WELCOME TO SAINT MARY'S

For those of you who are newcomers to Saint Mary's University a warm welcome is extended. And to those of you who have been away for the summer or on sabbatical, welcome back.

A number of changes have taken place over the summer, and some of these are mentioned in this edition of THE TIMES. However, we are hampered by a lack of space and time for this particular edition, so we will catch up on all the changes in subsequent issues.

There's an exciting array of events planned for the coming season both in the Arts and Athletics. We'll keep you informed about all these events, as well as the more serious news.

There is currently a Presidential search going on, and sometime during the coming year a new President for Saint Mary's will be named. The new President will take office on July 1st, 1979 when Dr. Carrigan's term ends.

Freedom— And The Problem of Being Human

By Jim Lotz

"I would prefer not to see anyone suffer, not to do harm to anyone. But when I realize that the species is in danger, then in my case sentiment gives way to the coldest reason. I become uniquely aware of the sacrifices that the future will demand to make up for the sacrifices that one hesitates to allow today."

These words have a strange, contemporary ring to them as people with power continue to rationalize their actions by reference to some abstract principle. They were spoken by the late Adolph Hitler as his armies attempted to destroy Leningrad. Dr. John MacCormack quoted them in his keynote address "Freedom and the Human Personality" at the Institute of Human Values conference held on May 18-20 this year. The theme of the conference was "The Freedom of the Human", and much of the current interest in Hitler has been sparked by curiosity over the way in which a whole nation literally handed over its soul to a maniac. At the Conference, Gordon Zahn told of Franz Jagerstatter, an Austrian peasant from a remote area who refused military service under the Nazis, and was beheaded in 1943. He has become a national hero, and an inspiration to the young. But the people in his native village still think he's crazy. Five hundred discussion groups used a TV program based on his life to talk about whether Jagerstatter had done the right thing to protest Hitler's way.

Meanwhile, in North America, "Laverne and Shirley and Happy Days" lead the television ratings while many people are struggling with problems of values. What the American writer Tom Wolfe terms the "Me Generation" insists that the goal of all humans is instant gratification and an individualistic lifestyle. The media relentlessly peddle personalities whose deeds—and misdeeds—are chronicled in great detail. Meanwhile there is increasing concern among the public about the power of the state and its pervasiveness, and about the breakdown of the sense of community in Canada. One speaker at the Conference conjured up the vision of a world filled with cheerful robots who will be manipulated by those in power. The shadow of a "speechless race of touchy-feelies" fell over the conference as the participants tried to grapple with the tensions between the demands of conscience and the demands of society.

In his keynote address, Dr. MacCormack pointed out that there have always been individuals who have bucked the system, and questioned it, not from a sense of egotism or bloody-mindedness, but as a matter of principle. And there have even been rulers who realized the need for correction. "When any of the Yin people are under trial for a crime," said King Ch'eng, an early ruler of China, "if I should tell you to convict, do not convict; if I should tell you to release, do not release. Justice is all." Prophets appointed—and curbed—kings in Israel. Some, of course, were more successful than others. Indeed, prophets never know whether they'll be rewarded or killed when they

New Location and New Name for PR Office

The Public Relations Office has changed its name and moved to new offices. INFORMATION SERVICES is the new name and the new offices are located on the "second" floor of the Administration Building, North Wing, around the corner from the General Office and the Registrar's Office. The new offices are numbered 217 and 216.

The telephone numbers Admin. Loc. 225 and 226 are the same.

Although Information Services is responsible for the University's Public Relations, there is a strong emphasis on disseminating information about the University to the Campus community, the public, the media, and to whomever makes a request. The name Public Relations, it was felt, did not adequately cover the many functions of the office which is unofficially a newsroom, complaint centre, referral service, consulting agency, radio-television studio, publications department, information centre etc., etc.

The Information Office is responsible for publishing THE TIMES, which is usually published on the first day of each month during the academic year. If you have any comments or an article for THE TIMES, please send it to the Editor, Liz Stevens. Deadline is usually one week before the publication date.

invoke something higher than the human as the reference point for justice. Cicero was beheaded in 43 B.C. for questioning the power politics of his time. He claimed that "there are some actions so disgraceful and so criminal that no wise man could perform them even to save his country."

Cicero's words, and his example, have inspired others down through the ages. This idea—that the courageous actions and words of solitary men and women, acting from their consciences, have made tyrants tremble, and given hope to others—emerged again and again at the conference.

