Government Grants $3 Million $13 M Fund Raising Campaign Announced

by Kevin Biggs

At a press conference held by Saint Mary's University last Friday, Ronald J. Downie, Chairperson of the Board of Governors of Saint Mary's, announced plans for a major fund raising campaign being undertaken by the university.

The campaign is expected to generate $13 million over the next five years.

Mr. Downie, who is also a Co-chairperson of the campaign, listed a new fitness and recreational facility, more computer and laboratory equipment, new academic programs and increased scholarships and fellowships as prime uses of the capital generated by the campaign.

At the same time, Education Minister Terry Donahoe announced a provincial government commitment of $3 million to assist in construction of the fitness and recreational facility.

For the past two years the Maritime Provinces Higher Education Commission has recommended that the government provide $6 million towards the construction of the facility. I asked Mr. Donahoe why the government decided to grant only half of what was recommended. His reply was, "the government just can't afford it". Dr. Ozman, President of Saint Mary's, admitted to being disappointed that the government did not grant the recommended amount but, "I realize their position", he said.

The university has been applying for government assistance with the project for a number of years. Saint Mary's has recreational facilities that were designed for only four hundred students and with the present enrollment of three thousand full-time and approximately two thousand part-time students, a new recreational facility is badly needed.

Preliminary plans for the facility include a twenty-five meter pool, a gymnasium and seating for Huskie Stadium. The building will be constructed with disabled people in mind. It will probably be built on the practice field located adjacent to Tower Road. Construction is not expected to begin before the 85-86 school year as the first half of the grant will not be received until then.

Part-Time Student Association, A Full Time Headache

by Owen MacDonald

The Part-Time Students Association is one year old, but it can't get any money. With 1500 part-time students on campus, paying $10 each, the question is why?

The part-time students were initially given help and encouragement by Dave Hendsee to form. They submitted their first budget and the SRC asked that it be revised.

They straggled through the summer, running an information booth that benefitted both full and part-time students. They received some wages for it from the SRC and help from Dr. Gordon and the Division of Continuing Education but as any society would, they expected funding from the SRC. The SRC was able to pay for the PTSA delegate to the national COPUS conference in Ontario, but the normal cash flow problems of student organizations in the summer precluded the approval of a PTSA $5000 budget.

Recently the PTSA submitted another budget which was finalized at just over $1200 with the option to ask for assistance with an $800 debt they shared with Continuing Education. Far less than they expected, the money that this year's council granted was only to cover expenses of this year. Money for next year will have to come from next year's council.

The problem facing the PTSA now is whether they will be able to retain the experienced people for next year. Most part-time students know very little about the involvement to which they are entitled. With so much red tape, many feel that they can't afford any more time away from jobs and families.

Take A Look is a free column open to all members of the university community and to the city community with something to offer our community. Submissions must be typed, double spaced. In order to get into our publication, all notices must be in our office in Room 517 by Monday, Noon.

Take A Look

Due to limitations of space, notices should be brief and to the point. If the notice is to be run in subsequent weeks, it has to be resubmitted. The name of the organization or person in charge of the notice must appear with the submission.

The Subtle Art of Seduction...

The Subtle Art of Seduction... is the title of a news writing seminar being given by the Vice President Student Affairs on Wednesday, March 7th, at 7:00p.m. and again on Friday, March 9th, at 1:30p.m.

Open to all interested in learning the tricks to writing proper news style, the seminar should be of particular interest to societies who are looking for more exposure in the campus newspaper, The Journal.

While not designed to produce news hounds, the seminar has as its primary objective to get copy submitted to the Journal printed and read by as wide an audience as possible.

Giving the Seminar is Joe Osborne, a former editor and news writer for the Journal. Joe now holds the position of Vice President Student Affairs on Student Council.

The seminar will be held in the Student Council Chambers, fifth floor, S.U.B. It is requested that those planning to attend on either of the dates give notice of their intents by phoning 422-1201.

China Update

Mr. Bernie Potvin, teacher at the Canada/China Language training Centre in Beijing, is giving a noon hour presentation at Saint Mary's University on March 12, 1984. Potvin will give a slide show and information session on the Centre, its students, and programs. The session is one in a series of noon hour presentations called "China Update".

On March 21, Dr. Jim Morrison will show slides on his recent trip to China. March 27 will be the final presentation with Dr. Paul Levine. Levine will show a new video tape released by the Canadian International Development Agency (CIDA) called "Standing On Two Feet". The tape is an overview of the recent history, economical situation, status of women, workstyles, and lifestyles in China.

All presentations will be in the Burke Bldg., room 217, Saint Mary's University. They are sponsored by the Atlantic Region Orientation Centre in conjunction with the International Education Centre. Coffee and doughnuts will be provided.

Microcomputer Showcase

The Dartmouth Regional Library will present a Microcomputer Showcase for young people ages 13-18 as part of a regular series of programs entitled After School Specials for Youth. This program will take place at the Woodlawn Mall Branch on Tuesday, March 13 from 1:00 p.m. - 5:00 p.m.

An afternoon of micros will introduce you to the capabilities of microcomputers, software, as well as the chance for some hands on experience. All programs in this series are free of charge.

Nova Scotia Announces Employment Aid Program

The Nova Scotia Government announced a new program to aid students in finding summer employment. The Youth Entrepreneurial Skills Program For Students (YES For Students), announced last Wednesday by Department of Development Minister Roland Thornhill, outlines plans to provide financial assistance for budding entrepreneurs.

The YES program, a joint venture between the Department of Development and the Royal Bank of Canada, provides for up to $2000 dollars in interest-free loans to aid students in starting up a private business.

Mr. Thornhill said that there are many young people in Nova Scotia with all the skills, ambition and drive to become successful entrepreneurs. The YES program will help them get started and give them an incentive to make a place for themselves in the business world.

A broad variety of business ventures are eligible for the program, limited only by market conditions. Professional and consultation services are not eligible under this program.

The program is open to all returning students who can work in Canada, are between the ages of 16-24 and live in Nova Scotia.

George Buckrell, Senior Vice President and General Manager of the Royal Bank of Canada, said that the project not only provides employment for students in a difficult job market, but will engender an entrepreneurial spirit and enable them to gain valuable experience in business.

The YES program is an expansion of a pilot project that ran last summer. Ontario has run a similar program for the past ten years and has had a proven success record. New Brunswick and P.E.I. also run similar programs.

