

SUMMER REUNION '76

Boston College was the scene of the Alumni's third summer reunion during the weekend of August 6-8. After two successful summer homecomings in Halifax ('73 and '74), the event was held in the Boston area at the request of the New England Chapter of the Alumni Association.

The weekend began with a reception Friday evening at the Reservoir apartments where out-of-town Alumni were staying. The affair was well attended by grads spanning from the decades from the '50's to the '70's and coming from as far away as Newfoundland. The following morning was "free", which allowed those staying on campus to make use of the swimming pool, sauna, tennis courts, etc. In the afternoon there were guided tours of Boston arranged and conducted by John "Butch" Burke and Ray Roy.

Early Saturday evening, Alumni and wives attended a reception sponsored by the Halifax branch of the Association. The group then proceeded to a lovely restaurant in downtown Boston, "The Winery", and concluded the evening with dancing and cocktails at "The Playboy Club."

Those who participated in the reunion felt it was very successful and a large part of the credit for that success goes to its organizers: Coz Marandos, John "Butch" Burke, Ray Roy, Bob Healy, and Duncan MacEachern. Some of those in attendance during all or part of the weekend aside from the organizers were: Joe Santososso, Tim Lyons, Tom Mag Ryan, Dick Giordano, Tom Tsumas, Leo Murphy, Reg Rye, Bob O'Neil, Terry Donahue, Chris Donahue, Jerry Hurley, Bob Ruotolo, Mike Larsen, Jim McDevitt, "Butch" Cusick, Charley Leonard, Tom McEnany, John Dougherty, Mike Guilfooy '72, Ann Guilfooy (nee White) '72, Bill Dineen '69, Joe Healy '70, Murray Wilson.

ALUMNI — NEW STUDENT PROGRAMME

Saint Mary's University Alumni Association — in conjunction with Student Services — this year initiated a programme designed to create an opportunity for a new student to have an Alumni "contact".

The aim of this programme is to provide a new student with a helpmate with whom he can share the experience of going through university and help make easier the transition to post-secondary education.

Alumni and new students were contacted prior to Orientation and requested to register if wanting to participate in the programme. Those interested met "formally" for the first time at an "informal" reception sponsored by the Alumni on Tuesday, Oct. 14th. Approximately 30 new students and 25 alumni took advantage of this opportunity. In matching students and alumni an attempt was made to pair individuals with similar backgrounds or interests.

It is hoped that this programme will benefit both Alumni and new students and that next year we will see increased enthusiasm and participation.

A CASE FOR COMPULSORY DUES

Receipts from Membership dues for 1976 are 50% below those for the same period last year. This situation evidently stems from a proposal, made at the Annual Meeting in April 1976, to move from the compulsory dues system to a voluntary contributions system.

Many of our members apparently believe that this change was made when in fact the proposal was rejected by the Annual Meeting. The compulsory dues system remains in effect.

In roundly defeating the motion, members present at the meeting cited such arguments as: direct support of the Alumni Association assured its independence; the role played by a reasonable membership fee is one of providing for a more universal membership in the Association; the fact that a number of other University Alumni Associations are moving back to the fixed dues system; the opportunity it affords for a clear distinction between individually inexpensive support for everyday Alumni operations and the more economically demanding but all important support of University Development by the Alumni as a whole.

Some of the services offered by the Association to its members are:

1. The Maroon and White, which is published quarterly. Each issue costs the Association approximately $800 which includes mailing charges.
2. Use of Campus facilities by paid-up members of the Association; e.g. family skating on Sunday afternoon, family swimming on Saturday afternoons, use of the Patrick Power Library.
3. The opportunity for direct involvement in the life of the University through participation in Alumni-Student Programmes. One such programme is the Alumni — New Student Programme.
4. Representation of Alumni opinion in management of the University through the six Alumni Representatives on the Board of Governors.
5. Organizational back-up for Alumni activities; e.g. Annual Dinner, New Year's Eve Dance, Alumni — Senior Students Dance, Home Comings and Reunions.
6. Maintenance of an up-to-date Alumni address list.
7. Support of the development of branch Associations throughout North America and indeed the world.

In November, we will forward to Alumni, who have not their $10.00 fee for 1976, a reminder that their fees are now due. When you forward your ten dollars, remember that a well-financed Association is one sure way of ensuring continued contact between all Santamarians and of providing these same Alumni a strong voice in the affairs of the University.

IN MEMORIAM

William J. Dalton, Ph.D.