Papers at the conference covered a wide range of topics. Julia Ching spoke on "Conscience and Freedom in Ming China", and Arthur Monahan on "John of Paris on Popes and Kings." Yuri Glazov, Chairman of Dalhousie's Russian Department, talked about "Religious Values and Political Dissidence in the Soviet Union." Paul Hanson, in his presentation on "Prophets and Kings in Ancient Israel" indicated that the ancient Israelites had a number of problems with national unity that they resolved by selecting a King to govern them. As Hanson pointed out, by the time of Solomon, the kings were spending a lot of time generating good public relations material, rather than paying attention to God and to His People.

Some interesting nuggets of information came out in the papers and the discussions. Henry VIII had Thomas à Becket's shrine at Canterbury desecrated, his bones ground up, mixed with gunpowder and used to fire a cannon. He also had a large statue of himself cast in bronze; this was melted down by the Parliamentary forces during the Civil War and made into a cannon to fire on the Royalists. Woodrow Wilson sought the advice of a Confucian scholar while setting up the League of Nations. Music made Lenin want to stroke people's heads—so he did not listen to it. More Arabic is spoken in Nova Scotia than Gaelic. The Apache Indians of Arizona became wealthy through timber exploitation, and the heads of some families set fire to their wives and children. German academics at conferences thanked Hitler for helping them to clarify their thoughts. The Soviet Union is the only advanced country that awards the death penalty for offences against property; about 1,000 people have been executed for theft, counterfeiting, etc. since 1961. Bibles smuggled into the Soviet Union sell for the equivalent of three weeks wages for a worker—but this is still less than the price of a pair of blue jeans.

Unfortunately, listening to the papers and the discussions was a bit like eating a bag of marshmallows. You felt bloated, but still hungry. And there was a marked lack of dynamic tension at this conference, unlike the others. Indeed, the only time when people really became uneasy was after Jessie Brown's talk on "Racial Equality: the Testament of Martin Luther King." Rocky Jones, a local Black leader, suggested that violence was a legitimate tactic for achieving change. Jessie Brown stressed non-violent protest, although Martin Luther King once said that "A man who won't die for something is not fit to live." It was hard to tell whether Rocky Jones was talking in abstract or practical terms, and this gets to the heart of the problems of such conferences. There's still a belief in Canada that all our

New from Audio Visual Services

Now that people are beginning to discover that Audio-Visual Services has a camera, photography requests are flowing in. Even before classes have started, several Departments including Mathematics, Education, and Modern Languages, Admissions and the Library Public Services Department have had extensive work done.

During the month of August, Audio-Visual Services has prepared tapes for the Language courses scheduled for the 1978-79 Academic year. Along with the usual courses in French, German, and Spanish, a Chinese course has been prepared.

This year it is the intention of Audio-Visual Services to have an overhead projector and screen in every regularly scheduled classroom on Campus. We hope this year Faculty members will not move overhead projectors from one room to another if their machine becomes defective. Instead, simply call Audio-Visual Services at ext. 218 (Admin.) and a replacement unit will be sent over immediately. This will be done in order that another Faculty member's class is not left without a machine in his room.

problems can be talked, discussed, and studied out of existence.

Dr. MacCormack suggested that, instead of looking for heroes, we should seek the heroic in all men and women. And something slightly heroic did emerge from the conference. Largely because of the concern expressed by Brian Joseph of the College of Cape Breton, a letter was drafted to Leonid Brezhnev protesting the sentence of the Russian dissident Yuri Orlov, and the detention of Andrei Sakharov. About twenty people signed it—as individuals—and not on behalf of the Institute.

I have watched the progress of the Institute over the past three years as I would the first halting steps of a child. Will it stand up and walk tall, or fall flat on its face? Or sit on its bottom and cry? Very little of what was discussed at the Conference would make sense to the average Canadian. The present world, with its discontents and its dilemmas, seemed far away. There were many learned people there who could explain the sources of our discontents. And that's the first step towards resolving them. Laura Thompson summed up the three conferences the Institute has sponsored. She told of the Hopi Indians who have sustained their culture in a harsh environment for over 2,000 years. They don't talk about the ethical basis of their society—they act out their values in songs, dances, stories and art. Unless the academic world of abstracts makes a link with the real world of popular culture, then it's not going to mean much to the average citizen. The future of the Institute was discussed, but nothing much emerged—except for the idea of holding another conference.

