Saint Mary's University Alumni Association

Welcome, new alumni!

The Saint Mary's Alumni Association welcomes its new members, the Class of '86, and congratulates them on making history not only for the University, but for the Association as well.

The Saint Mary's Alumni Association experienced the greatest growth spurt in its history this May when over 650 students graduated at Convocation. The Class of '86 not only made history by being the largest the University has seen since starting to award degrees in 1841, but also because it was the first to attend Convocation ceremonies in the Metro Centre, the downtown-Halifax sports and convention facility.

This year's Convocation featured several highlights besides its sheer size and new location, however. The newest class of alumni included three distinguished honorary degree recipients, 11 medal winners, three physically handicapped students, and the first students to receive Master of Arts degrees in Atlantic Canada Studies. The Reverend William A. Stewart, S.J., Medal for Teaching was also awarded, and Professor Allan Sabean, who retired last year after 53 years of association with Saint Mary's, was awarded the rank of professor emeritus for his distinguished service to the University.

Saint Mary's recognized three valued friends of the University with honorary degrees. An honorary Doctor of Civil Law was conferred upon Edmund Morris, member of the the Nova Scotia legislature. Stephanie A. Cleary of the Class of '86 read the citation, and Dr. Morris addressed convocation. The late Lawrence (Laurie) Smith, who was formerly Director of Alumni Affairs, received an honorary Doctor of Letters, posthumously. Mrs. Kay Smith, Laurie's wife, accepted the degree. An honorary Doctor of Letters was also conferred upon Professor Sun Weiyan, president of the University of International Business and Economics, (UIBE), in Beijing China. Mr. Chen Quan Yuan, Vice-President and Senior Administrator at UIBC, accepted the degree for Dr. Sun, who was unable to attend due to illness.

Martin Gill, a Saint Mary's student who was left a quadriplegic after a swimming accident in 1983, returned to the University to accept his Bachelor of Commerce degree, which he had recently completed. Two visually handicapped students also received their degrees on May 12. Victor Fraser and Bradley Power both credited the facilities of the Ferguson Tape Library for Print Handicapped Students with helping them successfully complete their studies.

Degrees in Arts, Science, Education and Commerce, diplomas in Engineering, and Master's degrees in Arts, Science, Education and Business Administration were awarded during the Convocation ceremonies. Among the Master of Arts degrees were the first to be awarded in Atlantic Canada Studies. Ms. Michael Smith and Mr. Terrence White were both on hand to receive their degrees.

Eleven of the University's outstanding scholars were honoured with medals and awards, as

Over 600 new graduates of Saint Mary's automatically joined the Alumni Association on May 12 when they received their degrees. The Convocation was the first to be held in the Metro Centre.

well. Janet A. Wilkins received the Governor General's Medal; the Faculty of Arts medals went to Shelley Conrad and Scott Gillis; the Faculty of Science medals, donated by the Alumni Association, were awarded to Jenine M. Arab and Janet M. Cullinan; Christopher J. Connolly received the Faculty of Commerce medal; Shirley-Ann Knowles was awarded the Faculty of Education medal; the Master of Business Administration medals went to James R. Boyd and E. Anne Hope; the Master of Arts in Education medal went to James A. Ludlow; and Wey Heng Leong received the Division of Engineering medal. GW

The President's Letter

The new year for the alumni executive is now underway. I would like to extend congratulations on my behalf, and on behalf of all alumni, to the newly elected executive members. Welcome. I know your term of office will be a pleasant experience.

I would also like to take this opportunity to thank those who have completed their executive terms with the Association, as well as those volunteers who helped our committees in the past year.

Your Alumni Association needs volunteers. The executive and the two full-time staff members in the Alumni Office are usually kept quite busy throughout the year, so if you are interested in volunteering for any of the many interesting events we have planned for 1986-87, we would be glad to hear from you. Working on alumni goals can give you a chance to contribute to the Association in a meaningful way, and to get a first-hand view of what we do. This work may be of particular interest to our retired alumni, upon whom we would like to call particularly for their valued time and experience. Volunteers for any of the following committees — Annual Dinner, Reunion, Scholarships, Constitution, Athletic, Social, or Membership — would be most welcome. Contact Tom McDonell, 902-429-9780, ext. 2113, if you are interested.

The Saint Mary's alumni family is a great, thriving, energetic and mobile group. Although this is one of our greatest assets, it does present us with some difficulty keeping track of where you all are and what you are doing now. Keeping up-to-date records requires extensive resources.

Again, volunteers are needed to keep the vitality of our group brewing and to kindle a new fire of interest in distant areas where there are alumni.

Here's an example of the kind of alumni network we could generate with the help of dedicated volunteers. A few months ago an alumnus from Trinidad sent a letter expressing interest in developing a more active group in the Trinidad area. At the time the staff in the Alumni Office was very busy with the planning of annual events and could not respond fully. If a volunteer could be found to coordinate this kind of communications and tracking of alumni, a new chapter of Trinidadian Santamarians, and chapters from other countries as well, could be organized. These are the challenges that lie before us this year, and we are looking for your support to fulfill our goals.

Alumni living in other areas of Canada or abroad are especially invited to get involved by establishing new chapters in their areas and by forwarding their names and addresses for our resource list (we are trying to establish a list of alumni in different areas to distribute to new graduates who will be living in those areas so that they will have someone to contact to help them get oriented). We also need help locating lost alumni like those listed on p. 17.

Please keep in touch. For the members of the Classes of '61, '76 and '81, don't forget your class reunions on Oct. 17-19. And I hope all alumni will consider attending our Annual Dinner on Oct. 18 (see page 14 for details).

Happenings

Saint Mary's trio on the road

Larry Uteck, Head Football Coach, Bob Hayes, Executive Assistant to the President, and Tom McDonell, Director of Alumni Affairs, travelled through New Brunswick and New England in early April to meet with alumni. Receptions were held in Moncton, Saint John, and Boston as the threesome headed south.

Each of the merry trio had to earn his keep while on the road. Larry Uteck provided information on the athletics and recreation programs at the University. He also discussed the difficulties encountered by the varsity athletic teams in recent years, and talked about the bright future he foresees not only for the football program at Saint Mary's but for all varsity sports.

The new Fitness and Recreation Centre, a model of which was on display at the receptions, was a topic of much discussion. Bob Hayes presented materials on the new Centre and spoke on the progress of the Capital Campaign, now in its second year.

Tom McDonell introduced plans for the Alumni Association, in particular plans for the development of Alumni Chapters throughout Canada, New England, and various locations around the world where Saint Mary's alumni are living.

"Based on the attendance at these receptions, it is evident that there is strong support for the continued activity and development of Alumni Chapters," says Tom. Keep an "ear to the ground" for events happening in your area!

Moncton

April Fool's! But it was no joke as an enthusiastic group of alumni and guests met at the Hotel Beausejour in Moncton on April, 1. A key organizer for the event was Bob Warner ('75), former hockey star for the Huskies, and his wife Rachelle.

