secretary of State John Kerry made the suggestion that Syria dispense of all chemical weapons within a week. This was in response to chemical attacks in Ghouta, Syria, the previous month, to which the US and France were on the verge of executing air attacks on Syria in response. The suggestion from Kerry was surprisingly well received by Syrian and Russian governments, and Russia took a lead position in overseeing the elimination of Syria's chemical warfare. All of Syria's stockpiles should be eliminated by mid-2014. (AP Photo via AP video)

▽ DEATH OF AN ICON Nelson Mandela, the celebrated South African anti-apartheid revolutionary and former president of the nation, passed away on December 5, 2013, after a prolonged respiratory infection at the age of 95. Mandela, who was South Africa's first elected president in a fully democratic election, took on the country's biggest challenges: ingrained racism following the apartheid, poverty and inequality, leaving a legacy of peace and democracy the world over. Mandela's body lay in state for two days so citizens could pay their respects, and a state funeral, attended by top-ranking international representatives, was held on December 15.

▽ WORST NIGHTMARE On September 21, 2013, up to sixteen unidentified gunmen took control of the Westgate shopping mall in Nairobi, Kenya. The attack lasted four days and at least 72 people were killed, including 61 civilians, six soldiers and five of the perpetrators. More than 175 people were injured. Islamist extremist group al-Shabaab took responsibility for the attack, citing Kenya's military presence in Somalia as the motive. A number of foreigners were counted among the victims. ▷ A CHANGE IN POPE In February 2013, after almost eight years in the Roman Catholic Church's top position, Pope Benedict XVI resigned from the post. A papal enclave was held just weeks later, in March 2013, and a new pope, Pope Francis I, was elected on the second day. The Argentinian priest was born Jorge Mario Bergoglio, and was made a cardinal by Pope John Paul II in 2001. In the early days of his papacy, Pope Francis has been considered more open-minded on some of the church's doctrines.

◁ WELCOME TO A FUTURE KING

Following months of Kate Middleton baby-bump-fashion spreads in every glossy magazine and on every entertainment show, the new heir to the throne made his entrance into the world, weighing 8 lbs, 6 oz, on July 22, 2013 at St. Mary's Hospital, London. The young Prince of Cambridge, who is officially named George Alexander Louis Windsor, was christened later in the year, on October 23, 2013, at the Royal Chapel at St. James's Palace (and the babe has seven godparents!).

Rob Ford
Mayor

△ MAYOR DRAMA Polarizing Toronto mayor Rob Ford had a terrible year in 2013: From May to December, his constituents were time and again disappointed by his behaviour, which included everything from addictions issues and consorting with known criminals to sexual comments about his own wife. (The accusations started when two Toronto Star reporters were leaked a video showing Ford smoking crack cocaine, and the floodgates opened from there.) Global news outlets had a field day with the reported incidents, including jokes at Ford's expense on The Colbert Report, Saturday Night Live and The Daily Show with Jon Stewart. ◁ IGNORANCE OR INCLINATION

In September, as college and university students were gearing up for another year of classes, University of Toronto professor David Gilmour was raked over the coals for comments he made to Hazlitt magazine about his syllabus preferences. The 64-year-old writer said he wouldn't teach women or Chinese writers, prompting backlash from students, colleagues and the literary world at large. Gilmour says the only female writer he feels passionately about is Virginia Woolf, because he considers her a genius.

CONSER

Mike Duffy
CONSERVATIVE

△ UNAPPROVED CLAIMS In late 2012, the Senate began to investigate expense claims made by a number of Senators, including Pamela Wallin, Mike Duffy, Mac Harb and Patrick Brazeau. The high-ranking officials were audited for ineligible claims, including excessive travel and housing costs, resulting in exorbitant tallies on the government's tab. Duffy, Wallin and Harb paid their debt to the Senate, and Harb eventually retired, but Duffy, Wallin and Brazeau were still suspended without pay and without most of their benefits in November 2013, after two weeks of deliberation. △ ALBERTA UNDER WATER From June 8, 2013, to June 20, 2013, much of the province of Alberta experienced heavy rainfall that led to the disastrous flooding of seven rivers, easily the worst instance of flood waters in the province's past. At least three people were killed and over 100,000 people displaced by the natural disaster; as well, 33 states of local emergency were declared. The damage is estimated at $5 billion, potentially making it the costliest catastrophe in Canadian history.

