President's Message

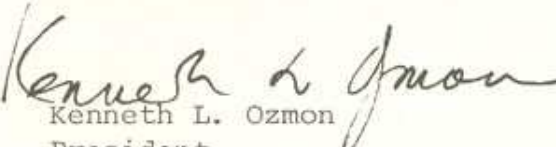

To The Graduating Class of 1981:

Now that you have graduated, I am sure the time between your orientation to Saint Mary's and graduation seems very short. Yet, when you look back at what you have learned and the friends you have made, you realize how many experiences have been crowded into those few years.

As the years go by you will remember very fondly your days at Saint Mary's. We will remember those days, too, and all of you.

For most of you, graduation from Saint Mary's marks the beginning of exciting new adventures. I wish you well as you attempt to meet the challenges you face. I hope you will keep in touch with us and help us to meet our future challenges as well.

Yours sincerely,

Kenneth L. Ozmon

To The Graduating Class

After much delay this 1981 Yearbook is finally here with us. And while it may be late it should still fulfill the same purpose of bringing back some fond memories of your time spent here.

To many of you who have graduated, this book will be your only remaining bond with Saint Mary's University.

To others it will serve as an incentive to continue your ongoing studies and extra-curricular involvement.

No matter what purpose it is intended to serve, I am sure that it will fulfill its function to the fullest.

In closing I would just like to wish you the best in your current and future endeavors.

With regards,

Message

Dear Fellow Graduates:

Graduation is the time at which we stop to reflect upon all university experiences which brought us to this stage in our lives. It is now our responsibility to go out into society and put what we have learned here at Saint Mary's into practice.

It is our hope that this yearbook will be a collection of fond memories of Saint Mary's which you will always cherish as the years go by.

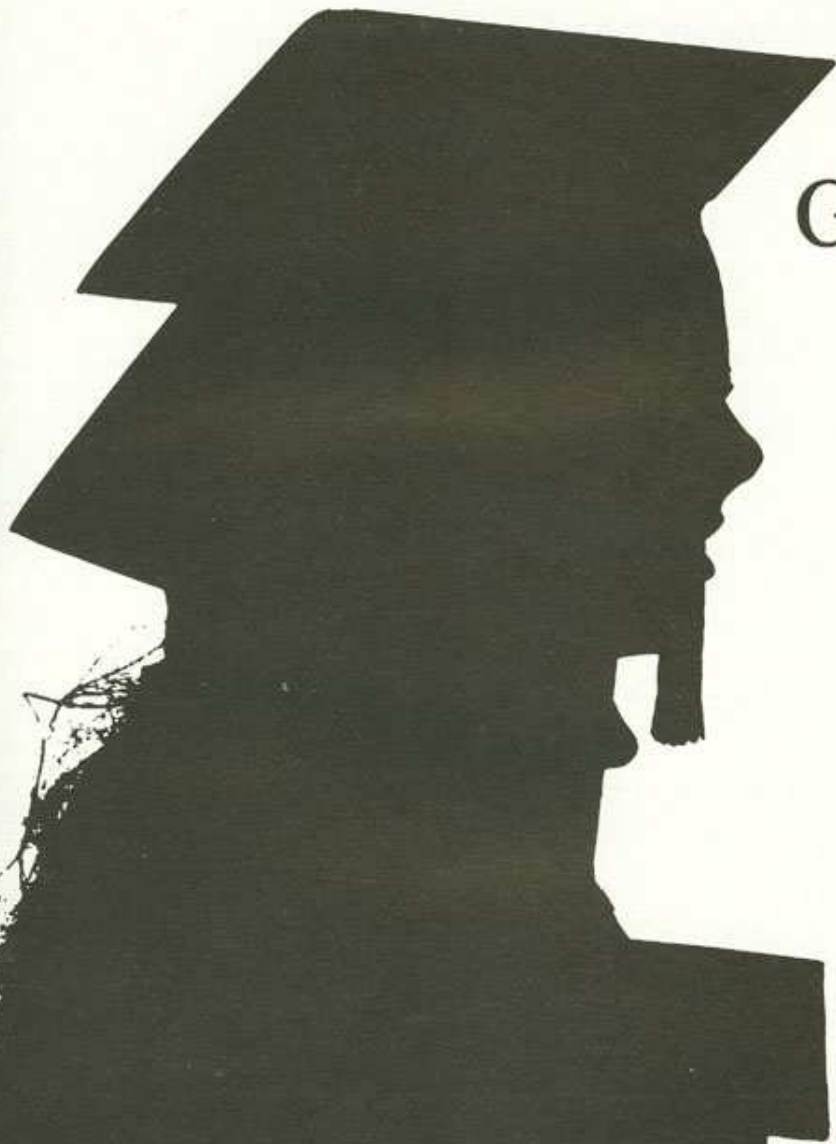

Our graduation was both a time of joy and sorrow. The relief of paper deadlines, examinations, and last minute cramming is now all behind us. But the sad part remains that with this accomplishment, we are faced with our mature responsibilities which force us to go our separate ways.