MBA Alumni celebrate 10th anniversary

The Second Annual MBA Alumni luncheon was held at Saint Mary's on April 4, 1986. Seventy-five people gathered to meet and greet old friends on the occasion of the 10th anniversary of the graduation of the first MBA class. Bob Shaw ('68), General Manager of Clayton Developments Ltd. in Halifax, was the guest speaker for the event.

Donald Horne, representing the Class of '76 announced the establishment of an MBA Scholarship fund by the members of his class. The details of the fund are still to be worked out, but it is anticipated that $1,200 per year will be awarded for a period of three years. In his remarks, Don challenged other MBA classes to become involved in establishing similar scholarship funds. He suggested that as each class celebrated its 10th anniversary it could add to the current fund, or establish one in honour of the class.

Over the past year and a half, Paula Reitelman ('86) has worked very hard to provide impetus for the organization of the MBA alumni. "We hope to organize our group, probably under the overall umbrella of the Saint Mary's Alumni Association," she says. To date there is a draft constitution, ideas for a regular method of communication with MBA alumni, and plans to continue with an annual luncheon or other such function.

Next year the class of 1977 will have an opportunity to celebrate its 10th anniversary. Planning is already underway for this event. Please forward your thoughts and comments to Nellie Balch Allen, c/o the Alumni Office.

Saint John

Graham Black ('79), Non-Resident Representative on the Alumni Executive, was instrumental in organizing the April 2 alumni reception at The Delta Brunswick in Saint John, N.B. Also, extremely helpful to Graham was Bob Kane ('68). Eager to begin working on chapter activities for Saint John and area alumni, Graham Black presented Tom McDonell with a silver dollar to commemorate the resurgence of activity for alumni in this New Brunswick city.

Boston

David LaFauci ('73) and Jim McDevitt ('62) were instrumental in organizing a very successful alumni reception at the Embassy Suite Hotel in Boston. The strong turnout and enthusiasm displayed demonstrates a real interest in having an active Alumni Chapter in Boston.

(P.S. On the way to Boston, contact was also made with Bob Lahey ('64), MVP of the Basketball Huskies in 1964. Bob is the Athletic Director at Old Town High in Old Town, Maine. Bob hosted our Saint Mary's representatives at a dinner for the Maine Interscholastic Athletic Directors Association in Rockland, Maine.)

Newfoundland alumni meet in St. John's

The Hotel Newfoundland was the site for a gathering of Saint Mary's Alumni living in the St. John's area. Dr. Kenneth Ozmon, President of the University, Don Keleher, Director of Development, and Tom McDonell, Director of Alumni Affairs, hosted the reception in early February. Key organizers for the event were Damian Ryan ('71), Reg Ryan ('64), and Michelle Doyle ('84).

The following day, Dr. Ozmon and Don Keleher were the guests of Ian MacKenzie ('70) at the St. John's Board of Trade, where a presentation was made by the Hon. John Crosbie.

Alumni Association Annual Meeting

The Annual Meeting for the Alumni Association was held on April 29, 1986 on campus in the Deli Bar, Loyola Residence. Highlights of the evening included reports on the University's Capital Campaign and on the Laurie W. Smith Scholarship, introductions of the new Alumni Association Executive members, and a talk by Dr. Kenneth L. Ozmon, President of Saint Mary's.

Paul Lynch, President of the Association, chaired the meeting and in that capacity spoke to those in attendance about the various activities of the Association during the last year. He also had the pleasant duty of presenting a special award to Don Keleher ('69), Director of Development, for his outstanding contributions to the University community, and in particular to the Alumni Association.

In addition to the recognition given Don Keleher, Executive Members whose terms expired in April, 1986 were also honoured for their service to the Alumni Association. Those honoured with certificates of appreciation were:

John Fennell ('75); Cindy Hallett ('80); Bill Robinson ('75); John Walker ('72); Richard Bishop ('73, '75); Ron Harnish ('69); Ted Hoganson ('62); and Ron Leblanc ('56).

Associate member status in the Alumni Association was also given to Mrs. Elizabeth (Betty) Ozmon and Miss Jill Linquist, Director of Food Services, for having given of their time and service to the activities of the Association.

Don Keleher reported on the status of the University's Capital Campaign. He informed the gathering that $8.5 million of the Campaign's $13 million objective had been achieved to date, and that work will continue over the next three years in an effort to raise the $4.5 million required to meet the stated goal.

Charles McGuire ('59) then reported on the status of the new Laurie W. Smith Scholarship, of which he is committee chairman. The scholarship, named in memory of the late Laurie W.

Bob Kane, '68, Maurice Readey, '76, and Angela Readey attended the Alumni Reception held at the Delta Brunswick in Saint John, N.B. recently.

Smith, former Director of Alumni Affairs, has created a great deal of interest in our community and in particular among Saint Mary's alumni. Response has been extremely favourable, with approximately $23,000 contributed to date.

Attending their first meeting as members of the Alumni Association's Executive were newly elected Resident Members David Hendsbee ('82), John Bishop ('74, '77), John Garroway ('73), and Robin Falconer ('58). Elected Board of Governors representatives are Don Reardon ('57) and Gerald Walsh ('76). Elected Non-Resident representatives are Linda Johnson ('79) of Ottawa and Graham Black ('78, '79) of Saint John, N.B.

The evening ended on an upbeat note with Dr. Kenneth Ozmon speaking on the value of the Alumni Association to the University. He made particular reference to the number of alumni currently employed at the University, speaking about their value to the University and to the Alumni Association.

Geographers unite, celebrate 10 year reunion

A reception, dinner, and dance marked the 10th anniversary of the Geography department at Saint Mary's. Geographers from 1976 to 1986 turned out in large numbers to renew friendships and recall days gone by in the Burke Education Centre, home of the Geography department and SMUGS.

Highlighting the evening's events was an audio-visual presentation by Dr. Robert McCalla, chairman of the department and organizer of the reunion. Recalling humorous events from field trips and other Geography get-togethers over the past 10 years, he kept the party on a high throughout. The evening concluded with dancing and socializing. Congratulations to all geographers. See you at the 20th year reunion!

Singapore and Malaysia alumni host Dr. Miner

Travelling overseas in March, Dr. Rick Miner, Dean of Commerce, was entertained at alumni gatherings in Singapore and Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia. A dinner, held on March 10 in Singapore, was organized by Wei Min Ng (MBA '82). Many thanks to Wei Min for a job well done, as evidenced by the strong turnout of loyal alumni.

The key organizer for the reception and dinner in Kuala Lumpur was Choon Lay Poh (MBA '85). He gathered another strong contingent of Saint Mary's alumni to greet Dr. Miner, including Peter Soh, Albert Ladores, Peter Chang ('81), Albert Lim Kok Keng ('81), Phua Sim Ann ('81), Alex Lee ('83), and Soh Tan Kiew ('81).

Congratulations and thanks to two groups of alumni for the hospitality extended to Dr. Miner!