MUSIC

▷ THE VOICE OF OUR TIME When singer Rihanna was awarded the first-ever Icon Award at the American Music Awards – a prize “created to honor an artist whose body of work has made a profound influence over pop music on a global level” – a very special presenter bestowed the trophy: Rihanna’s mother, Monica Braithwaite. A montage of career highlights and a video message from Jay Z followed the accolade, and the emcee of the evening, Bill Maher, called the 26-year-old “the voice of our time.” (Jaguar PS/Shutterstock)

▷ SWIFT AND MIGHTY Country superstar Taylor Swift probably needs a new trophy case for her haul from the Billboard Music Awards in May 2013. Her most recent album, “Red,” with a stunning 4 million in sales, earned the 24-year-old Top Artist, Top Female Artist and Top Billboard 200 Artist at the ceremony in Las Vegas. Swift also performed the live TV debut of her song “22” on the telecast. (© PA Photos Limited [2011] all rights reserved)

▷ NO CONTEST When Carrie Underwood won the fourth season of American Idol in 2005, no one could have predicted the singer’s rise to the top of the country music world. But just eight years later, the “Blown Away” artist took home Video of the Year at the American Country Awards to become one of the most decorated country artists of all time, joining the hallowed company of stars like Loretta Lynn, Reba McEntire and Dolly Parton. △ BOY BAND REUNION In recognition of receiving the Michael Jackson Video Vanguard Award, Justin Timberlake briefly revisited his roots with a performance alongside his 'N Sync bandmates. The massive Timberlake career retrospective saw Joey Fatone, Lance Bass, Chris Kirkpatrick and JC Chasez arising from the floor of the stage to perform “Girlfriend” and “Bye Bye Bye” (but of course). Fangirls the world over PVR’d the event so they could watch the loves of their teenage years again and again. (© PictureGroup [2008] all rights reserved)

▼ TOP OF HIS GAME Justin Timberlake shows no signs of slowing down in his uber successful music and acting career: The 33-year-old (ridiculous, right?) shot two films in 2013 and released his third album in March 2013, called "The 20/20 Experience," as the first installment of a two-part project. The album debuted at number one in the United States, selling almost a million copies, cinching the best debut week of Timberlake's career. The "20/20 Experience" was the best-selling album of the year in the US to boot.

▶ BREAKING UP THE BROTHERS The holidays can't be fun around the Jonas household following the split of the popular Jonas Brothers band. Nick, Joe and Kevin formed their pop group in 2005, after Nick Jonas's solo start, releasing four albums to overwhelming popularity during the course of their eight-year tenure together. The band sold more than 17 million copies worldwide. In early October 2013, the band cancelled their impending comeback tour and deactivated their band and personal Twitter pages; no one was surprised weeks later to hear about the official dissolution of The Jonas Brothers. ▼ CANADIAN DARLING From her beginnings as a fresh-faced francophone singer in Quebec to her triumph as one of the most successful artists of all time, Céline Dion is still holding steady in the limelight. The 45-year-old mother of three released her 11th English language album, "Love Me Back to Life," in September 2013, her first English album since 2007. The record, which included a duet with Stevie Wonder, sold more than 1.3 million copies worldwide in the first three months and was the number one Canadian album of 2013. (Jstone/Shutterstock)

△ HI-HO SILVER? Leave it to Lady Gaga to enter an awards ceremony in spectacular fashion. The 27-year-old artist arrived at the American Music Awards in November 2013 atop a large, white, human-operated horse (as evidenced by the horse's eight legs). Lady Gaga, who was born Stefani Joanne Angelina Germanotta and raised in New York City, is known for her avant-garde costume and theatrical choices, including a dress she wore in 2010 that was made entirely of meat.