It is expected that up to thirty businesses will be approved.

Applications are made available through the Employment Opportunities Branch of the Department of Development. Deadline for application is April 1, 1984.

The Pride of The Pride of Chanur at SMU

by Journal staff

This weekend, something interesting will occur in the Loyola Building of Saint Mary's University. To some that is the understatement of the year. The warped event that I speak of is the seventh annual science fiction convention for Halifax known as HALCON 7.

The annual event brings some of the biggest names in Science Fiction to our end of the world. This year's guest of honour from the professional end, the ProGoH, is an up and coming adventure fiction writer by the name of C.J. Cherryh. The Fan Guest of Honour this year will be Elizabeth Pearse, an artist and art show organizer from Ottawa.

Some other attractions of the convention will be movies, dealers rooms, a Star Trek Trivia contest, video tapes of old series, a gaming room, a D and D tournament, seminars and an art show and contest.

Obviously I've left a lot unsaid so if you want more information call 445-4114.

Non-Students Invade Gym

by Joel Penrod

Out for a bit of fun, two SMU societies were disrupted several times by school-aged children at last Sunday's AIESEC Journal Volleyball challenge.

The gymnasium was booked through Gary Heald in the Athletic Department for the hours from 2 to 4 p.m., yet the societies could not get a group of former SMU varsity basketball players to relinquish the court until 2:30. After that, court space was constantly being nibbled away by the "ankle-biters" that were using the facilities as a drop-in centre.

Apparently the former Varsity players use the gym regularly at this time, but do not actually book the facility. After some discussion and a presentation of the booking schedule that was attached to the door, they agreed to leave after finishing their game.

Around 3 p.m., approximately forty school-aged kids showed up. While some showed no intention of using the gym, others did. This group, with members as young as 10, were repeatedly requested to stay off the court as there was enough room for them to use the basketball nets surrounding the centre court without interfering with the volleyball game. However they would chase loose balls onto the court while the teams were in action, and after a while began venturing over the court line in order to take their shots.

One incident had Journal team member Dale Rafuse telling one youth of about 15 to stay off the court. The young man reacted by lunging at Dale, a former Campus Police Chief and present Journal Sports Editor, who simply pushed the kid firmly away. End of incident.

After the game, AIESEC team player Jo-Ann Steffens could not find her purse which had been left near the court side lines. After a thorough search of the gym, washrooms and changing rooms, she was notified that security had located her purse.

Jo-Ann told the Journal that an unidentified SMU student had discovered eight kids going through a purse near the residences. He called out, the kids scattered, and he gave chase, catching one of them.

The purse and child were turned in to security who called in the Halifax Police. The purse was empty but Jo-Ann's I.D. was later recovered. Still missing is her $150 watch, and a small amount of cash.

Director of Student Services, Keith Hotchkiss, said that this had been a problem in the past, but after security measures were tightened up, the problem seemed to be resolved. This was the first reported incident this year.

Keith stressed that the facilities are primarily for the use of the SMU community, and not the downtown community. He was especially concerned as the gym was booked, and this was not a case of university groups in conflict for space during open gym time.

Gary Heald said that there were occasional problems like this one on the weekends, and that he depends on Campus Security as there is no direct supervisor. He said that "at times half the city gets in there as there is more or less an open door policy."

Heald has tried to schedule the gym so that it is solidly booked, but this is not always possible. If it were, people would soon realize that there is no free time to just drop by. Subsequently, these incidents do occur once in a while.

Policy for the security of the gym is set by SMU V.P. Administration Guy Noel. However he was not available for comment by press time.

AIESEC executive members are writing to the University Administration demanding that this situation be addressed, and security increased.

In talking with head of security Don Lord, it would appear that there is a problem any time school is out. Last weekend there was a particular problem, as the commissioner had a rough time moving the kids out at closing time. The kids were mouthy, and threats of calling in the police were made.

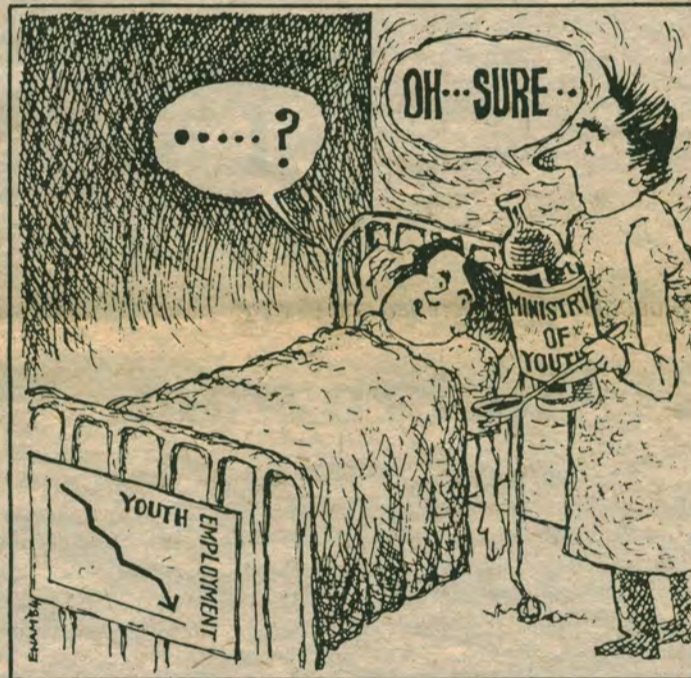

Security has one man on during the day shift on weekends, and his responsibilities cover more than just the gym.

In the past, the Athletic Department had a student on full time at the gym, but since this practice has been discontinued.

CFS Unhappy With Fed Help

OTTAWA (CUP) - Despite chronic youth unemployment, likely to hit more than 20 per cent for the third year in a row this summer, the federal government added only $150 million for employment programs in its recent budget.

The government already puts about $1 billion toward employment programs and the extra $150 million, slotted for the Youth Opportunities Fund, will only lead to a minute decrease in youth unemployment says the Canadian Federation of Students.

Federation chair Graham Dowdell welcomed the increase, but said the government still lacks an overall strategy for putting young Canadians to work.