Annapolis Valley alumni warm up on winery tour

A warm spring sun and a clear sky welcomed Valley Alumni to their first organized reunion at Grand Pre Vineyard in Grand Pre, N.S.

Tom McDonell, Director of Alumni Affairs, welcomed the 40+ guests and outlined the increasingly important role alumni are playing in the future of Saint Mary's. "We hope that Valley alumni will use this opportunity to rekindle their active involvement in the university community," Tom said.

John Stuart ('75) and his wife Lucille (nee Feron, '76) welcomed their guests to the winery and thanked them for coming. John has been farming in the Gaspereau Valley for over 10 years. He is now Sales Manager of the winery and conducted the tour of the greenhouses, vineyards, press house and wine cellars. Besides being Nova Scotia's premier winery, Grand Pre is also one of the largest grape nursery operations in North America.

Alumni from the Geography department gathered for a 10th anniversary reunion in February. In the foreground are Patricia Dunphy-Josey, '80 and Randy Brooks, '76. Jude Ronayne, '86, and Greg MacPherson, '84, are in the background.

Following the tour, a wine and cheese reception was held in the winery store, giving Halifax guests a chance to renew acquaintances with the Valley alumni.

Dr. Ken and Mrs. Betty Ozmon, Alumni President Paul Lynch and his wife Lisa, Don Keleher, Tom and Joan McDonell and Dr. Raymond and Mrs. Alex Ferguson spent the remainder of the afternoon updating the Valley alumni on what is happening at Saint Mary's and reminiscing over glasses of wine.

Attending from the Valley were John Murphy ('65, '67), and his wife Julia, Bruce ('70) and Wendy Marks, Christine Way ('85), Andrew Clinch ('79) and wife Anne, Dan McGrath ('61), Edmund ('84) and Ada Smith, Karen Greenman ('84), Doreen Roberts ('78), Ed Connelly ('46) and his wife Marion, Pam and Marc Rafuse and Bill Philpott ('79).

It is hoped this will be the start of an active Saint Mary's alumni chapter in the beautiful Annapolis Valley.

Athletics

the Maximum Ability Sports-Hockey Camp which was designed in 1978 to develop elite players such as NHLers Frank Caprice and Mike Sands."

"In the immediate future I will be asking local hockey people to inform me of potential student hockey players who live here in Atlantic Canada so our team will have a strong Nova Scotian and Maritime identity," says Nesbitt.

Randy Nesbitt is married to 10-time U.S. synchronized swimming champion and Australian Olympic Team Coach Susan (née Baross). They have an infant daughter, Stephanie Ann, eight months. GW

Randy Nesbitt: "Committed to building a strong competitive team for Saint Mary's University."

Nesbitt named new hockey coach

Randy Nesbitt is the new head coach of the Saint Mary's hockey team, Dr. Ian McGregor, Director of Athletics and Recreation, announced recently.

"Mr. Nesbitt has a proven playing and coaching background in college hockey, as well as extensive qualifications in the field of sport camp administration, strength training and elite player development," says Dr. McGregor.

A native of Burlington, Ontario, Nesbitt, 31, spent the 1985-86 season as assistant coach at the University of Waterloo. His team qualified for the Ontario University Athletic Association playoffs for the first time in eight seasons.

Prior to the Waterloo coaching assignment, Nesbitt was head coach of the Centennial College hockey team, which went from a 1-22-1 record in 1983-84 to a 10-12-2 record in 1984-85 under his tutelage.

His other coaching assignments have included the Ontario Hockey Association Thornhill Thunderbirds, Brantford Alexanders and Guelph Platters, Sheridan College and Val Pellice in Italy, Division I.

Randy Nesbitt played for McMaster University when he was a student. He has a BA in Sociology and Physical Education from York University.

"I am committed to building a strong competitive team for Saint Mary's University," says Nesbitt.

"My plan calls for work to begin in three areas: first, recruitment of student athletes throughout the Maritimes, Ontario and Quebec; second, to organize and administer all areas of the hockey program here at the University to ensure that our student players receive personal assistance with respect to both their academic and their athletic pursuits; and third, to create an exciting summer hockey program as part of the camp of champions which encourages and ensures both fun and improvement for the minor hockey participant."

"Nesbitt has directed and worked at hockey schools since 1978," says Dr. Ian McGregor. "His camp credits are impressive, particularly

Baldwin honoured

Friends held a testimonial evening for Frank Baldwin, former basketball coach at Saint Mary's, at the Police Association Club in Halifax this past May. Many alumni were in attendance including, among others, Art Inglis '17, Father Gerald David '54, Father J. Mills '37, Joe Pottie '79, Bob Hayes '73, Don Keleher '69, Sammy Ross '49, and Associate Member Verdon 'Vern' Creighton. They honoured Frank on his recent retirement from Sport Nova Scotia. All the best to Frank!

New alumni athletes honoured at annual Awards Dinner

Two Huskies "old-timers," former Athletic Director Bob Hayes and numerous outstanding athletes were honoured this year at the University's annual Athletics Awards Dinner. The dinner attracted a full house of enthusiastic athletes, coaches, faculty, alumni and friends of the University.

Alumni plaques were presented to the University's newest alumni who were also active in varsity sports, including: Darrell Cormier, Men's Soccer; Lisa MacKenzie, Kelli Richardson, and Alice Verran, Field Hockey; Damian Byrne, Peter Curwin, Tom Daley, Shane Doyle, Darrell Gaudet, Danny Lawson, John Lukan, Dale McClare, Alex Russell, and Jeff Watson, Football; Mike Magee, Hockey; and Michele Gaunce and Tracy Vanier, Women's Basketball.

Senior athletes Michele Gaunce (basketball), from Perth-Andover, New Brunswick, and Jeff Watson (football and track and field), from Lower Sackville, Nova Scotia, were also named Athletes of the Year. Both students graduated from Saint Mary's this year, Gaunce with a Bachelor of Commerce degree and Watson with a BA in Sociology. Watson was one of only 14 college players invited to the CFL draft this year. He was selected in the First Round by the Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

Special recognition was given to Mr. Frank Baldwin and Mr. Tom Sweet, both retiring this year from their respective positions of Development Coordinator/Provincial Coach for Basketball Nova Scotia and Resource Officer for the Nova Scotia Sport Heritage Centre. Baldwin is a former head coach of the Basketball Huskies, and Sweet is the Founder of the Basketball Huskies Booster Club.

The announcement of a new annual award was also made at the dinner. The Robert Gerald Hayes Award will be presented for the first time in 1986-87, and will each year go to the individual from the community who has made the most outstanding contribution to the varsity athletic program at Saint Mary's. Hayes (BA '73) was Athletic Director at Saint Mary's from 1958 to 1985, and was largely responsible for Saint Mary's athletic dynasty in the 70s, when the men's basketball, hockey, and football Huskies amassed an astounding 90 per cent winning record and brought home over 20 Atlantic titles and four Canadian championships.

The John Jones Memorial Award ("unsung hero") winner was Gary Bratty, a senior student who has played with intensity and determination for the Basketball Huskies for three years.