▷ A BRAND NEW WORD

Oxford Dictionaries, the quintessential voice on all things English language, declared “selfie” the 2013 Word of the Year. Defined as “a photograph that one has taken of oneself, typically taken with a smartphone or webcam and uploaded to a social media website,” the term “selfie” first appeared on an Australian blog in 2002, but with the help of a specialized research program, Oxford tracked an upswing in usage throughout 2013. “Selfie” has yet to be added to the Oxford Dictionary proper but can be found on OxfordDictionaries.com.

△ CRUSHED Who would have thought that a game featuring jellybeans and lollipops would be so popular? The whole world is sweet on Candy Crush, the matching-based game. It's the most popular app on Facebook with 61 million likes, has an estimated 7.8 million daily active users and generates more than $750,000 in revenue daily in the US section of the iOS App Store.

△ SHORT AND SWEET Bad news for the Kardashian sisters with their long tresses – the pixie cut is on the rise. Hollywood A-listers like Jennifer Lawrence and Charlize Theron went short this year, with adorable cuts that highlight their striking facial features. Anne Hathaway's current cropped do is growing out from her role as Fantine in Les Misérables – the scene when she shaved her head was voted the most influential onscreen haircut of all time in a poll by the Hairdressing Council of Great Britain and Universal Studios.

△▽ COLOUR ME HAPPY September isn't just about back to school anymore, and an apple isn't just for the teacher. Following the pattern of previous years, Apple announced two new iPhones on September 10 – the 5s and the 5c.

The 5s comes complete with fingerprint recognition technology and a higher-quality camera with slow-motion recording capabilities, while the 5c is similar to the iPhone 5 but is encased in polycarbonate instead of metal. The 5c comes in blue, green, pink, yellow and white (with the availability of contrasting cases, of course).

△ UP IN SMOKE For some people, smoking is as much as having something to do with their hands as it is about the nicotine. That's why electronic cigarettes, or personal vaporizers, appeal to people who are on the quitting track; the device is filled with a solution, without nicotine (though solutions with nicotine are available), which is vaporized for inhalation. The World Health Organization stated in July 2013 that the use of e-cigs, as they are known, for smoking cessation has not been scientifically demonstrated.

△ VIRAL SHAKE The Harlem Shake, a term coined in 1981, believe it or not, had a strange ascent into popularity: After its original introduction as a dance move by a Harlem resident called Al B, it was featured in a music video by rapper G. Dep in 2001. In 2012, a song called simply "Harlem Shake" was uploaded to YouTube, but it wasn't until February 2013 that the video went viral and turned into an Internet meme where people (many, many people!) do their own version of a routine to the song.

▽▷ THROWBACK RUNWAY They say everything old is new again, and the 2013 fashion trends proved it. From '60s mod – miniskirts, baby-doll dresses and Peter Pan collars – to '80s oversized coats (think Melanie Griffith in Working Girl) and eye-popping '90s neon, the fashion world was a veritable walk down memory lane.

◁ NAILED IT It's not about polish anymore. It's about what you can add on top of the polish to make yourself stand out. Tumblr and Pinterest were jam-packed with ideas for making your manicure pop in 2013, from beads and baubles to 3-D press-on nails produced by a digital printer. Those that preferred to keep the art in museums opted for half-moon manis instead – the half-moons are painted a different colour than the rest of the nail.