We, the editors, would like to take this moment to congratulate each and every 1981 Saint Mary's graduate and wish nothing but the best for whatever walk of life each has chosen.

Good Luck and Best Wishes,

Kent Pond & Heather Grant

GRADUATES

Bachelor of Arts

Dear Arts Graduates of 1981:

Ordinarily Deans are given this opportunity to extend congratulations and best wishes to their graduates. Of course, I wish to do this.

This year, however, I would like to ask you to write to me, if you have time for thoughtful reflection some evening or rainy afternoon, to tell me whether or not, in your experience, I have been advising students properly when I tell them:

- Learn because you are curious; learn because it is fun; learn because it feels better knowing something than not knowing it.
- Look for the connections and relationships within and between the courses that you take and the life that you live, the life that you want to live, the life that you hope you are living.
- Even if the examined life is not always pleasant, the unexamined life is the most dangerous trip in town. The things you don't examine are the things that finally trip you up.
- Study what interests you and don't worry too much right now about what kind of work you will eventually do. Education is too important to be compromised by occupational anxieties. First, concentrate on who you are and what you are capable of doing. Let this be your focus until you graduate. Afterward, there will be many opportunities to put your talents to work. If you have developed some true capabilities, there are always ways of putting them to profitable use.
- Finally, don't pay much attention to anyone who talks to you about "the bottom line." The bottom line is a point that doesn't exist anywhere. Looked at from another angle, the so-called bottom line is but one of many lines in its plane and it is likely intersected by other lines in other, perhaps more important, planes. Your education in the Faculty of Arts should help you understand the range of planes and perspectives that are possible. Each of them can give meaning to your most important concerns.

I would, of course, also like to hear from you concerning any aspect of your Saint Mary's education that you would care to share with me.

May God bless your life.

T. J. Musial
Dean of Arts

Valedictory 1981'

Your Grace, Mr. Premier, Distinguished Guests, Fellow Graduates, Ladies and Gentlemen. Registration in September 1977 was a new experience for me as I joined my contemporaries to embark on the threshold of higher learning at our beloved St. Mary's University.

The long queues of unfamiliar faces, of puzzled apprehensive novices like myself forced me to realize that I was faced with a new goal--that of emerging from this institution in the most creditable manner that I possible could. At the moment, the task seemed quite a mammoth one, but I well remembered the quotation "Pulmanon sine pulvere" which when translated means "There could be no success without effort."

And so, taking the setting in problems in stride, I set my mind towards the goal. The physical climate of the country posed the first challenge for I had to adjust from a tropical climate to which I was accustomed all my life to the wintry atmosphere, which I couldn't believe would have lasted till April the next year. Fortunately, the atmosphere at St. Mary's was by no means like the external climate for it took me a short time to make friends and to settle in my home town.

Classes began. Along with my fellow students, I joined the streaming traffic in the hallways, peering above heads to find the appropriate classroom numbers wondering whether I dared put my foot into the lecture room to face an aggressive-looking professor. As the days, weeks and months went by, however, I came to realize that the personages standing in front of the classrooms were just as human as the students.

They understood the difficulty we had in choosing between looking at a good movie on television and working on an assignment. They were patient enough to grant us an extension when asked at the end of March on a paper which we were supposed to be working since the beginning of the academic year. But we as students did our share as well. I well remembered the extra hours we spent in the laboratories labouring over an experiment or a project, in the meantime sacrificing our dinners, the sleepless nights we've had delving into scores of library books trying to find the solution to a single problem, or studying for examinations in order that we may improve our grades. Of course, with the late nights, arose the difficulty of rising from our warm beds to attend an 8.30 lecture which resulted in our stumbling into class sleepy-eyed and a few minutes late.