Saint Mary's lost a dedicated teacher, his family lost a good father and husband; and the community a competent and willing citizen with the death of Dr. William Dalton, at the age of 55, on Monday, August 10 at Camp Hill Hospital in Halifax.

Bill graduated from Saint Mary's as a Gold Medallist in Arts in 1942. He served with the Canadian Army in Canada and overseas. After the war, he completed a Masters Degree in Political Economy at the University of Toronto and gained his Ph.D. in Political Science from the University of Ottawa.

Dr. Dalton was the first Chairman of the Department of Political Science at Saint Mary's and served with the department for twenty-five years. He was one of the Inaugural Members of the Academic Senate of the University and served on all major Committees of that body.

In addition to his commitment to the University, he was heavily involved in Community service. He served on a number of Provincial Commissions, was a candidate in the 1956 Provincial election, and was a Consultant at Federal-Provincial Conferences under both the Stanfield and Smith governments. He served on the Executive of many service and charitable organizations.

His friend and Archbishop, with twenty-four of his fellow priests in the company of Bill's wife and family, students, friends and colleagues, offered the Funeral Mass at Saint Peter's Church, Dartmouth. A most appropriate tribute for a man who loved his church and respected deeply the priesthood.

We will remember his skill and dedication; we will remember his wit and humour. We will remember his deep concern for this University and its students.

TORONTO ALUMNI TO HOLD DINNER

Alumni in the Toronto area will hold their Annual Dinner at the Sky Line Hotel on December 8. The guest speaker for the occasion will be the President of the University, Dr. D. Owen Carrigan.

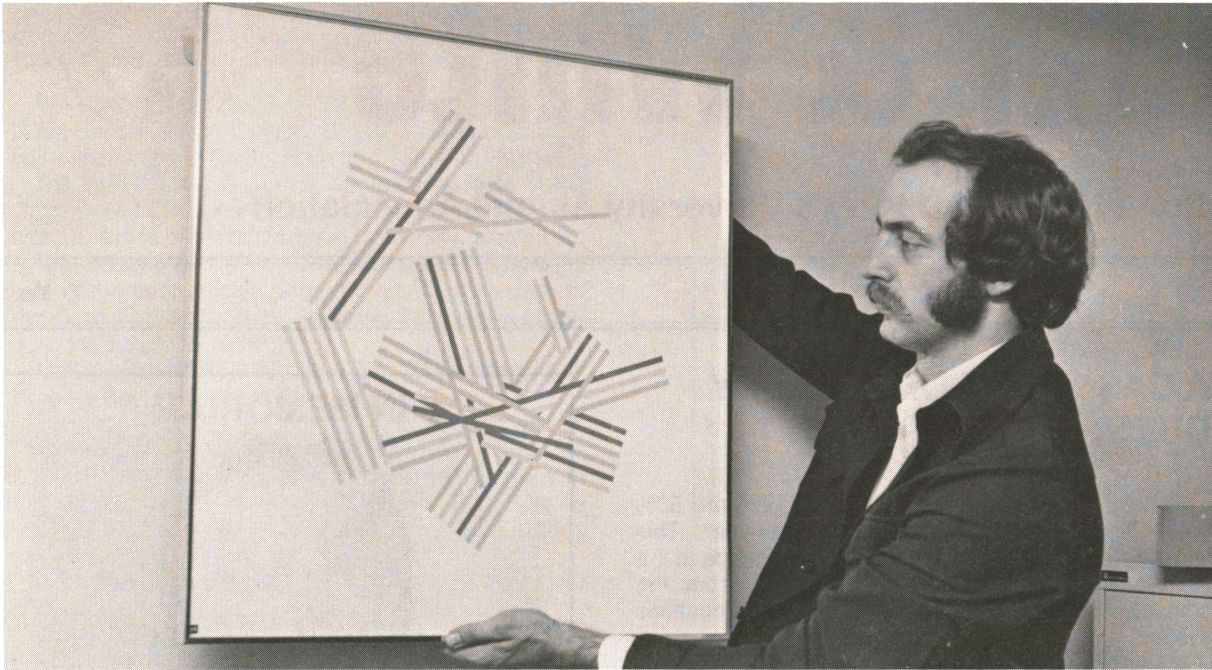

Alumni from many centers outside Toronto have expressed interest in the event, so a large turnout of Santamarians is anticipated.

The evening will offer an excellent opportunity to renew old friendships, establish new ones and keep abreast of developments at Saint Mary's.

Tickets may be obtained by calling William Murphy at 362-6363 or 231-5112, or Greg McClare at 362-4931 or 282-9325.