The Football Block and Tackle Award went to veteran center Shane Doyle. Team Most Valuable Players (MVPs) announced at the dinner were Lisa MacKenzie in field hockey, Cameron

Brown in men's soccer, Terry Coughlan in hockey, Mike Williams in men's basketball, Michele Gaunce and Sandra Mumford (co-winners) in women's basketball, Kerri Lafond in women's soccer, and John Schimall in rugby.

The Alumni Association honoured Saint Mary's graduating athletes with Alumni Plaques. Too good to leave —

Many Saint Mary's alumni have returned to their alma mater as staff and faculty. If you recognize any of these faces, read on These folks are just some of the over 50 alumni who have returned to Saint Mary's as staff and faculty. Do you recognize any of your classmates?

When most people graduate from their alma mater, they bid a fond farewell to the "hallowed halls of learning" and go out into "the real world," only returning to their universities for alumni reunions or other functions of interest. Some Saint Mary's alumni have returned to their alma mater, however, to work and continue making a valued contribution to the University.

There are over 50 alumni working at Saint Mary's, as administrators, professors and members of the support staff.

Right from the time students are even considering coming to Saint Mary's, they are most likely in touch with a Saint Mary's alumnus.

Greg Ferguson (B.Comm., '74), Director of Admissions, travels to high schools throughout the Atlantic Provinces, Quebec, Ontario and New England, promoting the many benefits of an education at Saint Mary's.

Once a student decides to attend Saint Mary's and is admitted, his or her contact with the University's alumni continues at registration. Murray Wilson (BA, '65, B.Ed., '70), Assistant Registrar, Theresa Brennan (née Beaton, BA, '75), Assistant to the Registrar, and staff member Chris MacDonald (BA, '83) are always on hand to help with the confusing little details of getting enrolled.

One important step in the enrolment process is paying tuition. Students making a visit to the Business Office for that purpose are likely to see Ron Cochrane (B.Comm., '70), the University's Comptroller, and Janice Burke (B.Comm., '84), the accountant, working diligently in the background, keeping the financial side of the University's administration in order.

Another place where students will have to spend a little of their cash is at the Bookstore. Don Harper (B.Sc., '72), the manager, and his assistant Judy Corkum (BA, '80), always keep the shelves well stocked with the texts required for a successful year of study.

When they finally make it to class, many of Saint Mary's students will see alumni of the University at the front of their classrooms.

Since every Saint Mary's student has to take at least one English course, it's quite likely that many of them will meet a teaching alumnus during the first week of classes. Michael Larsen, (BA, '66), Terry Whalen (BA, '65) and Alumni Association Associate Member Roger MacDonald are three profs likely to be giving an introductory English course to first year students.

Whether a student is in Arts, Science, Commerce or Education, there's a good chance that at least one of her or his professors will know what it's like to be a Saint Mary's student from first-hand experience.

Students taking Arts courses will find former classmates Dr. Patricia Connelly and Dr. David Perrier (both BA, '68) in the Sociology department. Alumni Dr. Fred Crooks (BA, '75) and John Feehan (BA, '77) teach in the Political Science department, while students interested in Philosophy may take courses from Dr. Shelagh Crooks (Fred's wife, BA, '76). Father Lawrence Murphy, S.J., who graduated from Saint Mary's with an MA, teaches in the Religious Studies department.

Numerous other alumni teach in the Faculty of Commerce. In the Marketing department are June MacDonald (BA, 81, MBA, 85) and Karen Blonicky (BA, 80, MBA, 85). In Accounting, Barry Gorman (B.Comm., 67), David Hope (B.Comm., 61, also Saint Mary's High School, 58), Greg Walsh (B.Comm., 69, B.Ed., 74, MBA, 82), and Elaine Morash (BA, 76, MBA, 78) can be found in front of a classroom, while in Finance, Karen Henderson (B.Comm., 75, MBA, 77) takes time from her full-time work at Maritime Life Assurance Company to teach a course on campus. Students taking Management courses are likely to meet alumni Ned Kelleher (Saint Mary's High School, 58, B.Comm., 62), Lissa McRae (MBA, 79), and Jeff Young (MBA, 83) in a classroom in the Loyola building. Economics professors Dr. Ervin Doak (B.Comm., 62) is also an alumni, and in the Faculty's administrative staff, Lois Wasteneys (B.Comm., 82) is Projects Coordinator.

Three professors in the Education department are also alumni of Saint Mary's. Fred Dockrill (BA, '57, B.Ed., '61 and MA, '64), Bette Hanrahan (BA, '59, B.Ed., '60 and MA, '66) and Dr. Michael MacMillan (MA, '64) are all full-time professors teaching prospective teachers how to teach.

In the Science Faculty, Laurie Reed (née Burgoyne, B.Sc., '83, M.Sc., '86) is the technician in the Astronomy department whom many students meet during their tour of the University's observatory. Dr. Paul Muir (B.Sc., '79), assistant professor in Computing Science, helps students keep abreast of the latest in "computerese." Prospective students visiting the campus this summer can meet several new Science alumni, as well, including Stephanie Cleary, Dave Lycon, Michael Trus, Hartford Manning and Robert Singer (all B.Sc., '86), all of whom have summer assistantships this year.

Since student life involves more than just attending classes, it's also likely that Saint Mary's students will meet alumni in other areas of the campus as well. Students living in residence, for example, can't help but meet Clay Fowler (BA, '76), the Director of Residences, or Sam Scribner (B.Comm., '81), Assistant Director of Residences for Residence Service, the man who collects the damage deposits and makes arrangements for all repairs and maintenance of the rooms.

Another area where most students end up at least once during their time at Saint Mary's is in the Student Services office. Alumnus Keith Hotchkiss (BA, '73), Director of Student Services, is in charge of food services, counselling, financial counselling, the Chaplaincy Service, and Health Services, to name a few. Lynn Andrews, another alumna (BA, '77), is on hand as a counsellor in Student Services and Barry Abbott (BA, '78) is Public Relations Officer for the Atlantic Centre of Support for Disabled Students.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ferguson, center, were honoured recently for their outstanding contributions to disabled students. The Most Reverend James M. Hayes, the University's Chancellor (left) and Dr. Kenneth Ozmon, President of Saint Mary's (right) were on hand for the unveiling of the plaque dedicating the Ferguson Tape Library for the Print Handicapped in their names.

Students who get involved in the sports programs at Saint Mary's will also meet some of the alumni on staff. Bruce Hopkins (B.Ed., '76) is Coordinator of Inter-Varsity Athletics; Jeff Hayes (B.Comm., '77) is Facilities Coordinator; and Kathy Mullane coordinates intramural and recreation activities. Kathy is a part-time student at Saint Mary's and is also an Associate Member of the Alumni Association.