Westminster College in London, Ontario, has just established a Centre for Ethics and Human Values. The Institute of Human Values at Saint Mary's started in the pre-Watergate era. President Owen Carrigan noted that it is hard to get people interested in supporting the Institute. Maybe this is because values are seen as abstract matters, of interest only to philosophers and theologians.

But surely it's time to take the concern for values and ethics into the highways and byways of our society, into government offices and the pubs, into the home (via television and radio) and the factory. The Institute has access to a huge pool of knowledge about how the tensions between justice and expediency, between the individual and the state, and between the grip of the past and the demands of the future can be handled in a positive manner, and with a respect for the integrity and freedom of the human.

Somehow, we have to create a "We Generation" in Canada, based on ethical and moral concerns. The time is ripe for this—will the Institute rise to the challenge? The last words in this article and on this matter belong to a philosopher, Ludwig Wittgenstein:

"... what is the use of studying philosophy if all that it does for you is to enable you to talk with some plausibility about some abstruse questions of logic, etc., and it does not improve your thinking about the important questions of everyday life..."

School of Journalism Approved for Regina

The University of Regina will offer the only degree program in journalism in Western Canada starting in the 1978-79 academic year. Although details of the curriculum are not final, a feasibility study committee has recommended that the program include two years of liberal arts, two years of professional concentration in the School of Journalism and four months of supervised internship or work study in the field.

The Twenty-Second Edition (May 1978) of the List of University Institutions in the Commonwealth is now available. The List gives full postal addresses plus the personal names of the executive heads of universities and of the officer at each to whom general enquiries should be addressed. Three hundred institutions are listed.

1978 Fun in the Sun Picnic

Bayswater Beach was the site, July 26th was the date, and the scene was the Saint Mary's University Fun in the Sun Picnic. Games, food, and laughter were the main items on the agenda and the one hundred people who attended added a lot of enthusiasm to make the afternoon a definite success. Even the weather co-operated with a bright, sunny day.

The races brought many aspiring young athletes to the forefront and even the parents shared their place in the spotlight when they rose to the occasion and joined in the races. In the eight and under category, John Hum and Tracy Stone finished first in the boys' and girls' fifty yard dashes; the teamwork of Marie Weeren and Angela Cooper earned them a first place finish in the eight and under mixed three-legged race; and Dean Totten and Marie Weeren completed the boys' and girls' backcrawl races in front of the pack. Twelve and under mixed one hundred yard dash was won by Tony Hum.

The serious fun began with the mens' and womens' races and a few unceremonious falls shattered the hopes of many a promising champion, much to the amusement and delight of the spectators. The duos of Dermot Mulrooney-Johann Coppernan and Beth Hunter-Gwen Pace crossed the finish line well ahead of the crowd in the three-legged races, Johann Coppernan and Gwen Pace stole the show in the potato sack races, and Dan Stone and Sherry Conrad had the fastest times in the suitcase races. Mugs, frisbees, and ribbons were presented to the winners, and the fifty dollar lobster draw went to Beth Hunter.

Plenty of food was available throughout the afternoon with potato chips, candy, pop, cake, cookies, seafood chowder, and hotdogs on the menu. A.G. Brown & Sons, Choats Ltd., and Saga Foods supplied several of the above items.

When the dust had settled at Bayswater and all Santamarians had departed for home base, the general consensus was that the afternoon was a fun-filled, and activity-packed picnic; and that everyone would return again next year.

Christian Brothers to Present Plaque

The Christian Brothers of Ireland will present a plaque to Saint Mary's University to commemorate the twenty-seven years of service given to the University by the Congregation. The plaque will later be erected in the foyer of the Edmund Rice Residence, the building named after the Founder of the Christian Brothers, Edmund Ignatius Rice.

The Presentation ceremony is scheduled for Thursday, September 21 at 8:00 p.m. in the Theatre Auditorium. Addresses for the occasion will be delivered by Dr. Owen Carrigan, Brother G.R. Bellows, provincial superior, and Judge Peter O'Hearn. The plaque will be accepted by Archbishop James M. Hayes, Chancellor of the University.