Bernie Riorden is Curator of the Art Gallery of Nova Scotia and the Centennial Art Gallery. He is presently completing a Master of Arts in history at Saint Mary's. Bernie was interviewed by former classmate, Heather Harris.

HEATHER: Do you want to give Santamarians a little background on your two galleries, Bernie?

BERNIE: The Centennial Art Gallery at the Citadel is a branch of the Art Gallery of Nova Scotia. The predecessor to the Art Gallery of Nova Scotia was the Nova Scotia Museum of Fine Arts. That was established in 1908, but never had a home or a place for its permanent collection. In 1966, through the efforts of Saint Mary's Artist-in-Residence, Tony Law, and other individuals, Centennial Art Gallery became the official gallery of the Nova Scotia Museum of Fine Arts. In December, 1975, the Art Gallery of Nova Scotia replaced the Nova Scotia Museum of Fine Arts thereby assuming control of the Centennial Art Gallery as well as the main one here on Coburg Road.

HEATHER: I think the dimension of Saint Mary's that can produce or rather equip a person to become an art gallery curator is not familiar to many Santamarians. People often equate this particular type of training with universities having extensive fine arts course offerings and that kind of thing. Your classmates would remember you best crating and uncrating those huge boxes. How did you actually get interested in gallery work?

BERNIE: Well, in 1971, I was sitting in the SMU cafeteria having a stale sandwich I had brought with me and the gentleman sitting at the same table asked me if I'd like to work in the art gallery. I said sure and started in the nuts and bolts end of it — crating. The gentleman was, of course, Bob Dietz, Gallery Curator here at Saint Mary's. I, more or less, apprenticed to him and Bob, being a good teacher, guided me through the "ins" and "outs" of a curator's education, Bob did all the administrative work and taught me about uncrating and receiving paintings, reporting on the condition of the paintings, how to display works properly and of course the packaging and shipping. These are the very practical tasks having to do with the business.

HEATHER: What about a knowledge of art and all the other things needed to run a gallery?

BERNIE: In addition to Bob Dietz, I also had the helping hand of Tony Law. They encouraged me to take courses in art history here at Saint Mary's and art gallery operation at the National Gallery. I did a lot of research papers on art in Nova Scotia. In 1973, I was completing my course work towards my M.A. and a position opened for part-time curator at the Centennial Gallery and I applied for it. From there, we developed into the Art Gallery of Nova Scotia.

HEATHER: You had a puppet show and children's art display this past summer as well as gallery exhibitions.

BERNIE: Centennial Art Gallery features primarily Nova Scotia artists. It's open year round and we do offer a few classes. We have an annual children's exhibition, which is held in conjunction with the Joseph Howe Festival — this is children's art from all over the province. As well as this, the kids come and do murals on the walls and floors and decorate any space available. One of our main functions is to service Nova Scotia and to get art out to the people, in addition to our main Art Gallery here in Halifax. The Department of Recreation has been very helpful and supportive and we now have exhibit centres throughout the province. We don't actually run the centres but we support them in terms of providing them with exhibitions — we do have a travelling exhibition office. The Department of Recreation has a Little Red Schoolhouse program going that assists in bringing art related activities into the communities of the province. Our main gallery features local, national and international artists. A highlight of this year's program will be a folk art exhibition but we have changing exhibitions in the main gallery every four or five weeks. We have art classes, children's art classes and lectures — so there is something for each member of the family. Periodically, we have recitals and as well a performance by a dance group in conjunction with some special exhibition.

HEATHER: Would you have guessed when you came to Saint Mary's that you would be into this field?

BERNIE: No. My intention at the time was to teach high school and farm in northern New Brunswick. I do have the farm but it's in a secondary thing at the moment. It was one of those pleasurable acts of fate and I'm enjoying it and have enjoyed the past five years.

HEATHER: You're President of the Atlantic Art Galleries Association. Saint Mary's is an active participant and there are about seventeen galleries represented. What does that association promote?

BERNIE: We organize travelling exhibitions amongst ourselves, to help cut down on costs. We do training sessions to upgrade galleries. An idea of competition is certainly not there — we endeavour to support, cooperate and compliment one another's efforts.

HEATHER: I guess the direction a person thinks they're heading in when they enter these "hallowed halls" isn't always the same when they emerge.

BERNIE: That's probably a good thing. My interests and experiences have certainly broadened more than I would have expected. I think the size of Saint Mary's permitted me to have the close ties people associate with our university but also enabled the attention and guidance of people like Bob Dietz and Tony Law in sharing their knowledge and expertise with me. That teaching is certainly standing me in good stead and I hope other students take advantage of it.