The government claimed to put new emphasis on solving problems for youth in its December throne speech, when the establishment of a new Ministry of Youth was announced. But the Feb. 15 budget had little to offer young people, and Dowdell says Youth Minister Celine Hervieux-Payette has not been accessible for discussions on youth unemployment.

Payette says her ministry plans to focus on "less privileged youth" and not post secondary students.

VANCOUVER (CUP) - Students who can't get an education without government grants lack motivation, an education ministry official claims.

"I just can't believe that anyone is not going to get to university because it's not a grant but a loan. If that grant is stopping them, maybe the commitment wasn't big enough," said Dick Melville, education ministry officer.

In its budget announced Feb. 20, the B.C. government totally abolished the $14.6 million non-repayable grant portion of student aid and added in its place a $2.5 million provincial loan to supplement federal loans.

Melville added the debt loads will not be high in comparison to the amount traditionally owed by students in medicine or dentistry on graduation.

Melville denies reducing spending on financial aid violates an agreement with Ottawa whereby federal loan money would increase if provincial governments matched their funds.

Your Students' Association and the Fee Increase referendum.

THE STUDENTS' ASSOCIATION IS MANY THINGS. YOUR GOVERNMENT, ACTIVITIES, STUDENT SOCIETY AND CLUBS, MEDIA, BUSINESS OPERATIONS AND INFORMATION.

Your Political Voice – at Academic Senate, the Board of Governors, University Administration, University Committees, municipal, provincial and federal governments. Association Activities – Entertainment, Bashes, Bus Trips, Movies. Student Societies – Various Student societies, organizations, and clubs. Media and Publications – The Journal, CFMSM Radio, Handbook, Yearbooks, posters. Programs – Orientation, Winter Carnival, Grad Week, Gorsebrook Lounge, Games Room.

Your Fees and Inflation

The Students' Association has only had one increase in over eight years. The inflation rate has risen considerably over the same period of time.

Your Fees and the Health Plan

The University Health Plan is an additional fee attached to the Association fee. The recent increases that have appeared in the Association fee is the Health Plan only. This plan is charged by and administered by the University Administration; NOT by your Students' Association.

Restraint is Real

Business income from the operations of the Gorsebrook Lounge and Games Room has kept ahead of inflation, but this cannot provide enough for all the demands on the Student Association.

In order to maintain a balanced budget, the Students' Council had to exercise restraint. Cash flow difficulties is a major problem.

With increasing costs, increasing demands coupled with past debts and commitments, the Students' Association has had to work with little resources.

Student Council inability to provide more services has been hampered because of the fiscal restraint caused by low funds.

Further Restraints

Without a fee increase, the Association will have to make further cuts and reduce services.

Student employment will have to be lessened, entertainment less frequent, and programs like Orientation, Winter Carnivals with less content.

Society Grants will probably be cutback more.

What the Fee Increase Could Do for You.

The increase with Fee will allow the Students' Association to function with less hinderance. It can have the ability to become more flexible with funds and be able to provide more services to the students.

This would include increased funding to student organizations, better and less expensive entertainment, more alternative programming like exhibitions, contests, trips, speaker series, and other academic related functions. Renovations to the Gorsebrook Lounge (Satellite TV and screen) and Games Room.

The possibility of setting up a scholarship/bursary fund for students.

Better programs for you – the students of Saint Mary's.

How Your Fees Are Spent

The cost of maintaining business operations will absorb a lot of your fees. Three full-time staff salaries, professional fees (auditors and lawyers), honorarias, and student wages have to be paid in order to maintain office functions, along with the necessary subsidy office expenses (i.e., telephones and equipment leases).

Other commitments in which the Students' Association incur are the Athletic support fees, The Journal grant, Students Union of Nova Scotia (SUNS) membership fee, and upcoming University Financial campaign.

With the remaining funds, the Students' Association will allocate funds to student societies and organizations, Student Council functions and programs (Orientation, Winter Carnival, bashes, etc.).

In essences, the Students' Association ability to function relies totally on its fees.

A Fee increase will mean that the Students' Association can ensure the continuance of quality services and activities to students. Give the Students' Association the possibility of doing more for you.

Vote Yes on Monday, March 19th and Tuesday, March 20th.

Unclassified are a weekly event in The Journal. Space is available to all students, but being the cads we are, we've initiated rules.

And here they be:

1. You don't gotta pay. Donations of beer and coffee and smokes are always welcome, but you didn't hear that from me.

2. Submissions should be kept to about thirty words. Antidesestablishmentarianism counts for more.

3. Type the damned thing, double spaced. Yer inadequacy as a typist is no excuse. Get your friends or mothers to type it for you. Typewriter is nonexistent or on drugs? We got some that you can use - some of them even work.

4. Use 8½ by 11 inch paper. Small scraps get eaten by the goat.

5. Your REAL name and phone number must appear on the submission. This is for our protection. We will not reveal your real identity to anyone for any reason. Not even for a million bucks. Two maybe!

6. We will not print anything racist, foul, sexist or damaging. What else is there? I don't know but I gotta say it. We will print just about anything else.

7. Your ad will run only once. If you wish to re-run it, it must be resubmitted.

Wire We Upset? Guess

Dear Sir,

I would like to register a complaint against, you guessed it, Saga. Negligent? Apathetic? Quite frankly, dangerous. Yes, we can complain about their quality, high prices, and disproportioned servings; but, when a person's health is at stake - dissatisfaction turns to anger.

There was a February 22nd spaghetti dinner. I received an extra ingredient in my sauce - a one inch, bent, metal wire. (Sir, I paid my 16 coupons for an edible meal.) I gave Saga credit by thinking that their spaghetti couldn't be that hard. Luckily, I managed to extract it before it could scrape or damage my inners. Unfortunately, this experience had some sitted precedents: fungus, insects, and even a lug nut. When I made an immediate report to a Saga manager, she was thorough in explaining its likely cause; and with a sympathetic yet meaningless "I'm sorry" the case was dismissed. I suffer from an intestinal disorder, but her nonchalant attitude was difficult to digest.

My purpose is to welcome Saga - in fact, challenge Saga to answer a couple of questions: If you can identify the source of a problem (such as a faulty can-opener) why don't you correct it? Don't you know that "I'm sorry" doesn't heal food poisoning nor does it console the emergency patient who swallows a foreign substance? Tell me, would Saga pay for medical treatment? How do you plead:

irresponsible, indifferent, or just unqualified to serve your customers safely? I and many coupon-clipped, plan-punched customers are waiting for your explanation.