△ A TRAGIC END Actor Paul Walker, best known as a teenage heartthrob in the early millennium and later for his starring roles in the Fast & Furious franchise, passed away suddenly in a catastrophic automobile accident on November 30, 2013. Walker and a close friend, Roger Rodas, left a charity event in Valencia, Santa Clarita, California, around 3:30pm PST and were killed a short while later; speed was determined to be a likely factor. Filming of the seventh film in the Fast & Furious series was halted until later in 2014, and Walker's brother was asked to stand in to complete the film. ◁ ZERO TO RECORD-BREAKING The latest installment of the popular video game franchise Grand Theft Auto was released in September 2013 to fans who had waited five years for the new version. The game broke retail records, raking in $800 million in the first 24 hours and $1 billion in the first three days. It is to date the fastest selling entertainment product of all time. (Courtesy Rockstar Games)

△ TWERKING IT Miley Cyrus is no longer the family-friendly fave of her Disney beginnings. The former Hannah Montana starlet underwent a noticeable image change in 2013, swapping her sweet façade for a highly 'suggestive' performing style. Cyrus was especially chastised for her Video Music Awards performance with Robin Thicke in August 2013: The 21-year-old singer got up close and personal with married father Thicke with her twerking routine.

▽ BABYWATCH 2013 No celebrity spawn was more anticipated than that of hip hop artist Kanye West and reality TV star Kim Kardashian. West announced the pregnancy at a concert in Atlantic City in December 2012, and the couple welcomed their daughter, named North (yes, North West), in June 2013. △ RAISING AWARENESS Hollywood super-celebrity Angelina Jolie made headlines (again) in May when she revealed that she had undergone a prophylactic double mastectomy after testing positive for the BRCA1 genetic mutation. Jolie wrote an op-ed in The New York Times to share the news with the world, in hopes of raising awareness for genetic testing and early intervention. Jolie lost her mother, Marcheline Bertrand, to ovarian cancer when Bertrand was just 56. (Featureflash/Shutterstock)

▽ FALLEN STARS Both the big and small screens felt the loss of a number of industry faves in 2013: James Avery, known for playing Uncle Phil in The Fresh Prince of Bel-Air; James Gandolfini of The Sopranos fame; and Peter O'Toole, who made his debut as a star in Lawrence of Arabia, all passed away within the year. Adored film critic Roger Ebert also lost his 11-year battle with cancer in April.

◁ DECORATED WORDSMITH Writer Alice Munro, known as "the master of the contemporary short story," was awarded the Nobel Prize in Literature in December 2013. The 82-year-old literary veteran, whose writing debuted in 1968, is the first Canadian woman to receive the accolade. (CP/Chad Hipolito)

TELEVISION

△ ON A HIGH NOTE Breaking Bad, the AMC original crime drama that debuted in 2008, is widely considered one of the best television series of all time. Following two years in the life of teacher Walter White, a terminal cancer patient trying to secure his family's financial future before he dies, the show won 59 industry awards. The series finale, which aired on September 29, 2013, smashed reception records, pulling in 10.3 million viewers. (Ursula Coyote/AMC)

◁ THE VAMPIRES HAVE IT (AGAIN) The Vampire Diaries took home three Teen Choice Awards in 2013 – surprise, surprise. The supernatural series left with surfboards for Best Fantasy/Sci-Fi TV Show, Best Fantasy/Sci-Fi Actor (Ian Somerhalder) and Best Fantasy/Sci-Fi Actress (Nina Dobrev) yet again. Pretty Little Liars also cleaned up, with seven awards, shutting out the competition in every category for which it was nominated. ABC Spark show The Fosters won TV Breakout Show but didn't win in its other three categories. ◁ THE HILLS ARE ALIVE Television giant NBC took a risk by harkening back to the days of live variety shows with their on-air production of The Sound of Music. The three-hour special, an adaptation of the original film, starred country singer Carrie Underwood as Maria von Trapp and actor Stephen Moyer as Georg von Trapp. Reception was mixed, though the initial airing on December 5, 2013, did capture 18.62 million viewers. ## ◁ FOREVER YOUNG

