

Students unite in protest against lack of campus social functions

LYNNE TERRIS
Staff Writer

The absence of variety in campus entertainment has sparked a reaction from students who feel that because of this, they are being alienated from the student body.

Forty-five of these students met Thursday to discuss means of broadening the scope of entertainment.

Presently, entertainment is limited to weekend liquor functions.

During the meeting, the express reasons for student discontent came primarily from first year residence students.

Criticism was levelled at the small number of campus social functions as well as the type of functions provided.

"We go to classes, eat supper and then sit in our rooms," said Janie Gourley, "because there is nothing else to do."

Another first year student, Ann Duckett, explained the position of new students from outside the Halifax area.

"We don't know anyone and the only way to meet people is at bashes. How do you meet people if you are under 19?" she asked.

Director of entertainment Jay Casey agreed with the students' criticisms, explaining that he is interested in developing variety in social functions.

"The reason," he said, "for the absence of different social functions is that I don't have anyone to help me and it's too much for one person to handle."

An entertainment committee was then formed. Its purpose is to come up with fresh ideas for entertainment and to assist Casey in organizing campus functions.

Members of the new committee are Patty McGovern, Rick Bannon, Marie Sampson, Ann Duckett, Mike Connolly, Janie Gourley and Gary Clark.

The students called for a meeting of the student body to determine and discuss the type of campus entertainment and functions in which most students are interested.

Frisbee tournaments, marathons, coffee houses, day trips for hiking, canoeing, and horseback riding, mystery bus tours and community projects were among the alternatives suggested at the Thursday meeting.

The general meeting will take place Tuesday, October 22nd at 7:30 p.m. in the Multi-purpose Room. All students are requested to attend.

CHAVEZ TO VISIT HALIFAX

MAUREEN KELLERMAN

Cesar Chavez, the internationally known spokesman for the United Farm Workers Union will be in Halifax on Wednesday, October 23rd.

In 1962 Chavez began organizing farmworkers in the US to change their degrading working conditions and deplorable exploitation by grape growers.

The workers, usually Mexican-Americans began strikes in 1965. In 1970, after five years of picketing and a long and successful boycott of table grapes, the growers signed a contract with the United Farm Workers.

However, when the contract expired three years later the growers refused to negotiate with the UFW and signed contracts with the Teamsters Union.

The farm workers have demonstrated overwhelmingly that they wish to be represented by the UFW.

The union represents a grass roots movement that gives thousands of powerless people an opportunity to fight for their basic human rights and improve their lives through collective action.

A massive consumer boycott of US table grapes and head lettuce has been organized by the United Farm Workers in an attempt to bring pressure on the growers.

Chavez's visit to Halifax on October 23rd is part of the fight to gain social, political, and economic justice for the farm workers.

He will speak to church leaders in the morning and visit supermarkets and make TV appearances during the day.

Chavez will also speak to the public at 8:00 p.m., Wednesday, October 23rd in the McInnes Room at Dal.

"lacks student input"

Commission studies universities

Mary Beth Wallace
Staff Writer

SRC President John Stuart is dissatisfied with the format of a Commission investigating the organization and functions of universities in the Maritime Provinces.

Stuart feels the joint commission, established in 1973 by the Maritime Council of Premiers, is a good idea.

"This is an indication on the part of the Government to put forward a concentrated effort to solve the education problem" he said.

However, Stuart feels more student input to the commission is necessary.

At present there are fifteen members on the commission. 5 are government members; 5 are from the public-at-large; and 5 are university appointed.

One of the first goals of the commission is to visit the Maritime universities. These tours are aimed at acquainting university officials with the commission while providing the commission members with a knowledge of Maritime university facilities.

The first tour was to Mount Allison University on October 4. There were no students included in the official party.

Prompted by lack of student representation, Stuart wrote Hon W. Gillis,

N.S. Minister of Education; Hon Alex Campbell, Premier of Prince Edward Island; Hon Richard Hatfield, Premier of New Brunswick and the Maritime Council of Premiers requesting official student input into "policies which determine their existence."

In his letter to Mr. Gillis, Stuart said he viewed the lack of student representation as a direct insult to the student population.

"Since they are the partial financiers of the commission and the re-ipients of its results, they must be considered part of the community of interest."