Thank you for bringing this to Public attention

Whose Gym Is It?

Saint Mary's University has long been noted for its athletics. Apparently the open gym times have been noted by the neighborhood children. These young people, although not students of this university, act as though our facilities have been opened for their exclusive use and abuse.

Last Sunday afternoon, AIESEC booked the gym for a volleyball game with the Journal. The volleyball players had to compete for space with these basketball-playing ankle-biters running back and forth across the court. The facilities here are poor enough already without Saint Mary's students having to compete for space with people who have no right to be there.

The students have to pay fees, in the form of tuition - tuition that increases each year, in order to finance the operation of the gym and hopefully enjoy its use when we go to the trouble to sign it out. It's high time we started to get more for our money - like security at the gym on weekends.

Saint Mary's should be running a facility to promote physical fitness of its students, not a drop-in center.

CFSM Reply

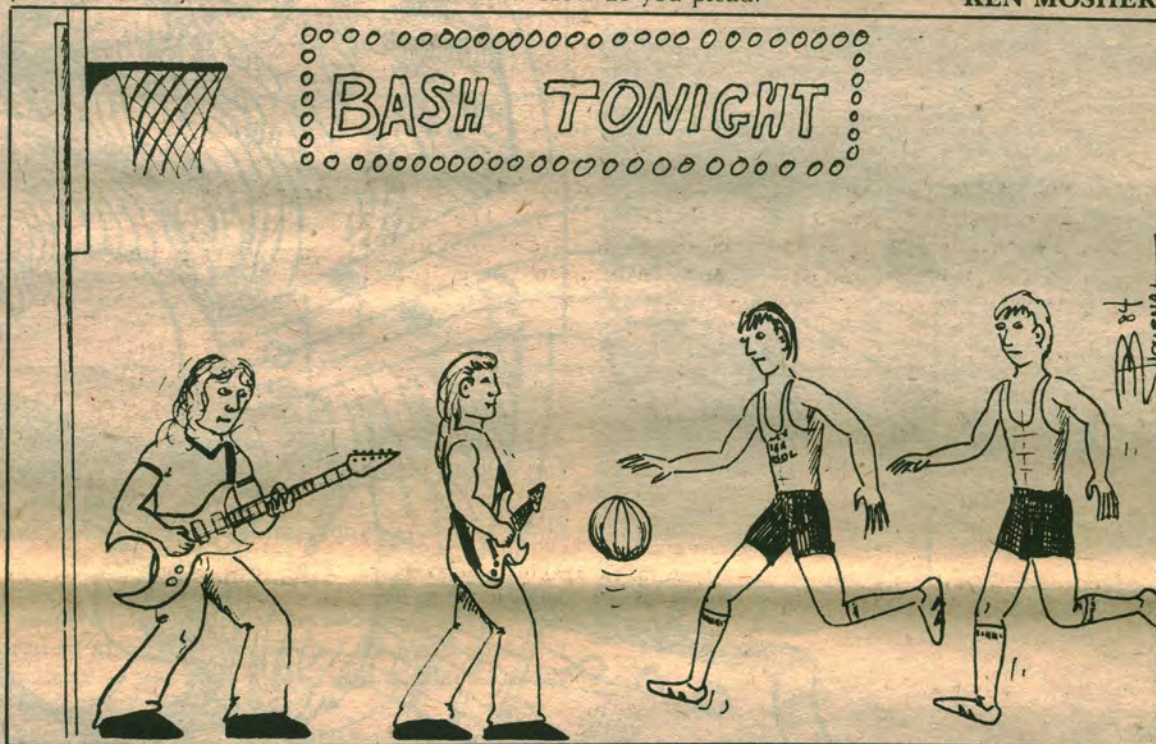

Dear Sir:

I am writing in reply of a letter that was published in the last issue of the Journal. The letter was called "CFSM Stereo Trouble". I have a few comments on that item. First, when the Residence Society booked the stereo in October they had mentioned that they had to rewire the whole thing. Well that is true that stereo was in bad shape, but the reason being that the people that book the system do not take care of it right. We cannot rewire or buy the proper equipment for the stereo if we don't have the money. I feel the comment that Dave Peters had made in the above mentioned subject is rather stupid. Also the story also mentioned that they were waiting for the stereo and after calling around for it they finally received it. Why in the hell should they complain? They got the go, stereo didn't they??

Don't they realize that we have other things to do than live at CFSM. Another thing I would like to point out is that on November 10 I did there function, and I was told to be there around eight and have things going by eight thirty. So I did as they asked, and they were late showing up to get the sound system. When I got there to the residence cafe, I had to carry the stereo up a flight of stairs due to the fact that the cafe's doors were locked. Another point I would like to bring up is that Dave Peters brought up a letter to Alan Murphy our station manager and he asked if he was in and the person who he had given the letter to said he was in and then Dave tossed him the letter and walked out. The point I am trying to make is that if he can print the article in the Journal but not come face to face with our station manager I think he has got his nerve. Oh Yes by the way Dave you owe us the money still from the function on February 10. If you have any further questions concerning the sound system please do not hesitate to call CFSM at 423-1739.

Questions:

1) What do you think the new SRC executive should do to improve life on Campus?

2) Do you agree with the proposal that student fees be increased by $9.18?

Randy McKay,
Third year Psychology

1) "I don't live on campus and I find there is nothing to get us off-campus students to participate. It's a big university. The SRC should bring it together. Even the level of info: there is not enough of a push. Also, we could use a better radio station!"

2) "Sure I would say so, as long as it is taken advantage of. There should be a specific purpose for the money and the students should know how it is being used."

Ann Lane,
Third year History

1) "They should start showing a teeny bit of intelligence. They should also stay honest (it is sort of pathetic to see corruption in a school government).

One thing I noticed is they had a commission on student aid and SMU didn't even submit a paper on it. Dal was very involved but the issue didn't even make the Journal.

They are not involved enough in issues such as tuition. Dal's Tim Hill managed to arrange things so that student know next year's tuition this year so they can start planning. They are too self-involved: they deal with SMU alone"

2) "Nine bucks isn't traumatic but the way they've handled money before doesn't leave me inclined to give them more. The bashes this year have seemed to be profitable. They should start showing signs of financial trouble before we give them a lot of money."