All Saint Mary's alumni are invited and especially those who attended during the time of the Brothers' administration, that is, between 1913 and 1940. Present students and members of the public will also be welcome. It is hoped that the evening will provide an opportunity for the Saint Mary's community, friends and neighbours to meet and for all to show their appreciation for the contributions of the Christian Brothers to Saint Mary's University.

The Brothers will be represented that evening by Br. Edmund R. Kiely, former Dean of Engineering; Br. Edward C. O'Connor, class of 1930; and Br. James C. Bates, class of 1939.

Refreshments will be served following the ceremony.

Dr. Beazley Honoured

In July it was announced by Archbishop James M. Hayes that Dr. Harold G. Beazley had been honoured by Pope Paul VI for outstanding service to the Catholic Church. Dr. Beazley was awarded the Papal Medal Pro Ecclesia et Pontifice (for the Church and Pontiff).

Archbishop Hayes had recommended that Dr. Beazley and two other members of the Archdiocese of Halifax, John E. Lynch and Sister Margaret Flahiff, be given special recognition by the supreme authority in the Catholic Church.

"All three have dedicated a lifetime to Catholic education and by their teaching and the example of their lives have been an inspiration to generations of students," Archbishop Hayes said.

He praised them especially for their deep faith and commitment to the whole church through their work among the local Catholic community.

Harold G. Beazley is a native and life-long resident of Dartmouth. He is a graduate of Saint Mary's University and did graduate work at Harvard University. His professional life has been spent at Saint Mary's in the field of accounting and business administration. He began teaching here in 1936 and was Dean of Commerce for nearly thirty years. When he resigned that post in 1972, he continued as a professor in the same faculty.

He is a member of St. Peter's parish and has also served as a member of the diocesan executive of the Holy Name Society.

The presentation to Dr. Beazley by Archbishop Hayes will be made Sunday, September 10 at St. Mary's Basilica.

Study Skills Program

There is no "one" study method which is the best for all people. Rather, different techniques "work" for different students. The goal of the study skills program is to suggest alternative approaches and techniques and have you try them out. You will be encouraged to adopt those techniques that work for you, and drop those that do not. The study skills program will be beneficial to you only to the degree that you honestly try out the principles and procedures suggested.

The program consists of two videotaped sessions and four sound-slide presentations as outlined below:

1. Efficiency as a Student
2. Self-control Strategies
3. How to Survive in School:
Note-taking and Outlining Skills
4. Effective Thinking: Ways of Problem Solving
5. Communication Skills—Reading: Making Judgements and Drawing Conclusions
6. The Research Paper Made Easy: From Assignment to Completion

A $10.00 deposit is required which can be earned back by finishing the sessions within a three-week time period and completing a questionnaire. Actual session work is done on an individual basis in the Multi-Media Centre (3rd floor, Library). Your contact there is Mr. Bob Atkinson.

Pre-program introduction, discussion etc. is carried out with Sandra Little (4th floor Student Centre).

About Our Crest . . .

The present University crest was designed in the 1940's by Daniel Fogarty, S.J. Each symbol within the crest has a significance relevant to the various phases and history of the University.

On the outer portion of the crest the name and location of the University are inscribed in Latin and the founding date (1841) in Roman numerals. This part is added for the official seal.

The book shown above the shield represents learning and knowledge. The inscription on the page of the book is in Latin—"Age Quod Agis". This is the motto of the University which exhorts all those connected with the University to strive to do their best in everything that they do. This quotation was borrowed from the Irish Christian Brothers and represents their contribution to the development of the University.

The upper part of the shield has the official seal of the Jesuits with I.H.S. being the Latin initials for Christ's name. Below these initials are the three nails which represent the Crucifixion and surrounding these is the Crown of Thorns.

The two crowns represent a dual loyalty—to the then Dominion of Canada and to the British Commonwealth. Below these crowns is the thistle, which stands for Nova Scotia's Scottish origin.

Health Services Notice

What Is A Student?

A STUDENT is the most important person in our university.

A STUDENT is not an interruption of our work—he is the purpose of it.

A STUDENT is a necessary part of our business—he is not an outsider.

A STUDENT is not a cold statistic—he is a flesh and blood human being with feelings and emotions like yours and mine.

A STUDENT is a person who brings his needs—it is our privilege to fill those needs.

A STUDENT is deserving of our most courteous and attentive treatment.

A STUDENT is full partner in our effort to cultivate wisdom through knowledge.

A STUDENT is the life blood of this and every university.