Cory Monteith, known for playing football-star-turned-songbird Finn Hudson on Glee, died of a drug overdose in a Vancouver hotel room on July 13, 2013. The young actor was open with the media about his past drug and alcohol addictions, including a stay at a rehab facility when he was 19. Monteith was 31 when he passed away. His costar and girlfriend, Lea Michele, released a tribute song called "You're Mine" in February 2014. (Helga Esteb/Shutterstock)

▽ UP A STREAM Traditional cable companies probably didn't think much of the mail order DVD company Netflix when it arrived on the scene in 1997. But by the end of 2013, the company had morphed into a DVD-delivery and streaming media company with more than 44 million domestic and international subscribers. Netflix has produced a number of original productions, including television shows House of Cards and Orange Is the New Black, as well as a documentary called The Square, which was nominated for an Academy Award in 2013. (Jessica Miglio/Netflix/courtesy Everett Collection)

▽ SOLE SURVIVOR Utah native Tyson Apostol was no stranger to Survivor prior to the Blood vs. Water competition, where he was joined by his girlfriend Rachel Foulger; Apostol had appeared in two other seasons of the popular reality show. Self-described as arrogant and witty, Apostol was considered brash and unapologetic by many of his Survivor cast mates, but somehow managed to capture the win in the twenty-seventh season of the show. BRADLEY COOPER

△ AN UP AND DOWN YEAR Heartthrob Ryan Gosling was busy in 2013, with three films released in theatres. Gosling appeared in mob flick Gangster Squad, crime drama The Place Beyond the Pines, and the polarizing Only God Forgives, which all garnered mixed reviews from critics. Gosling was especially panned for the violence in the last film, despite the fact that it was nominated for the Palme d'Or at the 2013 Cannes Film Festival.

△ COMMEMORATING A LEGEND When Jackie Robinson broke Major League Baseball's colour barrier in 1947, the racism and anger he faced was unimaginable. From the negative reactions of teammates to the abuse of baseball fans, the Brooklyn Dodger first baseman was forced to question his personal safety and the safety of his family. The movie 42 chronicles Robinson's first season with the Dodgers with a thought-provoking, touching approach. The film earned $27 million in its opening weekend, the best debut of a baseball movie in Hollywood history.

△ STRAIGHT FACE Audiences were skeptical as they filed into the theatre to see funnyman Steve Carrell play it dramatic in The Way Way Back. The coming-of-age story saw Carrell as the boyfriend of Toni Collette, a man who is emotionally abusive towards Collette's son Duncan, played by Liam James. Carrell didn't disappoint, pulling the character off, despite audiences expecting him to crack a joke at any time. The film also stars Allison Janney, Sam Rockwell, Maya Rudolph, Amanda Peet and AnnaSophia Robb.

△ HEARTWRENCHING DRAMA Director Steve McQueen has been working toward this year of his career for decades: The celebrated director of Hunger and Shame captured audiences with his 2013 historical drama, 12 Years a Slave. The feature film, an adaptation of an 1853 memoir by an African-American man named Solomon Northup who was kidnapped and sold into slavery, took home a bundle of awards, including Oscars for Best Picture, Best Supporting Actress and Best Adapted Screenplay. △ SAD NEWS FOR SOPRANOS FANS Actor James Gandolfini, best known for playing crime boss Tony Soprano in HBO's critically acclaimed show The Sopranos, passed away in June just weeks before the release of his film Enough Said. Gandolfini's son found him unconscious in his Rome hotel room on June 19; he was pronounced dead in hospital hours later. The cause of death was determined to be a heart attack. △ SMAUG ON TOP From the first showings of the film at midnight the night before the official opening date, it was clear that The Hobbit: The Desolation of Smaug, the second installment in the Hobbit series, was going to be a hit. Earning more than $73 million in North America and more than $135 million internationally on its opening weekend, the movie stayed atop the box office for three consecutive weeks. △ ALL STAR ENSEMBLE Despite its glittering cast, including Hollywood greats Meryl Streep and Julia Roberts, August: Osage County failed to live up to its highly decorated roots. Based on the Pulitzer Prize-winning play by Tracy Letts, reception of the dark drama was mixed and scored only 6.4/10 on the popular review site Rotten Tomatoes. The film was expected to gather its share of awards, but, despite Academy Award, BAFTA and Golden Globe nominations, the cast and crew went home empty-handed at the major award ceremonies.