Linda Nieuwenstein
First year Arts

1) "Lowering the price of bashes is a good idea. Also, sports teams and associations should be able to buy their own booze (say in room 300) without paying the SRC $1.25 per drink at parties.

More publicity should be provided for school events because half the time something goes on, you don't find out about it until the day after. The Journal should also have more publicity. I wouldn't know where to go to put something in the paper.

The pub should be open earlier every day for lunch (not just Thursdays and Fridays)"

2) "It's hard to say. I wouldn't mind myself because I go to bashes and stuff, but it's really not fair for the students that don't participate."

Kevin Edwards,
First year Commerce

1) "They do a pretty good job. I found a campaigning message in my computer file. I don't think this should be allowed.

There should be less fighting among the council members. The people who run seem to be out to get each other's throats. I think it should be more unified."

2) "I think if it (the increase) was around 6% or 7% it wouldn't be so bad but 10% is a lot for this many students. Each year it gets harder to get a job. If there is an increase, the students should know what the money is going towards."

THEATRE: LUNCH TIME AT NEPTUNE

by Bob Smith

Stuck for somewhere to eat your lunch in the downtown area? You can munch your lunch and get your fill of culture at the same time at Neptune Theatre's lunchtime series of performances. Shown over the noon hour, these performances give you an entertaining break and you still have enough time to get back to work or school.

The current lunchtime production is Tom Cone's "Herringbone". The title has nothing to do with fish. It is the story of George Herringbone, a man who was thirty-five before he was eleven because his parents wanted someone their own age around the house, and to introduce him to Hollywood as a midget actor. The plan backfires when they discover that midgets are out and child actors are in. He was washed up at ten and thirty-five.

Frank MacKay, as George Herringbone, carried the show on to the stage and relates this story in a light, lively manner, suitable for the production and easy to digest with your lunch.

Musical director, Paul Simons, helps out on stage with piano playing and drum thumping and occasionally interjects a comical glance at Herringbone.

If you've attended Neptune's regular performances and have yet to take in one of these lunchtime performances, have a taste of one soon as an in-between plays snack. If you have yet to see a Neptune play of any kind (poor deprived person), try it as an appetizer - it will whet your appetite for more.

Record Reviews by Carter Newson

Bad Music For Bad People

If you're looking for something completely different, the Cramps have it. Just a little warning: don't play it in an attempt to impress your mother. Save it till the next bash. Or better yet, wait till Halloween, it would probably sound best then. Any group that manages to sound like the Ventures, the Sex Pistols and the Stooges simultaneously deserves a listen, however, so give it a spin.

As well as living up to its name, Bad Music For Bad People comprises a collection of early tracks from a seminal hard-core punk rock group. Their sound is minimal, to say the least - there appears to be a vocalist (who goes by the name of Lux Interior), three guitarists, and a drummer (no bass, no other instruments). Once you get over the initial shock of the cover art, the harsh singing and grating, sometimes dissonant music, the Cramps are a lot of fun. For example, listen to the rockabilly-influenced "Love Me". Or how about "New Kind of Kick", with its typical punk lyrics ("live is short," "I want a new kick", etc.). On "She Said", they toy around with a 12-bar blues chord structure, which is the closest the album comes to presenting any type of music to which you may already be accustomed. "Goo Goo Muck" is also a lot of fun, for obvious reasons: the title pretty well speaks for itself.

Two Torn Apart

No, seven minutes isn't the amount of time it takes to listen to this EP, it's the name of a seven-man group from Ontario. They specialize in short, catchy pop songs (all last less than 4 minutes). "Two Torn Apart", the title cut, is pleasant enough, and just listen to the first two bars of "Don't Let Me

Seven Minutes

Down" and you'll be convinced that you're listening to Peter Frampton's "I'm In You" (remember that one?).

Not that they aren't original.

They have come up with some pleasant, uptempo tunes, and with their variety of instrumentation, (including saxophone, flute, keyboards, guitar, bass and drums), it's hard to imagine them going stagnant for quite a while. A full-length album from these guys would be more than adequately pleasing.

showed tremendous potential on past outings, it's sad to see (or hear) him languish in what can be best described as a half-hearted effort. The arrangements are generally lacking in originality, and the singing often sounds so muddled that the enclosed lyric sheet is quite useful in deciphering what he's singing.

Public Life is not totally without merit; two cuts, "Times Square Heart" (a rocker), and "Not Tonight" (a ballad) manage to break out of the mire or mediocrity that plagues the rest of the album. Lyrically, Public Life hangs together well, with the street-wise lyrics concentrating on personal relationships and, as the title suggests, "public life".

It's hard to tell which track(s) on "Public Life" will make it to the radio playlists, they all could be moderately successful. If you ask me, though, I think Billy Squier does this type of thing a whole lot better.

Public Life

Eddie Schwartz

Eddie Schwartz must have record company executives and radio programmers smiling. On Public Life, he has his Journey-ish style of pop-rock down to a formula. Not that this record is actually bad, but with few exceptions it reeks of mediocrity. Although he once Halfback For Atlantic Canada?

Nova Scotia's authors have come down solidly in support of a proposed "Half Back" scheme for Atlantic Canada.

"Half Back" is the name of an Ontario programme that allows lottery buyers to redeem their losing tickets at fifty cents each toward the purchase of a Canadian-authored book. Supporters of the programme say "Everyone Wins!" and with over seven million tickets turned in during the last seven month project, there can be no doubt it's an idea whose time has arrived!

After the consumers themselves, schools and libraries are next in line to benefit from the Ontario brainchild. By collecting donations of spent tickets, Ontario librarians were able to account for sixteen percent of the total three point seven million dollars worth of sales generated by Half Back.

It's little wonder then that libraries across the Maritimes are hurrying to support the implementation of a Half Back plan for this end of the country. Bob Bland, an Antigonish bookseller and Chairman of the Atlantic Provinces Book Council's Atlantic Half Back Steering Committee, reports, "We have letters from many New Brunswick libraries, from the smallest to the largest, from Nepisiguit to Moncton, urging us to make Atlantic Half Back a reality. Most recently, the Nova Scotia Library Association and the Public Library Board of Newfoundland have added their support. Now that the ball is rolling, I don't think it's going to stop."