Careers-Education Day

The Canada Manpower Centre on Campus in conjunction with the International Association For Students of Economics and Commerce will be holding a Careers-Education Day in the Collonade at Saint Mary's University on Thursday, October 5 from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

A similar day was held last year and proved to be very successful. Students and employers have asked that this event be repeated this year.

Fifty companies and other organizations have been invited to participate. They will represent a wide variety of possible career choices.

Students will be able to find out firsthand what educational requirements, degrees, courses, etc., will be necessary if they plan on seeking employment, upon graduation, in any particular field.

Further information and a list of confirmed participants will be supplied shortly and will be posted throughout the Campus.

Any help, suggestions or ideas as to how to improve representation from neglected career areas would be welcomed by the Canada Manpower Centre on Campus.

Personnel Files of Faculty Members

At the annual meeting of the Canadian Association of University Teachers held last May in Ottawa, the governing Council adopted a policy on the personnel files of faculty members. This has been the subject of considerable debate within CAUT over the past decade.

Two separate proposals were presented to the Council, one by the Academic Freedom and Tenure Committee suggesting that grievors should have access to their personnel files, including any assessment that had been sought by the university, the other from the Collective Bargaining Committee urging that grievors should have access to their personnel files, including any assessments, with the names of the authors removed but supplied to the arbitrators of the grievance.

The delegates from Trent urged the Council to accept the view that anonymity did not guarantee candour but frequently maliciousness and that only openness could guarantee an honest view. Furthermore, he suggested that anonymity was inconsistent with the CAUT's support of freedom of information legislation. In a series of straw votes, no one was prepared to vote for the existing policy of CAUT, namely that the summaries should be supplied along with the list of the referees.

After considerable debate, the Council endorsed the view of the Academic Freedom and Tenure Committee, namely that assessments and their authorship should be available to individuals involved in a grievance case. In addition, the Council adopted a document dealing with other aspects of personnel files, including anonymous material, libellous entries, the right to correct and add material, the confidentiality of the records, particularly medical records in relation to third parties inside or outside the university, and destruction of letters of reprimand after a period of time.

The challenge of "Managing for Change" in a variety of library settings was the theme of the 69th Annual Conference of the Special Libraries Association held in Kansas City, Missouri, June 11th - 15th. Over 3,000 delegates focused their attention on how librarians can develop and enhance their effectiveness in a change-oriented, information-based society. Joan Moore, Head of Public Services, represented the Patrick Power Library at this conference.

ATLANTIC PROVINCES LIBRARIANS MEET

Six Saint Mary's University Library Staff members were among the 232 delegates who attended the 39th annual conference of the Atlantic Provinces Library Association held at Dalhousie University May 5th - 7th. The conference program included nine workshops covering such topics as automated cataloguing, unionization, Statistics Canada, computerized literature searching as well as business committee meetings and an Awards Banquet.

DIALOG UPDATE

Joan Moore attended UPDATE '78, the Fifth Annual Dialog User's Conference held in Kansas City June 9th and 10th. This conference provides a forum to address the administrative aspects of computerized literature searching and an opportunity for contact between the data base producers and the users. Topical sessions consisting of case studies of searches provided a forum for the exchange of techniques for multi data base searching.

SEARCH NEW YORK TIMES BY COMPUTER

The Patrick Power Library now has on-line access to the complete New York Times Information Bank. The data base contains 1.5 million abstracts of news stories, articles, essays, surveys and other material published in the Late City Edition of the New York Times newspaper and other newspapers and periodicals. Abstracts of Canadian items are being added to the file at a rate of 1,000 abstracts per month. If you would like to have a search done please call Doug Vaisey or Suzanne Janes (Ext. 187) or inquire at the Information Desk.

LIBRARY INSTRUCTION SESSIONS

The Library offers instruction to students who will be required to use the Library to complete a class assignment. On request, we will tailor a session to the needs of your class and guide your students to the most useful sources of information related to the assignment. If you have any questions about library instruction sessions or if you want to arrange a session for your class, please inquire at the Information Desk or call extension 187.

EDMONTON CONFERENCE

The Canadian Library Association's annual conference was held June 15-22 in Edmonton, Alberta. Members of the library staff in attendance were Jane Archibald, Marilyn Murphy, and Lloyd Melanson. Plenary sessions, and workshops explored topics illustrating the conference theme, "Strategies for change; developing support for growth".