Other alumni of the University can be found working behind the scenes. Although they do not have frequent contact with the students, the following people — Kevin Cleary (BA, '57, B.Ed., '58, MA, '61), Secretary of Senate; Bob Hayes (BA, '73), Executive Assistant to the President for the Capital Campaign; Mike Tingley (Dip.Eng., '59), Director of Computer Services; Lou Dursi (Dip.Eng., '69), Director of Physical Plant; George Somers (Dip.Eng., '42), Security Officer; Kevin Webb (B.Comm., '76), Budget Control Officer; and Heather Davis (BA, '74), Secretary to the Academic Vice-President — play an integral and important part in the day-to-day running of the University.

Two of the Association's newest members, Shirley Buckler and George Bragg, also worked on their degrees "behind the scenes." Shirley (BA, '86) is the Coordinator of the Word Processing Centre and George (also BA, '76) is the University's Postmaster.

When graduation from Saint Mary's is imminent, a student once again has contact with an alumna when he or she registers at the Canada Employment Centre on Campus. Bruna Caracristi (BA, '75, B.Ed., '76) will be on hand to help in filling out the proper forms.

Students graduating from Saint Mary's not only join the growing Santamarian family, but also have an opportunity to meet two other alumni, Don Keleher (Dip.Eng., '69, B.Sc., '70), Development Officer in charge of the University's Capital Campaign, and Tom McDonnell (BA, '80, MBA, '85), Director of the Alumni Association, at the gala Alumni Reception held before the Graduation Ball. GW

Tape Library dedicated to Fergusons

Saint Mary's University officially dedicated the Ferguson Tape Library for the Print Handicapped recently. The library was dedicated in the names of Raymond and Alex Ferguson, two prominent members of the Halifax business community who have had a long interest in assisting handicapped persons.

Mr. and Mrs. Ferguson have made generous contributions to the Library. Their most recent gift provided for the acquisition of a Kurzweil

Reading Machine which converts printed text electronically into spoken words, "reading" for those who, because of physical handicap, are unable to read for themselves.

Saint Mary's graduated two visually impaired students, Victor Fraser of St. John's and Bradley Power of New Waterford, who both made extensive use of the Library, at Convocation in May.

Goal set at $50,000 for Laurie Smith Scholarship

It has taken only two months for the Laurie W. Smith Scholarship to grow from the University's lead gift of $5,000 to over $23,000, according to Don Keleher, Director of Development. The committee began its fundraising efforts with a mailing to alumni and friends of Laurie Smith in April.

The scholarship committee, a group of volunteers made up of alumni, clergy, community leaders and former teaching colleagues of Mr. Smith, has set a goal of $50,000 for the fund.

"Of the thousands who knew Laurie Smith, many will have a unique memory of him — in the classroom, behind the bench, as a colleague in education at Saint Pat's and Saint Mary's, through the Alumni Office, the School Board and a host of other community activities," says Charles McGuire (BA, '59), chairman of the committee.

"The Laurie W. Smith Scholarship will honour Laurie in a most appropriate way by supporting young students, those in whom he always had a special interest.

"The scholarship fund provides an opportunity for all of us who benefited from Laurie's counsel, friendship and dedicated service to Saint Mary's to support an enduring and practical memorial to him."

Once set up, the Laurie Smith Scholarship will be awarded annually from the trust fund established by the University's Alumni Association in 1985. Saint Mary's will hold the capital of the fund in perpetuity, and only the income derived from investment of the funds will be used to finance the scholarship. The amount of the award will be determined by the amount of interest earned by the trust fund in the previous year. Several scholarships may be awarded in any one year.

Candidates for the scholarship must qualify in at least one of three categories:

A) A full-time, first year student entering Saint Mary's having graduated the previous year from Saint Patrick's High School. Consideration will be given to students who have achieved above-average academic standing while displaying leadership in extra-curricular activities.

B) A full-time student having successfully completed at least one full year at Saint Mary's, again with an above-average academic standing and involved in extra-curricular activities.

C) A handicapped student who has attended Saint Mary's the previous year or who has successfully completed high school. Identification of potential candidates will be made by the University's Student Services Counsellors and the Financial Aid Officer.

In addition, special consideration will be given to candidates who are relatives of Saint Mary's alumni. The element of need will also be considered where possible.

"The committee hopes to make this one of the largest, most prestigious and eagerly sought after scholarships at Saint Mary's," says Charlie McGuire. "This is a most worthy appeal deserving of widespread support."

"The initial response has been encouraging," says Don Keleher, "but we still anticipate more responses from alumni." If you would like to contribute to the fund, please contact Don Keleher, Director of Development, at 429-9780, ext. 2152, or by writing to Don c/o Saint Mary's University, Halifax, N.S. B3H 3C3.

Convocation

Charter Day Awards

In recognition of the significant contributions students make to the fibre of university life at Saint Mary's, the Students' Association each year holds a Charter Day Banquet in their honour and awards them various prizes. This year's Charter Day Banquet saw some 35 students, societies and friends of students recognized for their tremendous contributions to student life at Saint Mary's. Ten of those honoured are now part of the Alumni Association's newest class of members, having graduated in May of this year.

Mark Bower, who graduated with a Bachelor of Arts degree in May, was honoured with the Student Leader Award, given to the individual who has shown the greatest leadership abilities during the year. Mark was the President of Student Council in 1985-86 and has been re-elected for the 1986-87 term.

The Reverend J.J. Hennessey, S.J. Medallion, awarded to the student who is deemed to be the greatest contributor to extracurricular activities and to have exhibited the spirit of an outstanding Santamarian, was awarded to Maureen McLean, Residence Rep on Council this year. Maureen, who received a B.Comm., cum laude, in May, was involved in several societies on which she held executive positions. She was also actively involved in organizing numerous social events on campus.

Gold Ms were awarded to: Kristine DeCoste (B.Comm. '86), Vice-President Administration on this year's Council (Kristine was also named Senior of the Year); Mark Bower; Maureen McLean; and Jude Ronayne (BA, '86), an editor of The Journal, the student newspaper. A Gold M is the highest award granted by the Students' Association to those graduating or graduate students who have given outstanding contributions and have excelled in extra-curricular activities in the area of student affairs.

Silver Ms, the second highest award given to graduating or graduate students, were this year bestowed upon: Jackie Stringer (B.Comm., '86), vice-president of the Marketing Society; Lorraine Weatherbee (BA, Hons. Psychology, '86), the minutes secretary for Council and a student representative on the Board of Governors; and Karen Neves (BA, cum laude, '86) of The Journal.

Awards of Distinction were presented to the following new alumni: Robert White (B.Comm., cum laude, '86), treasurer of the SRC; and Ken Skinner (B.Comm., '86), night manager of the Student Centre, a member of the Campus Police, an active member of the grad class and a "spirit booster for the Saint Mary's community."

Keith Hotchkiss (BA, '73), Director of Student Services at Saint Mary's, was also honoured by the Students Representative Council with an Honorary Gold M.G.W

When alumnus Allan Turner (BA, '85) received his second degree at Saint Mary's University in May (a B.Ed.), his Aunt Jane just couldn't help but mark the occasion with a special gift — a hand-made quilt with Allan's academic achievements clearly portrayed. Allan is so thrilled with the gift that he says he couldn't just spread it over his bed. "I'm going to hang it on my wall," he says proudly.