One of the projects planned by the Alumni Association for the 175th Anniversary of the University is the establishment of an Alumni Archives.

Discussions are being held with the University President, Dr. D. O. Carrigan, with a view to obtaining some additional space in the Archbishop MacNally building to house the Archives.

We invite interested Alumni and others who have extra copies of Class Pictures, Athletic Teams, informal groups, buildings, etc. or copies of the Santamarian, Journal or other publications, to send these items to the Alumni office at the University. If you have items which you are not prepared to turn over to the archives, we would be happy to receive them on a loan basis. We are particularly interested in memorabilia connected directly with the Windsor Street campus.

It would be helpful if you could provide the year the photographs were taken and any other information, such as; the names of some or all of the people in the picture.

Please make sure your pictures have a cardboard support in the envelope for protection and that your return address is indicated on the envelope.

Our address is:

The SANTAMARIAN

Vol. 1

November, 1908

No. 1

Associate Editors. Class '09.

P. P. Carrol.

G. B. Phelan.

J. J. Devine.

T. J. Buchanan.

C. Martin.

J. Quinan.

Editor-in-Chief — J. R. Buckley.

WITH this number THE SANTAMARIAN makes its bow to the public. It purports to be a periodical published in the interests of St. Mary's College, and conducted, in large measure, by the students themselves. But while such is the intent of the promoters of the movement, the periodical does not propose to be a stranger to events outside college life, particularly those that concern Catholic circles.

Not un mindful are we of the fact that previous attempts in the journalistic field have resulted unfavorably. We don't propose to find fault with the manner in which these journals were conducted, or to place our finger upon the weak spot of the several ventures. Suffice it to say that our present course of action is justified by the knowledge that truth never has too many champions, and by the avowed intention of confining our ambition to the field of a Catholic college periodical.

Such being our sphere of action then, we shall infringe upon the copyright of no one. Legitimate criticism and advice from well-wishers will always be appreciated; but as for those who make it the special business of their lives to criticise the work of others, simply because it is at variance with their own ideas, we shall take it as a favor if they save their words for more interested listeners.

We feel sure of a sufficiency of patrons both to make our venture an advantageous one for our Alma Mater, and a useful and interesting one to the friends of the institution . . .

Old Halifax has made great strides during the past ten years. Her paved streets impress the visitor, but especially the Haligonian returning to his own home after a long absence. One of the most prominent features of the city is the Citadel Hill, to which the visitor betakes himself to get a general view. What a pity it is that the first impressive object to meet his vision is the mass of unsightly houses between him and the harbour. If first impressions be lasting, the expression "Dear Dirty Halifax" will not be without significance. . .

COLLEGE NOTES.

There are now seventy-five students in attendance at the college. A large increase over last year.

Seven of the fourth year students have commenced Philosophy this year and are making good progress under Father McManus.

The new professor arrived at the College lately and gained much favour among the boys by obtaining a holiday for them.

The College motto is "Age quod agis" or "Do what you're doing."

COMICS.

Prof.: "If you have nothing else to do, look through your book."

Student: "I can't, sir; it's not transparent."

Doctor: "What you want is change and rest."

Patient: "I cannot afford it; my children get the change and my wife gets the rest." (continued on page 3)

VANTAGE VANCOUVER

By Debbie Fougere

I recently had the pleasure of talking with Terry Heenan, Class of '47, about his days at Saint Mary's, and his recent election as an out-of-town representative for the Alumni Association. Terry is presently Vice-President — Corporate Development of the British Columbia Telephone Company.

The Robie Street campus, which I am so familiar with, did not exist when Terry entered Saint Mary's in 1943. He attended the Windsor Street campus, which consisted of a single three-storey building housing the high school, college, chapel and residence for staff and students. There was also a hockey rink, the much celebrated "Rorum", with natural ice, as well as an open handball court.

Looking back, Terry said that there were a surprising range of activities, considering the size of the college. There was a good debating society, a newspaper, a yearbook called "The Collegian", and the Playhouse Theater Group. The latter group put on some excellent performances, unhindered by the fact that there were no female students. He remembers in particular, Father Jerry Mackie and Edmund Boyd, who put on a fantastic performance as the two old ladies in "Arsenic and Old Lace."