M. Murphy attended a two-day workshop on Library Networks and resource sharing. Panel discussions covering both the theoretical and practical sides of the resource sharing were featured. Dr. Gerhard Munthe, national librarian of Norway, analysed library networks in Scandinavia.

Lloyd Melanson attended the workshop on current issues in indexing and abstracting at which the latest plans for the development of international standards for a thesaurus of controlled vocabulary indexing were discussed.

J. Archibald participated in a lively and interesting workshop on management conducted by Herbert S. White of Indiana State University.

AND MORE . . .

During the summer Jane Archibald was promoted to the rank of Librarian 2 and Joan Moore was promoted to the rank of Librarian 3.

Joan Moore, Head of Public Services, began a three-year term as treasurer of the Atlantic Provinces Library Association in May.

Joan Moore, Head of Public Services, Patrick Power Library, and Patricia Burt, Information Service, Dalhousie University Library presented a workshop on "On-line Services" at the 69th Annual Conference of the Atlantic Provinces Library Association held in Halifax May 5th-7th.

Secretaries Take Note

The Halifax-Dartmouth Chapter of the National Secretaries Association (International) will host its annual seminar this year on Saturday, September 30, 1978 at the Hotel Nova Scotian in Halifax.

Mr. Clay Hardesty, Director of the Southern Institute in Malmo, Sweden, and Manager, Program Development for Industrial Education Films of Bronxville, New York and Dayton, Ohio, will lead the seminar in addressing registrants on his topic "Improving Face to Face Communications."

Mr. Hardesty's program will be dealing with such items as: blocks to female advancement, transition to manager, listening, oral and written communications, responsibility and authority, teamwork with your boss, understanding yourself and people, motivating people, creative thinking, management of time and self-development reading.

For more than 20 years, Mr. Hardesty has been training people in practical managing techniques. Most of his work has been with middle and top management and with upper echelon secretaries. As training officer in the U.S. Naval Reserves, he has trained thousands of military and civilian management and supervisory personnel. He has served as trainer or consultant to many of the largest industrial organizations, engineering firms, insurance companies, banks and utility firms, including Monsanto, Honeywell, IBM, RCA, Bell Telephone and Western Union. Mr. Hardesty has also conducted several seminars for NSA Chapters in the United States.

Any person interested in learning how to improve their face to face communications on the job—managers, administrative assistants, supervisors, secretaries, clerks and typists—is urged to register for this most profitable seminar.

Non-members of the National Secretaries Association are welcome to register at a fee of $30. Registration will begin at the Hotel Nova Scotian at 8:00 a.m. on September 30, 1978.

Following registration, Nicole Shayer, President of the Halifax-Dartmouth Chapter, will welcome those in attendance. The 1978 Seminar Chairman, Linda Broom, will conduct the introductions followed by the first morning session with Mr. Hardesty. A buffet luncheon, which is included in registration, will be served after which the afternoon session will begin.

At the completion of the afternoon session, announcements will be made and registrants will have an opportunity to view the exhibits throughout the day.

New Accountant in Business Office

Ronald L. Cochrane has joined Saint Mary's as Chief Accountant.

He graduated from Saint Mary's in 1970 with a Bachelor of Commerce degree, majoring in Accounting.

Mr. Cochrane has worked since graduation with Amey and Levy Chartered Accountants, and at the Atlantic Head Office of Suntract Rentals.

He is presently enrolled in the Certified General Accountants program majoring in Controllorship. He plans to complete the CGA program in the 1978 / 79 course year.

His main responsibilities include the proper functioning of all accounting systems and controls, as well as the day-to-day operation of the Business Office.

Mr. Cochrane lives in Dartmouth with his wife, Carol, and young son.

New Personnel Officer

Personnel officer, Dan Stone and family at the Fun in the Sun Picnic

Daniel G. Stone has been appointed personnel officer for Saint Mary's University.

A native of Halifax, Mr. Stone has been employed with the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation in Halifax for the past 17 years. He has been a Departmental Assistant in the Human Resources Department, and Acting Personnel Officer for the CBC's Maritime Region. His main responsibilities in the Corporation have included Job Evaluation Analyst and Salary Administration.