Stuart told the JOURNAL that when contacted, both Mr. Gillis and Mr. Campbell "tried to pass the buck."

If you've spent the last few years learning the business of money management, we'd like to talk to you about managing some of ours.

We're Northern Electric, and if you've been assessing the Canadian business scene with an eye to pinpointing your first career move, you may already know quite a bit about us. Growth that's been called almost explosive. Telecommunications product development that's been termed fantastic.

We are on the move and to maintain this momentum, we need more talented people.

You see, as big and booming as we are, we know we've hardly touched the surface. There's a whole world waiting for better means of communication. South lies the giant American market; East, the challenging European Common Market and West, a Pacific Rim potential so big we can't even measure it. We've already established effective bases in these markets, but to be as big a part of them as we want to be, requires sound financial planning.

So we need people — ambitious and enthusiastic finance and accounting graduates who can be as creative with money as our engineers are with telecommunications technology.

Of course, our standards are high. But then, so are the financial rewards and career securities for Commerce graduates who can help us achieve our goals. If what we offer appears to match what you want, talk to your Campus Placement Officer. And the way we're moving, today would be a good day to do it.

Octoberfest Events

NEIL SAMPSON
Staff Writer

The 1974 version of St. Mary's University Octoberfest gets underway Thursday, Octoberfest 74, and judging from the schedule, it should be a huge success.

Thursday's activities begin in the traditional fashion, with a big beer bash in the Gym. 'The Bards' will provide the music, which is similar to that of 'Ryan's Fancy.' The Bards, an Irish ballad group are presently touring Canada with popular Irish singer Tommy Makem.

The bash begins at nine and continues until one. There will be a 'Happy Hour' from eight to nine. Admission is $2.00 for SMU students and $2.50 for their guests. The first 400 people admitted to the bash will get a free Alpine hat. The Gym only holds 600 bodies so get in line early.

Day Two of Octoberfest is one of the busiest days of the seven day festival. Beginning at 3:30 and continuing until 7:30 p.m., the Bards will provide a concert-bash in the Gym. Because the event extends over dinner hour, sauerkraut and weiners will be served as the afternoon progresses. Admission is $2.00 and $2.50. The first 200 will receive an Alpine hat.

The practice field is the scene for the next event of the day which is the "Big Ball Game." Game time is scheduled for 7:00 p.m. The game is commonly referred to as 'Mugmee.' What happens is that each of the Residences on campus challenge each other. Once you have two teams you then take the biggest rubber ball you can find and place it in the center of the field. Each team then tries to get the ball over onto their opponents side.

The game is easy and sounds like fun and in the end, one residence will have the prestigious honor of being the first ever 'Mugmee Bowl' champion.

Friday evening takes us to the Gym where we will have 'school talent in concert.' Skits, and song and dance routines will all be featured in Talent Night, which offers a $100.00 prize for the best display of amateur artistry.

Those who attended the afternoon bash will get into the event free; all other will be charged $1.00.

On Saturday at 1:30 our St. Mary's Huskies take on the UPEI Panthers in their last home football game of the regular season.

At 8 p.m. our St. Mary's Huskies (hockey version) play host to the Sir George Williams University Georgians in their first game of the season.

The Georgians, who last season edged out the Huskies in their bid for the nationals, are the CIAU National Runners-up, but this is a new year and an entirely different ball-game. Come to the the Halifax Forum and cheer your team on to a win in what promises to be a great game.

Meanwhile, back at St. Mary's, 'Terry Dee's Flying Circus' will be in attendance in the Gym. The group played here last year and have been described as, "the best group to perform at St. Mary's all year." In the Gym prior to the bash there will be a 'Happy Hour.'

Day Four offers something different in entertainment. 'Taps' will be DJ for a record hop in the SUB cafeteria. The 50¢ admission will not only get you in the door, but a sundae and pop as well.

Monday is St. Andrew's Day and St. Mary's is celebrating it all day. There are events and activities scheduled in The Gorsebrook.

Tuesday has been selected as a 'break' day from the week-long festivities.

On Wednesday everyone is invited to come to the Multi-purpose Room, when at 10:00 p.m. the Octoberfest committee brings you 'Horror in the Useless Room!'