Writers, while lower on the list of beneficiaries from the proposal, are equally enthusiastic. Increased booksales mean increased royalty cheques. More importantly, the promotion that would surround any new Half Back programme for Atlantic Canada would mean a greater share of the limelight for local authors. "While Half Back means a discount on all Canadian books," says Bruce Armstrong, President of the Writers' Federation of Nova Scotia, "I can see an extra incentive being offered to those who 'Buy Atlantic,' a sort of 'Atlantic Canada Plus' for books."

The Writers' Federation of Nova Scotia has joined libraries, booksellers and publishers in endorsing a proposed Half Back plan for this region, but Armstrong is quick to point out that future Half Back promotions needn't stop at books. "There's no reason lottery tickets couldn't be redeemed for discounts on Canadian plays or dance performances," he pointed out, "maybe even at local craft markets."

Implementing Half Back in

Atlantic Canada would mean a co-ordinated effort by all four Eastern governments. These days, that sort of cooperation isn't always easy to come by. Nevertheless, writers are optimistic. "Why wouldn't they go for it?" asks Armstrong. "In the last big 'Lotto 639' draw, the odds were thirteen million to one against you holding the winning ticket. An awful lot of people were disappointed. With Half Back you can say to yourself, 'Oh well, at least I can buy a book.' It's a real bonus, a chance to give people a present."

Nova Scotia's authors are hoping Atlantic governments will see their logic. In a game of big profits, they want consumers to get back a piece of the pie, not all, but maybe half.

Huskies capture AUAA Basketball Crown

by Scott Gillis

Last Saturday afternoon the St. Mary's Basketball Huskies continued the "winning tradition" by downing the UPEI Panthers 79-67 in front of 5000 entertained fans at the Metro Centre. The 1983-84 AUAA title is the basketball Huskies fifth in six years and their third in a row. They won a berth to the Finals by defeating St. F.X. 73-70 while UPEI earned theirs by upsetting Dal 78-64.

The Huskies' victory over UPEI didn't come easy. At the break, the teams went to their locker rooms tied 40-40 after an end to end first half. But the 'AUAA Coach of the Year', Gary Heald, must have given the Huskies a talking to because they came out a much improved team in the second half. The game remained a near deadlock, however, until SMU opened up a 5 point lead (53-48) with just over 12 minutes left. The lead never dwindled less than 5 from then on but just as they had the whole tournament, the Panthers played with heart forcing the Huskies to come up with clutch offence and defence. The men in maroon and white rose to the occasion as they have done so many times this year.

Gary Bratty had a sensational day pacing the Huskies victory with 27 points. He made his presence known on several occasions defensively, swatting down Panther passes while manning the defensive zone. He also snatched 9 rebounds. There seems to be a justice in the fact that a guy who's personified Gary Heald's "role playing" philosophy all year by doing his job and seldom standing out, plays well enough to be awarded MVP for the Championship Tournament. And that's what happened for "Cowboy" Gary Bratty.

"I didn't expect anything like this at all," he said after the presentation. "My shooting hasn't been the greatest, as a matter of fact, it stunk for about four games straight. It was a kind of psychological thing more than anything else and I kept getting down on myself. When the first couple of shots dropped today, I really started feeling good."

Rob Latter, who played the Tournament suffering from the flu, proved once again that he's one of the best power forwards in the country when the chips are down. He drove for 16 points, 10 of which came in the second half. He grabbed 8 offensive rebounds and 12 defensive while also blocking several shots on the inside.

"Coach Heald talked to us and we played a better second half," Latter said afterwards. "In the first half we were being outrebounded by guys smaller than us but we came out more aggressive in the second. But give UPEI credit, they came to play." Co-Captain Rod Buckland echoed Latter's comments adding that they "had been timid passing the ball allowing UPEI to come on."

Ron Lardge was the Huskies' third big scorer with 12 points. Normally Lardge shoots the lights out with jumpers from 20 or more feet out. On Saturday, the AUAA "Freshman of the Year" struggled a bit in this respect but still made some key buckets and contributed significantly to the offense by displaying his excellent passing ability.

After the game Head Coach Gary Heald had these words: "The team as a whole played well, especially the second half. Gary Bratty was just super. He's a real money player who always comes up big for us in key tournaments. Ronnie Lardge didn't have one of his greatest scoring games but the team kept encouraging him to shoot. They never got down on him. It was one of those efforts as a team and they stayed together to win."

Rod Buckland (10 points), Cliff "Pop" Harris (6 points), Brian Ross (4 points), and Bill Marshall (3 points) were the remaining Husky scorers. As usual, Marshall and Ross were standouts on defence especially when they alternated as the man under the hoop in the Huskies' 1-3-1 zone. They created key turnovers which turned into Huskies' points at critical moments of the second half.

If the game wasn't enough to get the Huskies' supporters on their feet, there wasn't a fan sitting when Pop Harris raised the trophy in front of their section. The gesture was indicative of the Forward's unselfish play on the court since he joined the squad after Christmas.

There always has to be a losing team but in the case of the UPEI Panthers, they have nothing to be ashamed of. They were the Cinderella team who earned the right to participate in the Final Four with key wins during the season. Everyone fell prey to the Panthers at one time or another during the year including, of course, Dal, in the semis the day before. They played tough in the final game as well.

Mike Morgan led their effort with 23 points, while Tyrone Norman and Tejan Alleyne added 18 each. Norman was also the leading rebounder with 8.

The Huskies shot 53.3% from the floor and 63.6% from the line. The Panthers answered with a 41.4% from the floor and 69.2% from the line. The Huskies dominated the battle of the boards outrebounding their opponents 43-29.

By winning the AUAA Championship, the Huskies have earned the right to compete in the Regional Tournament to be held this weekend at UNB. They play Brock University Friday night at 7:00 p.m. and, if victorious, play the winner of the UNB-Lethbridge contest on Saturday at 2 p.m. Saint Mary's Students' Association is hoping to send three busloads of students to Fredericton.

The winner of the UNB Regional will join the victors from the Calgary Regionals (Dalhousie, Victoria, Calgary, Winnipeg), the Ottawa Regionals (St. F.X., York, Ottawa, Brandon), and the Waterloo Regionals (UPEI, Western, Waterloo, McGill) at the Metro Centre on March 15-17 for the CIAU Championships. With Dalhousie, St. F.X., and UPEI all gaining wildcard berths, there is a mathematical chance that the CIAU Championships could be a near repeat performance of last weekend's AUAA Finals.