Educated in Halifax city schools, Mr. Stone has attended Saint Mary's University in the Continuing Education Program. He has received certificates in "Effective Supervision—Human Relations"; "Personnel Administration"; "Current Personnel Problems"; "Organizational Behaviour"; and "Industrial Relations". He has also received a Certificate from Humber College of Applied Arts and Technology for specific courses in "Management Development".

"At the age of 35, after so many years with the CBC, which I've enjoyed," says Mr. Stone, "it's a big step to make a move."

"But in a corporation the size of the CBC the higher you move in the Personnel area, the less contact you have with people, and you're usually transferred out of the Region."

"My main interests are working with people, and I have loyalties to this Region—the Maritimes; it's my home. I have some loyalties for Saint Mary's. I've gone here as a student and I've watched it grow."

Mr. Stone is a member of the YMCA's Board of Directors. He lives in Fairview with his wife, Judy, and two daughters.

International Education Centre Plans Major Multicultural Project

By Dr. Bridglal Pachai

One of the outstanding realities on the Canadian scene is the considerable contribution of its immigrant population who comprise the Canadian nation. This contribution began well before Confederation and has grown in depth and variety since then. It led to the birth and consolidation of a nation which drew its strength from the distant corners of the globe, bringing to Canada different colours, cultures, talents, languages and religions. In a real sense, then, this contribution to nation building by individuals and groups over many decades is the story and the glory of the Canadian experience.

There is, however, another side to this situation: the story and the glory are not known, documented, published or otherwise available as they deserve to be. In many ways this is a serious omission in our Canadian experience and direction. Like silent or anonymous partners, many nation builders have done their work and left the scene unrecorded and unrecognized. Our Canada of tomorrow will be the poorer for our neglect of our Canadians of today and yesteryear.

There is, therefore, an urgent and pressing necessity to record the past for a better and informed awareness of the present and a more confident and harmonious encounter with the future. With that end in mind, the International Education Centre at Saint Mary's University, with support from provincial and federal governments and governmental and non-governmental agencies, has embarked on a program of collecting material which will eventually lead to ethnocultural studies and publications on various groups and communities at the local, regional, national and international levels.

The first areas identified for study in this program are the Irish, Jewish, and East Indian communities of the Atlantic provinces. The contribution and history of these communities represent three important elements in the Canadian experience. Yet the contributions and histories of these peoples in Atlantic Canada are only little known. The program envisages, among other things, the following:

1. Identification and collection of individual and family records or archives in a comprehensive way as to show arrival, settlement, activities, family histories, public life, contributions to local, regional, national and international events and undertakings.
2. Collection of letters, diaries, photographs, newspaper cuttings, literature, and other information or data.
3. Development of lists of individuals, institutions, clubs, societies and related subjects.
4. Compilation of the names and addresses of individuals and institutions which may be contacted for help in the program.

The Centre will utilize the resources of Saint Mary's University, and work in tandem with the fast-growing and popular degree program at the University in Atlantic Canada Studies.

The International Education Center also hopes to generate community interest and support in this venture which will serve to promote scholarship and mutual tolerance in the spirit of multi-culturalism. As Director of the International Education Centre, and a historian with interest in the promotion of ethnic and multicultural studies, I will be honoured to receive responses to this article. Interested readers are invited to write to me at Saint Mary's University, Halifax, Nova Scotia, B3H 3C3 (phone 902-422-7361).

We hope to begin immediately with the collection of material. I will be pleased to speak to individuals and groups from September onwards so as to mark the serious beginnings of an endeavour which will not only bring credit to several deserving communities but serve to strengthen the cultural mosaic which stands as a testimony to the Canadian experience and commitment.

Problems in Residence—The Concern of Students

By Keith Hotchkiss, Director of Residences

Residence life is a valuable experience but it is not without its difficulties. Fire alarms, damage, and vandalism have been a concern, and while the Residence Office Staff has sought new ways to combat it, the chief power to put an end to it is in the hands of the student.

All residents are familiar with the frequency of false alarms and while the noise itself can be mildly infuriating at 3:00 in the morning, the repercussions can be disastrous. We become so used to the alarms that we begin to ignore them—a potential hazard during a real fire.

Students can do their part by being aware of the dangers, by reporting any missing fire equipment on their floors, and by reporting any misuse of fire equipment to the Residence Office.