Horror movies will be shown until dawn. What a great way to start Hallowe'en, and it only costs $1.00.

Thursday, is The day and St. Mary's is going all out. The evening starts at 'The Lighthouse' at 6:00 p.m. At 8:00 p.m. there will be a 'Torch-lite' parade from there to the Multi-purpose Room where The Everyday People will perform. Costumes are truly a must.

Chairman Bruce Ross and his committee have spent a substantial amount of time and effort in preparing Octoberfest and they are to be complimented.

The main idea Ross is trying to convey, "participation, something we sure can stand." All we have to do is "DO IT!!!"

editorial

You will recall that two weeks ago students complained about insects found in their noontime meal. A Health Dept. analyst has since identified the insects as 'sawtooth grain beetles.'

Tasty.

This particular species is not known to carry bacteria such that they constitute a health hazard.

Wonderful.

Saga Foods Manager Spencer Green feels that nothing can be done to upgrade the food service in the Residence cafeteria.

Any food service becomes 'old' after a time, but that is not the primary object of students' complaints.

The inedible extras are the major cause of recent complaints, and it is a sad state of affairs when a student cannot walk into the cafeteria confident that the food being served is free of staples (wire variety), scotch tape, hair, insects, pieces of cooking utensils and cardboard.

According to Green, there are many factors contributing to the present standard of food service, the most important being the cafeteria staff.

While a staff, adequate in terms of numbers, has been recruited class schedules disrupt continuity of shift schedules to the point where as few as eight students will be working during a meal period when at least 15 are required.

Combine an overworked staff with unnecessary budget expenses because of food wastage and lack of student cooperation in keeping the cafeteria clean and you have our present situation.

As is usually the case, the initiative must come from the students. Until such time as a concentrated effort is made to recruit and organize an adequate staff, students show consideration in keeping the cafeteria clean, and stop wasting food, the situation will remain as it is.

And as long as you are content to pick the staples and hair out of your food and meekly return an insect-ridden dinner plate to the kitchen, you are getting the quality of service you deserve.

Dear Editor;

I would like to make a further remark on the article in the October 7th issue of the JOURNAL.

When talking to staff writer Neil Sampson I had emphasized my thanks to Mr. Richard Ratcliffe; which was left out of the article.

I was short on money for this term so I applied for a don's position. Although not receiving the position as stated in the JOURNAL, I did receive a job as desk clerk.

Without this extra money I would have been in bad shape, so thanks again Dick!

MOVIE REVIEW

MR. MAJESTYK

BRUCE MARSHALL

Mr. Majestyk is interested in just one thing: trying to harvest his bumper crop of melons. When a neighbor tries to interfere, he fights back and ends up in jail on an assault charge.

One of his cell mates happens to be Frank S. -hitman for the Mafia, wanted for first degree murder.

The prisoners ride to the courthouse in a bus with the hitman handcuffed to a seat. Suddenly there is a bloody, bloody ambush and in the excitement, Majestyk drives the bus with Frank S. to a hideout in the hills.

Majestyk tries to turn him in to the police in return for dropped charges so he can get back to his harvest.

Unfortunately the hitman escapes and develops an insatiable desire to get even with Majestyk.

The lawmen surround Majestyk's farm, using him as the bait to lure Frank S. into action. Majestyk works on calmly, until Frank's buddies destroy his harvest and break his friend's legs.

It then becomes time to take the law into his own hands.

What can I say about the development of the moral issue in the movie: whether Majestyk's actions are right or wrong?

In the first half of the film, you sympathize with Majestyk, a man trying to go his own way. As more outrages are committed, you can feel anger building up in you against the criminals and against the lawmen's lack of action.

When they break his friend's legs you are ready to see Majestyk fight back in any possible way.

But from then on your self-righteousness just dissipates.

Majestyk is too tough, too cool; he is not just a desperate honest man. He takes command, laughs at danger and the battle to survive becomes a kind of challenge; a duel between him and Frank S. in which no one is the bad guy.

Why does the audience chuckle during a desperate, bloody fight?

As for the story line, dammit, at times, it stretches your credulity like an elastic band.

The hitman is a professional killer -why would a professional develop a petty rage to get even -after Majestyk had, in a way, helped him to escape?