△ A PRETTY VOICE There's no disputing that Scarlett Johansson is a beauty who lights up the screen, but she wowed audiences with just her voice in the science fiction romantic drama Her. The film, with a star-studded cast including Joaquin Phoenix, Amy Adams and Rooney Mara, premiered at the New York Film Festival in December 2013 and the nominations started rolling in from there. Director-producer Spike Jonze took home the Oscar for Best Original Screenplay in March 2014.

▷ A NEW CLASSIC In the vein of Disney musicals gone by, Frozen was released in November 2013 to rave reviews. The 53rd animated movie in Disney's arsenal of animated masterpieces has an all-star voice cast – including Idina Menzel as Princess Elsa and Kristen Bell as Elsa's younger sister, Anna – and a musical score that gives goosebumps. The movie took home Best Animated Feature and Best Original Song ("Let It Go") at the Academy Awards in March 2014.

▷ STANLEY GOES TO CHICAGO

The Chicago Blackhawks took home the NHL's top prize for the second time in four years in June 2013. The Blackhawks defeated the Boston Bruins in six games — with the Cup-winning goal scored by Dave Bolland with just 58 seconds left in game six, breaking the record for latest Stanley Cup game winner scored in regulation time. The series was the first Stanley Cup final between two Original Six teams since 1979.

some news reports indicate that doctors have tried to ease him out of his current state but nothing has been confirmed by Schumacher's family or staff. Schumacher was wearing a helmet at the time of the accident.

▷ IT HAPPENS IN THREES Cristiano Ronaldo (pictured right, red uniform), the celebrated Portuguese soccer player who rakes in the largest paycheck of any other footballer in the world, scored a hat-trick for Portugal in World Cup 2014 qualifying play in November 2013. Ronaldo's one-man contribution to the 3-2 win over Sweden secured his team a spot at the international tournament to take place in Brazil in from June 12 to July 13, 2014. It was the 24th hat trick of the 29-year-old's career.

△ THE BRIT WINS

Andy Murray, a 26-year-old tennis giant from Great Britain, became the first British player to win Wimbledon since 1977 and the first British man to win since 1936. Murray beat Novak Djokovic in three straight sets to take the title on June 7, 2013. As a result of the win, Murray was voted BBC Sports Personality of the Year.

▽ BASEBALL CRACKDOWN Popular New York Yankee slugger Alex Rodriguez is no stranger to the issue of performance enhancing drugs. The 38-year-old third baseman admitted to using steroids during a 2009 interview, after denying previous allegations. It all came bubbling up again in August 2013, when Rodriguez was accused of receiving injections of human growth hormone from the now-defunct Biogenesis of America clinic.

He was suspended for 162 games, which is the entire 2014 season. Milwaukee Brewers' Ryan Braun was also implicated and suspended for 65 games in the 2013 season.

◁ UNPRECEDENTED DEAL
 In a massive business deal between Rogers Communications Inc. and the National Hockey League, the telecommunications titan now holds the exclusive rights to more than 500 regular-season NHL games in the 2014-2015 season. The games will be broadcast across 13 networks, with viewers having a choice of as many as seven matchups to choose from on a Saturday night. ▽ SPECTACULAR COLLAPSE

The Eastern Conference semifinals were within spitting distance for Toronto Maple Leafs fans. But after tying up the quarter-final series – a feat in itself, considering they were down three games to one – the Leafs blew a 4-1 lead over the Boston Bruins in Game 7, in what was one of the most heartbreaking losses in franchise history. Leafs Nation was stunned by the event (and some hardcore fans still can't talk about it months later). (AP Photo/Charles Krupa)

▷ NO FEAR Diana Nyad, an American long-distance swimmer, is a fighter: At age 64, and on her fifth attempt, Nyad became the first person to swim from Havana, Cuba, to Key West, Florida, without a shark cage (though she did wear a silicone mask, a full body suit, gloves and booties to protect her from jellyfish). Accompanied by a team of 35 support people, the 110 mi journey took the senior citizen swimmer 53 hours.