Do we have your degree?

After the years of hard work, the hours and hours of classes, the exams, the papers, and the pages and pages of readings, a university student finally reaches that illusive goal — graduation. And what do you have to show for it? That beautiful Saint Mary's degree, printed on parchment in an elegant script, emblazoned with your name and the degree you've been awarded, signed by the president, the registrar, and the dean of the faculty you studied in, and stamped with the University's official seal.

It's hard to believe, but some alumni have not even bothered to pick up those coveted degrees. Murray Wilson, the Assistant Registrar, has about 300 of them filed in his office.

"They date back to about 1959 or 1960," says Murray. "Some of them are getting a little dog-eared and may have to be redone — if their owners ever come in to claim them."

A look through Mr. Wilson's stash of "left-over degrees" reveals an interesting history of the styles of the parchments through the years. There are three or four different sizes and varieties. Some are large and ornately printed, while others are modestly small, with a clear, modern type decreeing the graduate's status. Some of the older ones are written in Latin, complete with the Latinized version of the graduate's name. And they are, of course, signed by numerous different presidents, deans and registrars.

It's difficult to understand why some alumni don't bother to claim their parchments. Perhaps those who opted not to attend Convocation assumed that it meant they wouldn't receive their official degrees, and had no idea that one had been printed for them. For others, it's a simple matter of having an outstanding debt with the University which must be paid before the degree can be handed over to them.

Whatever the reason, Mr. Wilson has diligently collected the unclaimed parchments so that if a graduate ever does return to pick one up, it will still be available.

"All you have to do to get your degree is pay the graduation fee [a mere $20]," says Mr. Wilson. Alumni who have left their degrees behind and would now like to have them should contact Murray Wilson at (902) 429-9780, ext. 2204, or by writing to him c/o The Registrar's Office, Saint Mary's University, Halifax, N.S. John Young awarded Father Stewart Medal

Dr. John C. Young is this year's recipient of the Reverend William A. Stewart, S.J. Medal for Teaching. Dr. Young was presented with the award by Father Stewart himself at Convocation in May.

The award for teaching was established in 1983 by the Alumni Association to recognize faculty members who have made an extraordinary contribution to the education of the students at Saint Mary's. A committee of alumni, faculty, and students select the teacher to be honoured with the award, which is named for Father William A. Stewart in recognition of his own outstanding contribution to students throughout the years. It has been said of Father Stewart that his life "is a model of what a teacher should be."

Dr. John Young has taught chemistry at Saint Mary's for 16 years, and in that time has lived up to the example set by Father Stewart, according to the people who nominated him for the award.

In announcing Dr. Young as the recipient of the award, Dr. Joseph Jabbra, Academic Vice-President, said at Convocation that Dr. Young is thought of by his colleagues as "an outstanding professor," who puts a great deal of effort into his teaching. As Dr. Jabbra read from the nominations Dr. Young had received, he listed Dr. Young's friendliness and the encouragement he gives to his students as two of the things that make him a great teacher, adding that his patience, whether in the classroom or in the laboratory, is admired by both his students and his peers.

As an academic, Dr. Young has introduced two new courses to the curriculum at Saint Mary's, "Environmental Chemistry" and "Marine Chemistry," Chem. 371 and 372 respectively. He has also been instrumental in introducing computer-assisted instruction techniques into the classroom and the laboratory. Since 1970, he has received more than $250,000 in research grants, much of it going to students in the form of summer work and research experience.

Dr. Young also keeps busy with extracurricular activities. He has sat on the Board of Governors and the Senate, the Student Affairs committee, and the Finance committee, to name a few of his campus involvements. He also chaired the Senate Curriculum Committee for three years and is currently the chair of the President's Computer Policy Committee. Dr. Young is a member of the Alumni Association.

Even with all of this on his plate, Dr. Young found time in 1984 to initiate the Student Peer Counselling Program at Saint Mary's, helping many first-year students adjust to university life. CM

Two awarded alumni Science Medals

Each year the Alumni Association welcomes numerous outstanding scholars into its ranks. This year was no exception as 11 students received medals at Convocation.

Among the medal winners were Jenine Arab and Janet Cullinan, both of whom were awarded the Science Medal donated by the Alumni Association.

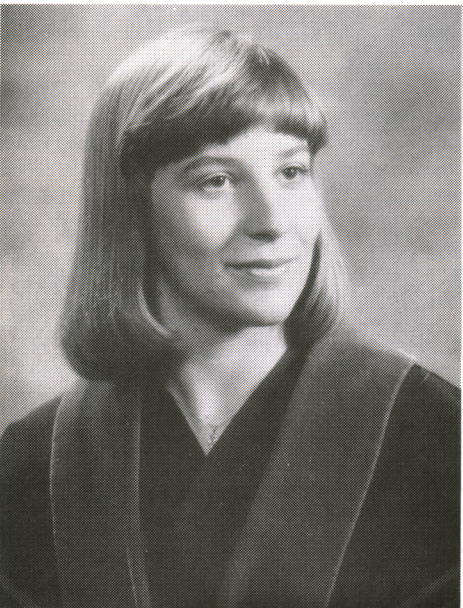

Jenine Arab and Janet Cullinan both graduated from Saint Patrick's High School in Halifax.

Jenine, the daughter of Joseph and Nohad Arab of Halifax, graduated summa cum laude at Convocation with a B.Sc. degree in Biology and Psychology.

Janet, the daughter of Gerald and Margaret Cullinan, graduated summa cum laude with a B.Sc. degree in Biology.

"It's my goal to be able to come home to Nova Scotia and graduate from Saint Mary's."

That's what Martin Gill said in early 1985 when the Saint Mary's Commerce Society set up a trust fund to raise the money for him to return here. Martin severed his spinal cord in a swimming accident in Alberta in the summer of 1983. The accident left him a quadriplegic, in need of expensive special care and equipment.

Martin realized his goal on May 12 when he attended the Convocation ceremonies at the Metro Centre, thanks to the generosity of the Scotia Colts hockey team, who paid for his flight and accommodations.

"It's really great that I got this opportunity to be here for my graduation," says Martin, a native of Dartmouth, N.S. He used the money from the trust fund to help him complete his degree at the University of Alberta, where the special facilities he needed were available.

Martin graduated with a Bachelor of Commerce degree on May 12. As for the future, Martin isn't certain what he'll do next, although he is giving some thought to pursuing a Law degree. GW

Reunion weekend — Classes of 1961, 1976, and 1981

Planning continues for one of the biggest events in recent years! Reunions for the Classes of 1961, 1976, and 1981 are set for October 17, 18, and 19. Reunion committees for each class are working feverishly, organizing an exciting weekend for alumni celebrating their 5th, 10th, and 25th year anniversaries. Events already scheduled are a Huskies vs Mount Allison Mounties football game and the Saint Mary's Alumni Association Dinner.