On top of that he tries to kill Majestyk with half of the state police waiting for him and crowds of witnesses around.

The Lawmen are even worse -they are Keystone Cops, practically useless, always arriving just too late to help out. But they die well.

As entertainment, the movie has plenty to offer: lots of action, fights, great car chases, and lots of bodies oozing blood.

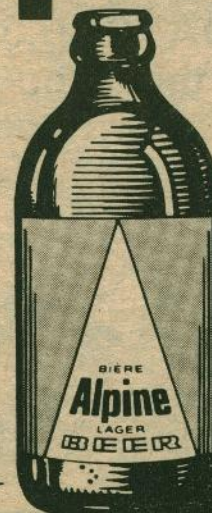

Charles Bronson is Majestyk (in more ways than one) a flint-faced, squinting character, very tough and as cool as the watermelons he farms.

Take a pinch each of Mannix, James Bond, and Billy Jack, mix well and leave it in the hot southern sun.

Bang! Up jumps Majestyk.

Huskies defeat UNB 30-15

BOBBY QRR
Staff Writer

Saint Mary's University Huskies stretched their record to four consecutive wins over the weekend as they beat the UNB Red Bombers 30 to 15 in Fredericton.

The Huskies lacked consistency on offense but it was made up in fine individual efforts and great defensive play.

Offensive standouts for Saint Mary's included running back Ang Santucci who rushed for nearly 100 yards and scored two touchdowns, tight end Steve Telfer who held on to five passes for nearly 70 yards and a touchdown, quarterback Tim Pal who completed about ten of 14 passes for over 125 yards, and place kicker Jim Woodhouse who had 12 points.

Place kicking has easily been the Huskies' most glaring weakness this year but Woodhouse put it all together against UNB and connected on three of four field goal attempts and was good on all three converts.

Woodhouse had herniated his non-kicking leg before the season started and doctors told him he would not be able to kick this year. He has proved the doctor wrong and is now proving his critics wrong.

The defense once again played a stalwart game, led by a defensive line and held UNB runners to less than 40 yards and keeping constant pressure on the Red Bombers' quarterback, Gerry Kapodus.

Kapodus found few holes in the Huskies' secondary. The linebacking core of the Huskies, particularly defensive captain Doug Wasson, who missed the last two games, played well against both the run and the pass with Wasson and Dean Lees each picking off a pass.

Santucci set up the first SMU score with a 25 yard punt return. Three plays later Woodhouse made it 3 to 0 with a 38 yard field goal.

The next time the Huskies offense got the ball, Pal hit Telfer with a 22 yard scoring strike.

Late in the first quarter the Huskies got the ball on the UNB 47 yard line. Santucci moved the ball 29 yards in five tries to set up a 28 yard field goal by Woodhouse.

With only a few minutes left in the first half Kevin Prendergast took over the quarterbacking chores and led the Huskies to Woodhouse's third field goal from 20 yards out. Then the rookie quarterback found Santucci with a 44 yard touchdown pass.

The half ended with Saint Mary's holding a comfortable 23 to 0 lead.

The second half was totally different, however, with the Red Bombers' defense stifling the SMU offense completely.

Prendergast had two passes intercepted, including his first attempt of the half, and the running game could find no room against the UNB defense.

The Red Bombers offense rallied for two touchdowns; the first on a drive that started on their own 33 yard line and ended on a 17 yard Kapodus to Don Davis pass.

The second UNB touchdown came on a five yard run by Steve Gail, after defensive back Jeff Macairio returned an interception to the SMU 25 yard line. The Bombers passed on the convert attempt and made the score 23 to 15.

With less than three minutes left in the game, the Huskies took the ball on their own three yard line. Tim Pal returned to the game utilizing the power running of Ang Santucci, he ate up the 107 yards and the clock with 12 plays before Santucci crossed the goal line from two yards out.

The Huskies had their problems as each quarterback threw two interceptions and the running backs had trouble getting out on sweeps.

Both the running and passing games were slowed down by the absence of regular linemen Charlie Sardo and Frank Yakimchuk and receiver Kevin Shaw, all three of whom were suspended for the game.

The Huskies return to Saint Mary's next weekend to host the UPEI Panthers.