The sports program was not as structured as it is now, but it offered a chance for friendly competition. The sports activities included hockey, handball, English rugby, football, baseball and boxing. More involved in behind-the-scenes work than in the actual sports themselves, Terry remembers working on the public address system at a boxing meet. Anxious to be right where the action was, he and a friend hooked a microphone to a lead pipe and lowered it into the ring — almost knocking out the referee.

The University community was much smaller then. This Terry feels was a definite advantage. You got to know everyone, students and faculty, and everyone got to know you. There was a great deal of involvement in University affairs, which led to a feeling of unity throughout the college. The size was also reflected in the enrollment and facilities. There were six in Terry's graduating class; two of them, FRANK O'NEIL and LARRY MURPHY, are still in Halifax. He remembers that although the chemistry labs may have left something to be desired, the students were always able to produce hydrogen sulphide.

Going to a small university was a good experience. Terry remembers being taught by such people as Fathers Burke-Gaffney and O'Donnell, and the personal attention that was available for the students. It was a privilege and a benefit that he is glad to have had.

After graduating from Saint Mary's in 1947, Terry completed his engineering studies at the Nova Scotia Technical College and graduated in 1949. He worked with Maritime Tel & Tel, in various capacities, until 1965, when he was temporarily transferred to Montreal for two years. He joined B.C. Tel in 1967 as Vice President — Staff, then worked as Vice President — Operations, for five years; until his appointment as Vice President — Corporate Development. He is also Chairman of the Canadian Telecommunications Carriers Association.

Terry considers a central Alumni Office as essential if the Alumni is to perform a dual role: (1) that of a source of contact between Alumni throughout the country and the world and (2) that of assisting the University in its development.

Terry Heenan is a busy, hard-working man, yet he makes time to keep up the ties with the University. He obviously cares deeply about Saint Mary's, and is proud to be associated with it in any capacity. Let's hope more alumni will follow his example and take the time to become involved. It's your Alumni Association — make the most of it.

SAINT MARY'S DEVELOPMENT FUND

The University's Development Campaign, which was launched in 1975, continues on schedule with a proposed goal of $4,570,000.00. In its appeal for development capital, Saint Mary's enjoys national support from all segments of the Community.

ALUMNI SWIMMING

The University swimming pool is available to members of the Alumni Association and their families every Saturday from 2-5 p.m. The pool is located in the Vanier House Residence and admission is by Alumni Membership Card.

NEW YEAR'S EVE DANCE

The Alumni Association is sponsoring a Dinner Dance on New Year's Eve, Friday, December 31, 1976. The festivities will take place from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. in the Multi Purpose Room of the Ignatius Loyola Building.

Information regarding tickets will be available at the Alumni Office by November 10, 1976.

SCHOLARSHIP FUND ESTABLISHED

In October, a group of the late Bill Dalton's friends, students and colleagues announced the establishment of a scholarship fund in his memory. It will be known as "The William J. Dalton Political Science Scholarship Fund."

An objective of $10,000 was set and it is the intention to use the earnings on the fund to assist one or more deserving students annually.

Contributions to date are such that by the time you read this article 50% of the objective will have been attained.

Here is what one alumnus wrote in making his contribution.

October 20, 1976

Dear Dean Beazley,

Sorry to hear of Bill Dalton passing — he was a fine man who was always willing to listen and discuss any problems or areas of concern a student might have. Indeed his talents, warm personality and particularly his sense of humour will be a loss to S.M.U. and the community.

Regards,

ANNUAL ALUMNI DINNER

December 8, 1976

The Alumni Dinner will be held in the evening, Wednesday, December 8, 1976. Arrangements for this year's dinner are being handled by a Committee which is chaired by the Vice President of the Association, Dr. Mike Larsen.

The Committee will use the Table Host system to encourage the sale of tickets, however, tickets will also be available from the Alumni Office.

Mike is confident that an appropriate speaker will be on hand for the occasion and a successful evening is anticipated.

OBITUARY

By Bruce Smith

On September 10, 1976 Krishna Capstick passed away at the Victoria General Hospital in Halifax. Saint Mary's Alumni will recall that for a number of years Krishna served as secretary for Alumni Affairs at the University and most recently as secretary to the Director of University Services.

At special Alumni functions, Krishna always volunteered a helping hand and her presence was always evident at the Annual Alumni Dinners.

At a Memorial Service in her honour, Father J. J. Hennessey reminded us that death is not an end but a beginning and we can find comfort from this knowledge.

She will be sadly missed by all those who had the pleasure of knowing her.

I am sure all Alumni join with me in offering sincere condolences to the Capstick family. We hope the knowledge that the thoughts of her friends are with them at this time, will prove a comfort to them.