▷ THE COMEBACK KID Rafael Nadal, the Spanish tennis phenom, seemed to have seen the peak of his career: After a stunning run at every major tennis tournament, against every worthy opponent, Nadal was forced to pull out of the 2012 Olympics due to injury, as well as the Rogers Cup, the Cincinnati Masters and the US Open. By the end of 2012, he was ranked fourth in the world – a career low for the 27-year-old. But Nadal turned it around in 2013, much to the surprise of the tennis community, winning the French Open and the US Open. By the end of the season, he was again on top of the international rankings.

◁▷ HOT, HOT, HOT
 From February 3 to March 25, 2013, the Miami Heat was unstoppable. Winning 27 straight games, the second-longest streak of any NBA team in league history, the Heat went on to capture the league championship for the second year in a row. Formed in 1988 as one of four expansion teams, the franchise is now worth an estimated $770 million and remains a force on the court. (David Santiago/El Nuevo Herald/MCT)

SCIENCE

▽ DNA DISCOVERY And you thought your grandpa was old. Scientists have uncovered the oldest documented human DNA, in Sima de los Huesos, or "pit of bones," in Northern Spain. It's clear that the 400,000-year-old specimen is not a direct descendent of humans today – it's likely a relative of the Neanderthal or the Denisovan species – but the surprising part is that most Denisovan remains were previously found in Siberia, a long, long way from Spain.

◁ CANCER BREAKTHROUGH It turns out that our own immune systems may be able to help in the fight against cancer. Scientists have long surmised that the best treatment for some cancers lies in the body itself: The treatment requires the engineering of tumor cells to essentially turn on themselves and then reinfusing the modified T cells back into the patient. This groundbreaking therapy received encouragement this year when in a study of 1800 melanoma patients treated with this technique, 22% were alive three years later. It doesn't work for everyone, though, and it's still difficult to treat metastatic cancer, but it's a step in the cure direction. (Andrea Danti/Shutterstock)

◁ GETTING CLARITY Scientists at Stanford University in California have combined neuroscience with chemical engineering to achieve a feat on par with superhero powers: They have figured out how to make a postmortem brain transparent for the purpose of studying the organ's structures and wiring. (Previously, the brain had to be sectioned to be studied, which ruins the integrity of the whole.) The process, involving chemical and light treatment, is called CLARITY and could potentially be used on other organs as well. (courtesy of the Deisseroth lab)

▷ UNHAPPY MILESTONE In May 2013, greenhouse gas in the environment reached a level not seen for millions of years. The levels of carbon dioxide in the atmosphere reached 400 parts per million, which should serve as a warning for the world's population in terms of climate change. The rise in CO2 is 75 times faster than in pre-industrial times, which may mean catastrophic consequences for future generations.

▷ SPACE ON EARTH

In November 2013, the journal Science published the results from an international scientific collaboration that detected 28 high-energy extraterrestrial neutrinos in Antarctica. Astrophysicists are fascinated by the discovery of the neutrinos, which were likely created by the same force in deep space that creates extremely high radiation called cosmic rays. ### ▽ SERIOUS HOPE

After more than ten years and a number of failed attempts, researchers at Oregon Health & Science University and the Oregon National Primate Research Center announced in May that they had successfully cloned human embryonic cells. The skin cells were successfully grown into stem cells, which could mean amazing strides for those requiring organ transplants. The discovery also has the potential to help in treatment for myriad other conditions, including diabetes, Alzheimer's and Parkinson's. (Sebastian Kaulitzki/Shutterstock)