Life at St. Mary's however, was not restricted to academics. In our microcosm, we experienced a cosmopolitan way of life. The International Student's Centre provided us with a place where we could view items from different nationalities. We gained knowledge of the cultures of the Orient as we experienced the annual Chinese New Year banquet. We learned about the Caribbean way of life when we experienced Caribanza and viewed the exhibitions put on by fellow students. Of course, for the foreign students we experienced our first snow fights and participated in various activities peculiar to this climate.

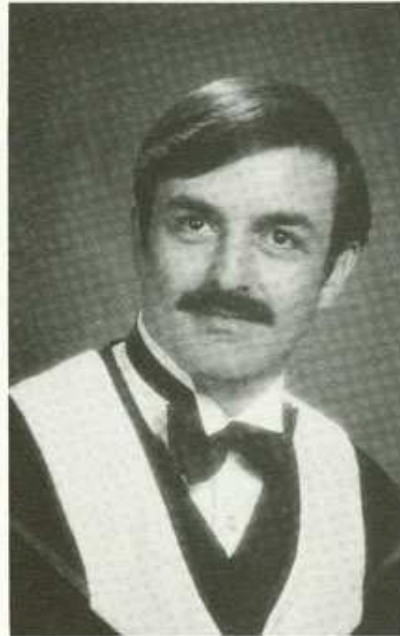

As Santamarians, we have a lot to be proud of. We have experienced many victories (even on the national level), and some defeats of the Huskies' basketball, football, soccer, and hockey teams. We have been one of the two founding universities of the Canadian Federation of Students, and we have competed with other tertiary institutions for national scholarships and at times have become winners.

At some time in our lives here at St. Mary's we have had need to visit Father John or Father Hennessey to seek advice on certain personal difficulties which had arisen. We have frequented the helmet-shaped church to ask forgiveness for our ill-doings of the past. For these facilities we have been thankful.

To you professors and counsellors, for your tuition, patience and guidance please accept our heartfelt thanks. To you, fellow students, for your companionship, understanding and help--thankyou. To you, parents, for your prayers, wishes, moral and financial support we are truly grateful.

Fellow graduates, we have arrived at difficult crossroads in our lives. As we now branch into various directions, may we trust in God to guide us and keep us safely in his hands.

Members of the 1981 Graduating Class:

Congratulations upon your achievement!

The task of obtaining a Saint Mary's University degree has not been an easy one, but I am sure that you will find that it has been worth all of the time, effort, and dedication that you have had to expend to achieve this goal. This will become even more apparent as time goes by.

Much of what you have learned here, not only in the classroom but elsewhere during your stay at the University, will be of value in the immediate future. It will be of even greater value in later years.

Education, of course, does not stop with Convocation. It is a life-long process and I urge you to continue to expand your knowledge and to strive for self-improvement both on the job and in your leisure time. I also urge you to "be good to yourself" as well and enjoy a full well-rounded life in the years to come.

Please accept my best wishes for the very best in the future.

Sincerely,

Samuel H. Jopling
Dean of Commerce

Valedictory Address

Well this is it! The end of eternity, or so it seems. This diploma has just alleviated four years of mental cruelty. Of course it hasn't been four solid years of mental persecution, but there were times when you were convinced you were on the verge of temporary insanity. For example, think back to the night of the final for Finance 361. One o'clock rolls around and you have tossed aside the textbook and have substituted it with a book titled "One hundred and one serious diseases that develop overnight." Yes, we have all been through those nights! Any who said university is the best four years of our lives. Actually it really is, unfortunately none of us realize it until after the fact.

It is the tradition of the valedictory to produce memories of the years spent in university. Personally I do not feel it is within my realm to generalize about memories, for memories are very personal, each one of us has both good and bad memories of this university that are unique to us. Those memories we have in common will be found in our yearbook or in our photo albums and those memories that are much too delicate to share will be locked in ourselves for the rest of our lives. So it is pointless for me to try and reiterate those memories. It is an insult to suggest that the only thing that St. Mary's has done for us has been to provide us with memories and a degree, that proves we have received some type of text-book education.

What I would like to discuss however is an education that most of us have not been consciously aware of and that is the education we have received by sheer influence. I would like each one of you now to picture yourself as you were in your first month at St. Mary's and compare that image to the person you are now. Not one individual can deny that he or she has changed. Yet what can that change be attributed to, your textbooks? Perhaps 25% of it can. The environment? Most definitely! But what creates the environment? The people surrounding you of course. Every single person you have come in contact with over the last four years has had an influence over you, with or without you knowing it.