The Residence Office will do its part by informing students of fire procedure and having frequent fire drills throughout the year. Residence Dons will receive some fire training during their orientation program. It will be stressed that tampering with fire equipment is a federal offence and will be treated as such. Students caught pulling fire alarms are subject to dismissal from the Residences and the University. Our neighbours here at Saint Mary's, the people who live "next door" can be our friends if we're considerate. Treat them the same way you treat your neighbours at home, and you'll get the same kind of co-operation.

Damage to the Residences has been considerable over the years; this includes theft of furniture, damaged walls, and abuse of elevators, and the loss and destruction of window screens.

Thousands of dollars have been spent by the University giving the Residences a clean, fresh look in the hope that students will feel even more at home here. Hen Alley has been completely refurbished and looks bright and clean with its new facelift. Many of the apartments in the Rice Residence have been refurbished with more to be done this fall. All hallways and doors have been repainted in both the Rice and Loyola Residences. Coeds will be pleased with the new carpets in the lounges of Vanier House, and the carpet in the elevator lobbies on each floor in the Loyola Residence has been replaced with quarry tile.

The impetus is now with future Residence students to realize that the Residence is "home" for a number of years and to treat it as such. They might find too that savings made now with a reduction of damage can be passed on to them in the future with smaller increases in Residence fees.

Of course the Residence Office staff will continue to instill a sense of pride in students for their Residences and continue programs to make it a rich and rewarding experience. On the same token, the staff will be much stricter with offenders who destroy University property. A new system for damage control is in the making, not only for prompt repairs but for immediate disciplinary action as well. A close inventory will be kept of window screens this year and students removing a screen can expect a $50.00 fine with only 24 hours to pay up.

Residence students are asked to be concerned and to help make the Residences a better place to live.

Athletic Unions Amalgamate

In June 1978, the two national sport governing bodies, namely the Canadian Intercollegiate Athletic Union (C.I.A.U.) and the Canadian Women's Intercollegiate Athletic Union (C.W.I.A.U.) were amalgamated into a new entity to be known as the Canadian Interuniversity Athletic Union (C.I.A.U.). This amalgamated group will henceforth be responsible for all intercollegiate sports in Canada for both men and women.

At the inaugural meeting, Saint Mary's Registrar, Elizabeth Chard, was elected vice-president of the new C.I.A.U. In this capacity, Mrs. Chard will be primarily responsible for the two women's programmes in field hockey and women's basketball as well as sitting on the C.I.A.U. Executive and Board of Directors.

At this same meeting in Ottawa, June 5-9, 1978, Director of Student Services, Robert Hayes, was re-elected President of the Canadian Association of Universities Athletic Directors (C.A.U.A.D.), an organization which will have a vital role to play in ensuring that the amalgamation of the C.W.I.A.U. and the C.I.A.U. operates successfully.

Ready, Set, Go!!

Seems like it was only last weekend when we all jammed into the Metro Centre to share in the action of one of the most thrilling victories Saint Mary's has ever known. Yet, the 1977-78 C.I.A.U. Basketball Championships were five months ago, and the 78-79 athletic season is only days away.

What the new season will bring to the south-end campus is yet to be decided, and many questions will remain unanswered until the year end. Will the Football Huskies return to their old form to again dominate the Atlantic conference? Will the Field Hockey Belles successfully defend their A.U.A.A. Championship? Will the Soccer Huskies live up to pre-season expectations for a banner year? The Hockey Huskies—can they replace their graduated players to build another title contender? Can the Basketball Belles use their experience to rise to the top of the intercollegiate ladder? And, the Basketball Huskies—will they put it all together when it's most needed to capture their second consecutive national crown? With so many puzzles to be solved, the year promises to be a very interesting and exciting one. Spectators will not want to miss the 78-79 campaign with so much potential waiting to be unleashed.

The field hockey and soccer schedules open September 20th when the Belles host the Acadia Axettes at 4:00 p.m. and the Huskies travel to Wolfville to challenge the Axemen. September 10th is the date and Huskies Stadium the site of the Second Annual High School and College Football Tournament. The Football Huskies then take on the Mount Allison Mounties September 30th to open their home schedule. Hockey and basketball seasons begin in October and both teams will travel a long road before their schedules close in March. All coaches are busy preparing their teams, and all indications point toward a year full of memories to be cherished years later.

Why not join the fun and participate in the 78-79 campaign to the top? Call Debi Woodford at ext. 196 (Admin.) for sports information, and Roy Clements at ext. 149 (Admin.) for ticket information.