Take the opportunity to renew friendships and recall good times at your alma mater. Graduates of 1961 may recall the words of the Rev. M.J. O'Donnell, S.J., in his poem "The Graduates' Last Day":

As the graduates seek glory,
Here's their last year in story,
To the end of the term came Charter Day,
At which awards and prizes were given away.
Charlie Leonard voted Man of the Year,
And Berkeley Breen top freshman, I hear.
Athlete of the Year to big blonde Bob,
Lahey's the name, the best of the mob.
Lastly but not least a title to bear,
When to Tony Haynes Actor of the Year.
And so there it is our year in review,
Maybe not all the happenings but at least a few,
From here where we will go it's hard to say,
But we leave SMU with hearts bright and gay.

The good times continued for the classes of '76 and '81. Like the Class of '61, '76 and '81, grads recognized the achievements of their peers at the Residence and Charter Day Banquets. Charter Day 1976 saw Paul Lynch receive Student Leader of the Year accolades; Donald "Taps" Gallagher was awarded the J.J. Hennessy Award for the Outstanding Santamarian; and Silver Ms were presented to Danny McCarthy and Doug McDade.

"United of dreams, of times, of places" was the theme for the 1981 Residence Banquet. Female Don of the Year was Charlene Ramsay, Male Don of the Year was Kenrick Byron and Residence Student of the Year Awards went to Kathy Rogers and Doreen White.

Plan to attend your reunion! Further information on reunion activities will be mailed to you in August. See you there!

Saint Mary's University Alumni Association Annual Dinner

The Annual Dinner will be held again this year at the luxurious World Trade and Convention Centre in downtown Halifax. The Dinner Committee this year is being chaired by Mickey Ryan ('69). Other members are Ken Clahane ('76), Ann Etter ('81), David Hendsbee ('82) and Don Horne ('74, '76). Working along-side committee members are a host of volunteers. Attendance at this year's dinner is expected to exceed 400 people, therefore, mark October 18, 1986 on your calendar as a dinner you won't want to miss. More details will follow in early September.

Ann Etter (B.Comm., '81) and David Hendsbee (B.Comm., '82) are already busy on plans for the 1986 Annual Dinner, to be held in October. Also on the committee are Don Horne (BA, '74, MBA, '76), Mickey Ryan (B.Comm., '69) and Ken Clahane (B.Comm., '76).

Three retirees bid adieu to Saint Mary's

Three long-time employees of the University are retiring this summer. Many alumni of Saint Mary's will remember Stan Spicer, the electrician's assistant who was always on hand to help with electrical repairs, Leo Gargan, the Maintenance Supervisor who kept tabs on the damages and repairs in the residences, and Biology professor Dr. Alfonso Rojo, who has taught at the University since 1961.

Stan Spicer has worked at Saint Mary's since June, 1972, when he was hired as the foreman of a groundskeeping crew of young students. What was then a temporary position turned into a full-time job which lasted for 14 years.

Stan has seen a few changes at Saint Mary's since he started working here in 1972. The thing he finds most striking, though, is the increase in the number of students.

A native of Parrsboro in Cumberland County, Stan is looking forward to his retirement years. He has bought a house in his home town, and he hopes to do a little travelling with his wife of 43 years, perhaps across the country to British Columbia.

"In all my years of working, the years at Saint Mary's have been the best. It has been a grand place to work, and I wish the best to all."

"Leo Gargan has been a mainstay in residence," says Keith Hotchkiss (BA, '73), Director of Student Services.

"He's the fairest, kindest man you'd ever want to meet," Candace Bryson, Assistant Director of Residences, concurs. As Maintenance Supervisor in the residences he oversaw the damage deposit system there and arranged for all manner of repairs.

Political Science professor named Rector of Ukrainian university

After 24 years of teaching at Saint Mary's, Dr. Theodore Ciuciura of the Political Science department will be leaving the University to become Rector of the Ukrainian Free University in Munich. Dr. Ciuciura will assume his new post in September at the small, prestigious graduate school where he studied and taught before coming to Saint Mary's in 1962. As one might expect from a native of Galacia, an area that has at different times been part of Austria, Poland and the Ukraine, Dr. Ciuciura's subject specialty has been "Comparative Government of Western Europe." As the rector of the university, a position that is a combination of Chancellor and the Chair of Senate, he will continue to teach, do research and publish articles. Although Dr. Ciuciura will be working in Munich, he will continue to call Halifax his home, returning for a few months each year. His scholarly influence will continue to be felt at Saint Mary's; he has donated 1000 of his books to the university library. CM

A quiet and modest man, Leo said he wanted to leave Saint Mary's without any fanfare. As for his retirement plans, Keith Hotchkiss says that he's mentioned going fishing in his home town of Terrence Bay.

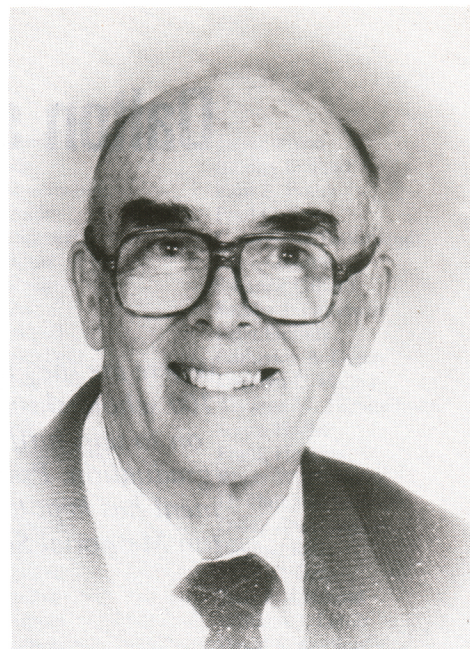

When Alfonso Rojo joined Saint Mary's in 1961 as an assistant professor in the Biology department, he was the whole department.

Biology was in the basement of the McNally building back then, "in a long corridor," Dr. Rojo remembers, and it wasn't until the Science building opened in 1967 that the department finally had the labs and facilities its rapid growth demanded.

Dr. Rojo and his wife, Dr. Enriqueta Unturbe de Rojo, who was hired in the Biology department in 1962, also founded the Spanish department (now called Modern Languages and Classics), and taught two courses in 1962-63.

Many things have changed at Saint Mary's since the early Sixties, Dr. Rojo reflects. "When I started here, there were only about 30 professors. Now there are so many you don't know who anybody is!"

Dr. Rojo expects to stay on at the University to teach one or two courses after his retirement. He also plans to continue his research on the development, evolution and systematics of fresh water fish skeletons. Other pursuits on his agenda include writing (he won third prize for a story he entered in a Spanish writing contest recently), and studying languages (he already speaks Spanish, English, French and Italian, and he is currently taking courses in Greek). GW

Allan Sabean

Long-time Santamarian named Professor Emeritus

Professor Allan Sabean was awarded the rank of Professor Emeritus of the University at Convocation in May.