St. Mary's is a compact version of the world. There are people here from virtually all over the world, each one of them exposing the other to a different culture and way of life. The most obvious influences have been of course your professors. Some have been good and others have been not so good, and yet each one has provided a different perspective from which to view the world. Many of you have met your best friends and possibly your future wives and husbands here and they no doubt have had an effect on your lives. Pure, social interaction with the people comprising St. Mary's community has been the largest contribution to your education and that will take you a lot further than a piece of paper that will yellow and fade with age.

If I have failed to express my sentiments on this topic, I have a backup that sums everything I have tried to get across to you. These words are from a song written by a contemporary Canadian singer and songwriter who sings

"Now there are people that fall into my life
Each one can change my world slightly
And everyone is so different
Yet so much the same
Each and everyone so deep inside me."

I would like to thank all those people who have helped me change my life. You have all become my memories.

As for the future this is usually the time when everyone sings of the opportunities that be ahead. Our education has opened many doors for us and how it becomes just a matter of which one we choose to enter. I beg of you to derive satisfaction from everyone of your achievements and never compare them to those of others. For achievements like memories are subject to the individual and should under no circumstances be considered minute.

In the last four years many of us have had aspirations of being corporate presidents or the Prime Minister of Canada and we could very well see a Santamarian at the top of the world some day. Realistically speaking many of us won't but whichever position we will manage to secure for ourselves, we in turn can educate others through our influence and could provide an even greater impact.

This is one group I feel deserves special commendation and that is the group that at the moment occupies the majority of this auditorium. And that group consists of our parents. Have you noticed that sometimes this graduation seems to be more of a celebration for them, then for us! Actually in a sense this really is their day! We are to them, what this degree is to us; a source of pride, years of worry, frustration, happy times, sad times and in the end, the achievement of a difficult goal. That goal was to develop a decent, educated human being that could someday contribute something of value to this world. It's a big risk-return trade-off situation as many of us will find out in the future. However, judging from the individuals before me, termed by the rest of the world as the "elite," I feel that our parents have graduated Summa Cum Laude.

To my fellow graduates, it takes a lot of planning and a lot of hard work to make a dream come true. Now that you have achieved this goal may you go on to more success and happiness in the years to follow. Good luck in whatever you may choose to do. And if I may be factious for a moment, look out world here comes the class of '81.

SERVICE ACROSS CANADA AND THE U.S.A

In 1981, the Nova Scotia Power Corporation will generate more power from Nova Scotia coal than from imported oil. Add to this the power generated by our hydro system and we'll be producing approximately 60% of the Province's needs without using expensive foreign oil.

Our planning for increased self-sufficiency was evident in 1978 when the Wreck Cove hydro station came on line, displacing 500,000 barrels of oil annually. 1979 saw the coal-fired Lingan #1 Unit in Cape Breton displace 1,500,000 barrels. In 1980, Lingan #2 began operations, displacing a further 1,500,000 barrels of oil.

Work has already begun on Lingan #3, which, when operational, will displace yet another 1,500,000 barrels.

Continuing development of hydro operations at Wreck Cove and Fourth Lake, along with the Annapolis Tidal Power project, will make further contributions to our increasing self-sufficiency.

Not only are we taking the necessary action to reduce our dependence on foreign oil, but each year more of Nova Scotia's natural resources will be used to produce electric power for business, industry and homes.

The balance of power is shifting . . . to your advantage.

WE DELIVER

August 27, 1980, 4:17 p.m.... The "Irving Arctic" passes 50 miles due south of the magnetic North Pole, in Canada's Northwest Passage.

The Irving Oil tanker becomes the largest ship in history to deliver petroleum products in Canada's high arctic, probably the toughest delivery in Canada.

Farming in Nova Scotia is a $200 million business

That's BIG business, and it's spread over the whole agricultural spectrum. For example, 28% is created by the dairy industry while eggs, poultry meats, hogs, beef, fruit and vegetables each account for another 11% with smaller contributions from greenhouse products, potatoes, tobacco, mink, sheep, feed grains, honey and maple products.

The consolidation of the Provincial Extension and Specialists Staff in the Kentville Agricultural Centre will provide farmers with current research data and advice on practical applications of new technology.

The Nova Scotia Department of Agriculture and Marketing, by maintaining and expanding services to Western Nova Scotia farmers is offering improved services from the Kentville Agricultural Centre.

- Professional agricultural assistance and advice through Extension Services.