Lardge Named "Rookie of the Year"

by Scott Gillis

On Friday, March 2nd, the Atlantic Universities Basketball Conference named its first and second All-Star teams and major awards for the 1983-84 season.

The first All-Star team consisted of Rob Latter and Ron Lardge of the Huskies joined by John Hatch (St. F.X.), Mike Morgan (UPEI), and Chris Sumner (Acadia). Members of the second team All-Star squad were Bo Hampton, Stan Whetstone, and Pat Slawter of Dalhousie with Rodney Martin of Acadia and Tejan Alleyne of UPEI.

The major award winners were SMU's Ron Lardge with the "Freshman of the Year" honors and St. F.X.'s John Hatch named as the league's MVP for the third time in his four year career.

Last but certainly not least, St. Mary's Gary Heald was awarded with "Coach of the Year" honors and deservedly so. Examining his lifetime record, it becomes apparent that Gary Heald is a winner. He has 485 wins - 112 losses for an 81.2% winning percentage. He is a coach that demands and gets forty minutes of basketball per game from his players. He has won "Coach of the Year" four times (1973-74 at UPEI; and 1979-80, 1981-82, and 1983-84 with SMU) while leading the Huskies to 4 AUAA titles in his 5 years here. He is an invaluable asset to the Athletics Program here at St. Mary's.

Ron Lardge was named the AUBC "Rookie of the Year" at the annual awards banquet.

Ineligibility Drops Huskies to Second Place

by Dale Rafuse

For the second time in less than a week, the St. Mary's University Athletic Department has been embarrassed by the discovery of an ineligible player on a varsity team. Last week, when it was made public knowledge that Wayne Fortune was ineligible to play for the Hockey Huskies, the team was forced to withdraw from the AUHC playoffs. This past Friday a similar incident occurred when I was learned that Greg Williams, formerly of the basketball Huskies, was ineligible for the AUBC games he played in December. As a result, the Huskies were forced to forfeit the results of both those games, relinquish first place to Dalhousie, and drop to second place.

Following are the press releases issued on Friday by St. Mary's President, Dr. Ken Ozmon, and by St. Mary's Athletic Director, Mr. Bob Hayes.

Dr. K.L. Ozmon:

Last week the University became aware that it had used an ineligible player on its intercollegiate hockey team during the 1983-84 season. Because of this, we decided immediately to forfeit games in which that player had participated. Since the number of games was considerable, Saint Mary's was forced to withdraw from playoff competition.

Today, I have learned that our intercollegiate men's basketball team may also have used an ineligible player earlier in the season. While the number of games to be forfeited in this latter instance will not necessitate withdrawal from playoff competition, the University nevertheless considers these very serious matters which have a bearing on our integrity as an institution devoted primarily to academic pursuits.

Following the earlier violation of league regulations, I immediately requested Dr. Douglas Williamson, Dean of Science, to investigate the matter and report his findings to me by March 9. I have now asked Dr. Williamson to expand his inquiry to include the second incident as well. He will consult widely in order to determine the facts in both cases. Once I receive his report, I will decide what action should be taken.

In the meantime, I have asked members of the University's Department of Athletics and Recreation to cooperate fully with Dean Williamson in the course of his investigation.

Bob Hayes:

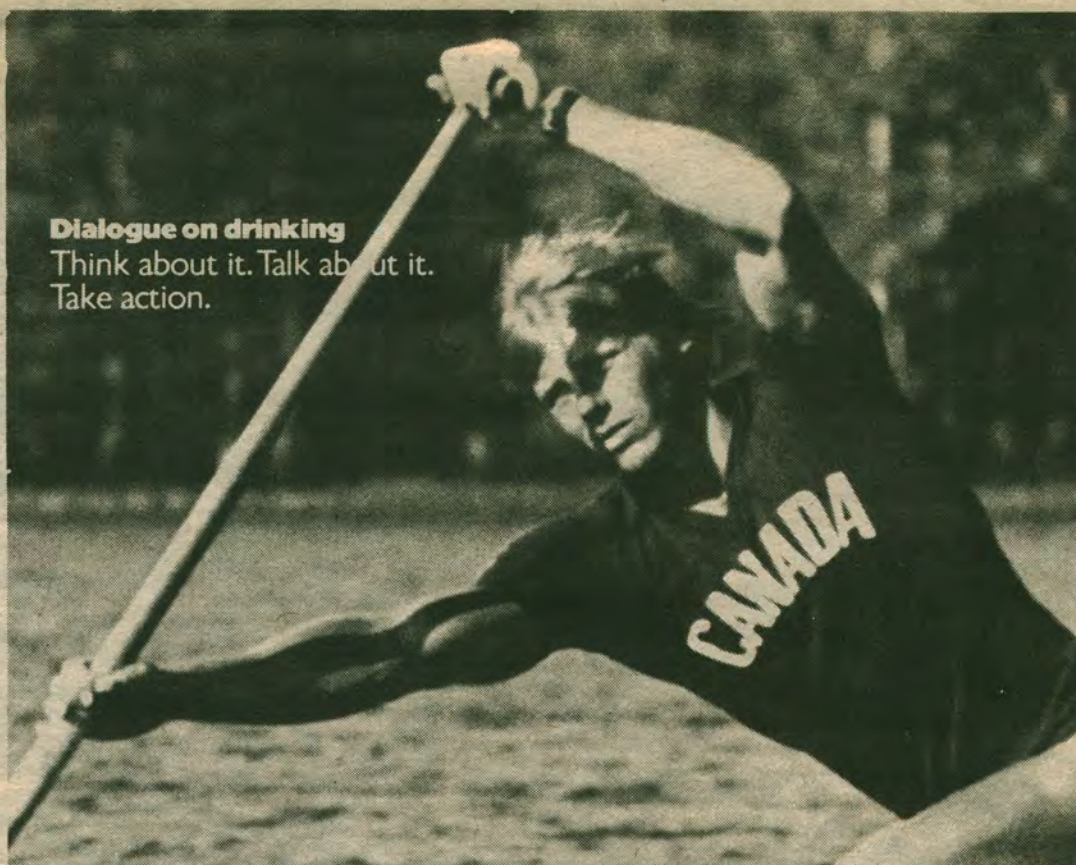

Less than 24 hours ago, it was brought to the attention of the Athletic Director at Saint Mary's University that one of the members of the 1983-84 Men's Basketball Team may have been ineligible to represent the institution. The student-athlete is Mr. Williams, who has not played since the Christmas break. The timeframe provided has not enabled this matter to be investigated completely; however, without intending to prejudge the result of any investigation, Saint Mary's University has decided to forfeit the two pre-Christmas league games which were won while Mr. Williams was a member of the team. At this juncture, Saint Mary's University wishes to apologize to the basketball community of Nova Scotia for any inconvenience which may be incurred as a result of this incident.