Many alumni of the University will remember Professor Sabean, who started teaching in the Chemistry department in 1940. When he retired last year after 53 years of association with Saint Mary's, he calculated that he had faced 27,000 pupils in his 45 years of teaching at Saint Mary's and in the airforce reserves.

Professor Sabean is himself an alumnus of Saint Mary's. He earned his B.Sc. from Saint Mary's in 1940, after which he returned to the University to teach. He also found time to study for a Bachelor of Arts degree, which he received in 1943.

As well as teaching chemistry, Professor Sabean also offered a non-credit photography course as part of the University's adult education program. He presented the course over 45 times.

According to the guidelines for the appointment of professors emeriti, "The honorary rank of professor emeritus is awarded, upon or after retirement from full-time active academic duties, to faculty members who have served the University with distinction."

The rank of professor emeritus carries no salary or honorarium, but it does offer certain entitlements, including: full use of the University library facilities; a small office or laboratory as available and on request by the professor emeritus; the right to use of faculty secretarial facilities as available; and the right to apply and be considered for University research and travel funds.

These privileges will bring Allan Sabean back on campus from time to time. After almost 55 years of affiliation with Saint Mary's, perhaps it will be like visiting an old friend. GW

Dalton scholars continue success after graduation

Where are they now? Each year, Saint Mary's University awards close to 100 scholarships to its outstanding scholars. Many of these students go on to win further accolades and reach greater academic heights after graduation. Professor Edward McBride of the Political Science department has kept tabs on some of the alumni who received William J. Dalton Memorial Scholarships through his department. He filed the following report with The Maroon and White.

Alumni who received the Political Science department's William J. Dalton Memorial Scholarship while studying at Saint Mary's have continued to enhance the reputation of the University with their accomplishments after graduation.

Six of the Political Science department's 1986 graduates attended Saint Mary's on Dalton Scholarships this year. Jo-Lynn Durocher (BA, '85, B.Comm., '85), who completed an additional Honours year in Political Science in May, has been awarded a $10,000 fellowship in the Master's of Judicial Administration program at Brock University.

Scott Gillis, a two-time winner of a Dalton Scholarship (1984-85 and 1985-86), also graduated in May with a BA in Political Science, summa cum laude. Scott was one of two recipients of the Faculty of Arts Gold Medal. He has been a sports editor of the Journal, a course assistant to Prof. McBride, and a research assistant for a fellow Dalton Scholar, Randall Balcome, who received the scholarship the first year it was offered. Scott has been accepted to study law at Dalhousie in the fall.

Nick Fader, who also graduated summa cum laude in May, will join Scott at the Dalhousie Law School in September.

Nanette Kwong, who graduated with a B.Comm., magna cum laude, in May, was accepted in the Bachelor of Laws programs at Oxford University and at the London School of Economics. She has chosen to attend Oxford University in September.

Heather Brown, who received her BA magna cum laude in May, will pursue a career in public administration.

Geoff Wilmshurst, who served as student representative in the Political Science department for 1985-86 and graduated cum laude in May, has received a Shandong Scholarship for a year of study in China as part of the University's exchange program with that country.

Cathy Smith, daughter of Kay and the late Laurie Smith and another two-time winner of the Dalton Scholarship (1979-80 and 1980-81), has graduated from the Dalhousie Law School.

While a law student and an articling clerk, Cathy also served as director of the Youth Choir at Saint Thomas Aquinas parish.

Jim MacGillivray, a former Arts Gold Medal winner who also won the Dalton scholarship both in 1979-80 and 1980-81, has graduated from the Dalhousie Law School as well and has been working with the firm of Hewitt, Hewitt, Nesbitt, Reid of Ottawa. Jim's wife, Karen Patrick MacGillivray, a 1980-81 recipient of a Dalton award, was a Norman Patterson Fellow at Carleton University. Her MA thesis, "International Technological Negotiation: A Framework of Analysis," was published in the Dalhousie University Centre for Foreign Policy Studies monograph series. She is now working towards a PhD in Political Science at Dalhousie, under two scholarships.

Pamela Hutt, another 1980-81 Dalton Scholarship recipient, is also a graduate of Dalhousie Law School. She was admitted to the Nova Scotia Bar on August 9, 1985.

Among other previous years' winners, Randall Balcome has received two grants in support of a book about Canadian Supreme Court Justices, on which he is collaborating with Prof. Edward McBride of Saint Mary's, Prof. Wayne MacKay of the Dalhousie Law School, and lawyer Dawn Russell. Mr. Balcome, who practices law with the firm of Taylor, MacLellan and Cochrane, recently argued a leave to appeal hearing before a panel of judges of the Supreme Court of Canada, which comprised Chief Justice Brian Dickson, Mr. Justice Antonio Lamer, and Mr. Justice Gerald LeDain.

Camille Cameron, who along with Randall Balcome was one of the original Dalton Scholarship winners in 1977-78, practices law with Stewart, MacKeen and Covert. She graduated from the University of New Brunswick Law School as a Beaverbrook Fellow. Camille already has several legal publications to her credit.

Brian Downie, who was awarded a Dalton Scholarship in 1978-79, is now a graduate of Dalhousie Law School and is with the firm of Cox, Downie, and Goodfellow. He was among those who attended the reception held by the Saint Mary's Law Society at the Oaks in October in recognition of the cooperation between Saint Mary's and Dalhousie Law School.

Judy Redmond's interest in government and politics was whetted by a trip to Ottawa last year, in the course of which she met Prime Minister Brian Mulroney. Judy is also a 1978-79 Dalton scholar. Her interest in constitutional law was also well served by a visit to the Supreme Court of Canada while it was in session. Since her graduation from Saint Mary's she has been with the Halifax County Social Services department.

Lynn Connors, who held a Dalton Scholarship in 1981-1982 and who is a graduate of Dalhousie Law School, has been accepted to study for the Master of Laws degree at both the London School of Economics and University College, Dublin.

Karen Oldfield, also a Dalton Scholar in 1981-82 and another graduate of the Dalhousie Law School, has articulated with McInnis, Cooper, and Robertson, and will be joining that firm as an associate.

Toni Maioni, another 1981-82 winner, has completed her MA in International Relations at Carleton University, where she was a Norman Patterson Fellow.

Theresa Forgeron, a 1982-83 Dalton recipient, is completing her third year at the Dalhousie Law School. She gave a lecture this spring on the Charter of Rights and the issue of abortion to a group of Professor McBride's students from his Comparative Constitutional Law and Seminar on Public Law courses.

Mark Taylor, brother of Professor Sheila Crooks of the Philosophy department and brother-in-law of Fred Crooks of Cox, Downie, and Goodfellow (who are also both alumni, by the way), will be in his third year of Law School at Dalhousie next year. Mark was a Dalton recipient in 1983-84.

Darlene Jamieson, who was President of the Saint Mary's Political Science Students Association while a Dalton Scholar in 1984-5, has completed her first year at Dalhousie Law School.