Details of the ineligibility of Greg Williams were not released in the press statements. The Journal has learned that Mount Allison University began an investigation into the eligibility of certain players in the league and discovered Williams at St. Mary's. Apparently the player claiming to be Greg Williams was actually an imposter who came to St. Mary's to play basketball. He obviously convinced the Athletic Department of his identity, and suited up for two games in December before he was cut at Christmas.

World of Sports

by Dale Rafuse

This past week the St. Mary's Athletic Department came under sharp criticisms from the entire sport community in Nova Scotia and across the country on the use of ineligible players in hockey and basketball. In both cases, the coaching staffs and athletic department apparently knew nothing of the ineligibility, and to date have not released details on the matters.

The question that arises in most peoples' mind is, how can a player or players completely hide his or her past from what should be a routine, background check? Surely, this check must be done, to protect the integrity of the team and ultimately, the school. Obviously, it is not being done; if it is, someone is not doing their job.

The embarrassment of the athletic department in these matters is their own problem. However, when a team is forced to withdraw from post-season play after fighting hard to get there, then both the team and especially the fan must feel cheated. This cheated feeling must not be left unchecked. Must a school strive for excellence in athletics by recruiting players that may not even be eligible to play? Blunders like these should be rewarded with disciplinary action. The school demands it, the community demands it and the students demand it! Did great Huskie Championship teams in the past bring embarrassment to themselves and their school in such a manner; scurry the thought!

How will future Huskie teams be able to compete without scorn if these procedures are not stopped? Instigators of the antics brought to light in the past week must be made public, to accept the feelings of embarrassment and stupidity they have brought on our school. The populus demands justice!

Huskies Edge X-Men

by Scott Gillis

The Huskies knew that they had to win two games over the weekend to win the AUAA crown. That was the bottom line although they had expected that their first contest would be against the UPEI Panthers. But on Thursday evening, they forfeited two victories picked up before Christmas upon learning that a member of the team, Greg Williams, had been ineligible. Williams hasn't been at SMU for the second half of the season because of poor grades. With their record reduced to 11-7 the Huskies were rescheduled to take on St. F.X. in semi-final action. As has been the case all year, the Huskies and X-men battled head to head in forty exciting minutes of basketball. The Huskies came out on top 73-70.

Rod Buckland led the Huskies with 18 points, 16 of which came in the first half. "I felt really good from the start especially after I got a couple of baskets and my confidence began to build," Buckland said after the game.

Ron Lardge bucketed some fine jump shots from outside for 16 points. The X-men were all over the Fort Lauderdale native every time he touched the ball. Brent Baker stuck to him like glue. With coverage concentrated on Large, Guard Bill Marshall was given more room to roam as he netted 10 points. Cliff "Pop" Harris and Rob Latter also scored 10 points each. Latter was the leading Huskies rebounder with 14.

With Latter on the bench in foul trouble for most of the second half, the nod went to Pop Harris to contain St. F.X.'s big man John Hatch. He took the challenge in stride and came up big.

"We concentrated on man-to-man because Hatch had been shooting over the zone a lot," Harris said later. "Coach told me to stick with him."

Hatch was the X-men's leading scorer but only with 17 points and 10 rebounds which is a strong performance but below average for the Calgary native. Kyle Gayle and Geoff McIver added 13 and 12 points, respectively.

The Huskies shot 51.8% from the floor and 68.2% from the line while grabbing 42 rebounds. The X-men answered with 47.7% in field goal shooting and 40% in free throw attempts. They snatched 26 rebounds.

"Tonight, the bench did their job well when called upon to do so," commented Gary Heald. "Tomorrow the Panthers are going to have to play very, very well to beat us."

He was later proven right.

Geologists Lose Squeaker

by Glenn Cameron

The Alumni Arena on the campus of Saint Mary's University, was the scene of a fast-paced and action-packed hockey match this past Friday night. The opponents were the Saint Mary's Geology Hockey Team, the D.%HOPE-SIMPSON PYROCLASTICS and the Acadia Geology team.

The Geologists took the early lead in the first 5 minutes of the game when Paul Currans raced down the left side and blasted one home to give the PYROCLASTICS the early lead. Just minutes later, Fred Boner notched another with a slapper from the top of the circle. As play continued into the first fram, the PYROCLASTICS seemed to play with more and more confidence and when the line of Rob Fry, Ron Mills and Glenn Cameron hit the ice near the close of the period, they completely dominated the hapless Valley squad, hemming them in their own zone with tenacious forechecking. On their next shift out, their hard work and tenacity paid off as Fry and Mills double-teamed the pubk-carrying defender causing him to cough up the pubk and allow Cameron to waltz in all alone and rifle one between the pads of the helpless goaltender.

Into the second frame, the PYROCLASTICS still had the momentum on their side as net-minder Shawn Romkey played well and little Stevie "Scooter" Samson potted the fourth goal for the Geologists. What seemed now, like a health lead was not to be, as Acadia fired a powerplay goal to make the score 4-1.

In the final period, after a stirring and rousing 2nd intermission talk by coach Joe Petrie, the PYROCLASTICS hit the ice full of piss and vinegar, only to have the Acadia skids fire 2 easy goals from outside the blueline. Despite another goal by Ken Tully on a pretty one on one deke, the Geologists could not seem to get on track despite two breakaways by Dave "Should I Shoot Or Pass" Gormley. With 3 unanswered goals in the final 10 minutes of the game the Geologists simply could not put it together and ended up giving the win, 6-5 to an undeserving Acadia squad.

The Geologists hope to remedy this awful relic of their past, by travelling to St.F.X. this coming weekend where the PYROCLASTICS will take on the Xavier Hollander Geology X-men.
